PROHIBITION DECLARED TO BE ECONOMIC SUCCESS

Liquor Everywhere Obtainable but Consumption Has Decreased; "Noisy" Element Drinks

BY MABEL WALKER WILLEBRANDT

(Copyright, 1929, by Current News Features. All rights for publication reserved throughout the world.)

(In this the third of her series the former assistant United States Attorney-General compares conditions in America before and after prohibition; "easy drinking" and "noisy drinking" of the present, the typical Saturday night drunk of saloon days, the busy cocktail-shaker at the country club; economic and legal gains and losses.)

Not long ago, a magazine of general circulation sent a writer through the length and breadth of the country with instructions to determine how wet is dry America. Apparently the writer had no difficulty in finding liquid refreshments, with alcoholic content, in almost any section of the United States.

MRS. MABEL WILLEBRANDT

To many people this was conclusive proof that prohibition is a failure. They overlooked the fact that if the same writer had been sent in search of alcoholic content in the days before national prohibition, he would have had a far easier task. I do not know of any time in the history of this or any other country, either under national or state prohibition, local or county option, government sale, or under rigid regulation of the open saloon, when it has not been possible to obtain intoxicating liquors at almost any hour of the day or night, either in rural districts, the smaller towns, or the larger cities.

EASY TO GET

Certainly it would be ridiculous for me to deny that liquor is sold in large and small quantities throughout the country, and that practically anyone who possesses simultaneously a thirst and as much as a quarter or a half-dollar can usually assuage that thirst. That in itself proves that prohibition has been and is a failure, I deny.

Let us briefly compare the old days with that which exists under prohibition. When the Eighteenth Amendment took effect, the country possessed 507 distilleries with an annual output of [illegible] gallons (1,144,000,000 quarts) of distilled spirits of various kinds. There were 1217 breweries with an output of hundreds of millions of gallons of beer, 508 warehouses containing practically 300,000,000 gallons ([illegible] quarts) of intoxicating liquor, and last but not least, [illegible] open saloons. In addition, [illegible] there were scores of [illegible] of "blind pigs" selling liquor of every kind—good, bad and indifferent—not only in supposedly "dry" areas and "local option" sections but in the wettest of the wet [illegible].

But what is the situation?

APPEARANCES DECEPTIVE

Liquor is being sold and is obtainable, as I have said, throughout the country. But, viewing it broadly, I think it is very doubtful whether as much drinking is done as appears to be done. That seems

Rumania Miners Fight Troops

Hundreds Wounded in All Day Battle in Strike Torn District

Attempt at Arbitration Brings Volley That Spreads Death

BUCHAREST (Rumania) Aug. 6. (AP)—Fighting between Rumanian coal miners of the Lupeny district and government troops today resulted in the death of fifty-eight persons, with hundreds of wounded and no signs of the disturbance subsiding.

It is feared today's all-day battle will extend throughout the entire Lupeny district.

A dispute involving 4000 coal miners is the root of the trouble. During the night strikers were reported in control of the power station and to have put the district in darkness, as well as stopping current to the mines. The reports stated miners still at work thus were placed in danger.

The fighting started early this morning when the public prosecutor, accompanied by troops, arrived on the scene and made an unsuccessful attempt to mediate. He then read the riot act. There are conflicting reports whether the miners fired first or whether the troops fired on the strikers.

In the first clash a dozen miners were killed and bloody encounters continued.

Reports from the region state the strike is of local origin and is not influenced by Communists.

The miners went on strike several days ago to enforce demands for higher wages which the owners had refused to grant. The mines are in a district which formerly belonged to Hungary.

HAGUE GIVEN HARD JOLT

Snowden Attacks Young Plan

Strong British Opposition to Repartition of Payments Voiced in Speech

Stand Poses Grave Issue Between England and Other Creditors

THE HAGUE (Netherlands) Aug. 6. (AP)—Philip Snowden, British Chancellor of the Exchequer in the Labor government, today thrust into the foreground of the 1929 conference of The Hague to make effective the Young plan his government's opposition to the repartition of German reparations payments among the Allies as defined by the Young committee in Paris.

Taking the floor immediately after the commencement of the first business session of the conference, Mr. Snowden in a long and energetic speech informed delegations from eleven other nations Great Britain is in favor of the principle of the Young plan, but stoutly opposed to the division of payments which the Paris experts had evolved.

The Chancellor, who held the floor all the first business session today, asked his fellow-statesmen to forgive him for speaking plainly, but, he continued, he was in accord with his friend Premier MacDonald and with all the political parties in Great Britain in opposing any further sacrifice in reparations receipts by Great Britain.

"The new distribution of reparations proposed by the experts is indefensible, and I note the experts made no attempt to explain or defend it," Mr. Snowden declared vigorously.

EQUITY INSISTED ON

He affirmed that his government is ready at any time to cancel all reparations payments and all war debts under the principles laid down by the Balfour note, but that as long as reparations are to be received and debts to be paid Great Britain intends to see that she receives equitable treatment.

The British delegate complained the Young plan does not treat Great Britain justly.

He said that under the distribution made by the financial experts in Paris, France got five-sixths of the negotiable part of the reparations annuities and Italy received the equivalent of £10,000,000 more than she was allotted under the Dawes plan. Meanwhile, only small sums had been left to the lesser reparations creditors.

Mr. Snowden declared the British government attaches the greatest possible importance to alterations in this respect because the House of Commons would never agree to further sacrifice of British interests.

INCREASES ASSAILED

The Chancellor complained especially of the increases allotted to Italy and Belgium.

Taken literally, the speech of the British delegate poses a grave issue between Great Britain and the three other principal reparations creditors, France, Italy and Belgium. At the same time it tends to line up the smaller creditors on the British side.

The specter of revision of the Young plan, however, frightens the majority of the interested powers at The Hague conference.

The Germans are strongly averse to putting the arrangement arrived at by the Paris financial experts into question. Foreign Minister Stresemann of Germany today followed Mr. Snowden's speech with intense interest, interrupting once for immediate translation of certain passages.

It is thought the smaller powers also would hesitate to ask for changes.

STAND EXPECTED

All of the delegates had expected something in the nature of Mr. Snowden's speech from the British side, but it was plain they had not anticipated such a direct declaration at the outset of the conference.

Observers believe Mr. Snowden, finding himself in a minority when discussion of the question of division ends, would be willing to abandon his position on annuities with a demand as compensation that the bank for international settlements be located in London. This bank was created by the Paris conference for the purpose of handling reparations payments.

The conference, which will formulate methods of applying the Young plan and attempt to liquidate the last important problems pending since the World War, was officially named today "the 1929 conference of The Hague."

The general discussion of the Young plan will begin again at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

ANTARCTICA DAY BREAKING

Byrd Expedition Hails Growing Light With Joy After Four Months in Polar Gloom

BY RUSSELL OWEN

(Copyright, 1929, by The Los Angeles Times, New York Times Company and the St. Louis Post Dispatch. All rights for publication reserved throughout the world.)

LITTLE AMERICA (Antarctica) Aug. 6. (Exclusive)—This is what the Eskimos call a "white day." It is snowing and is overcast and has been for several days past, so that we have not been able to see the widening band of light creep up the sky. But winter is nearly over and even the strange diffident light which illumines our immediate environment is growing stronger. It is welcome in contrast to the chill lightning moon and stars which have been with us for so long, casting eerie shadows. To be frank, we are beginning to be slightly bored by darkness.

Those who have never lived through a winter night of four months can hardly realize its monotony. It is not only that one rises by lamplight, reads and works by lamplight, eats by lamplight and goes to bed by lamplight—which last is as it should be—but that every walk outdoors is through a circumambient gloom which narrows one's world to a tiny place through which one walks stumblingly. Nature closes in its walls of darkness and one feels small and alone.

There is no escape from such an environment.

PRISONERS OF GLOOM

There is no opportunity to get away for even a short while to see new faces and hear new voices, to seek amusement or relaxation in the environment which civilization affords. One is fixed as if in an enchanted and lost spot. Footsteps trace and retrace the same paths, bring one back to the same scenes. There is no gazing into the distance, no relief from the immediate thing, whatever it may be.

That is not to say that we have suffered greatly from this condition. This would be far from the truth. Everyone has something to do and finds the time goes swiftly—much more swiftly than we had feared. It is probably true that everyone looked forward to the night with the anticipation of novelty and yet with something of dread, for we had heard so many tales of what it did to men; of bitterness, insanity and horrible melancholy. It was welcomed as an experience but regarded verily as an antagonist which must be outmaneuvered, which would take all one's self-control and moral stamina to resist. It was with something of that spirit that we saw the night come on—this night which has not yet vanished.

OLD BALLOT USE ENDS IN NEW YORK

Acquisition of 350 More Voting Machines Results in Full Mechanization

NEW YORK, Aug. 6. (Exclusive) The old method of using paper ballots in local elections passed into history here today, when the Board of Election Commissioners purchased 350 additional voting machines to complete the mechanical election equipment for every precinct in Greater New York. With the new machines just acquired, the city now possesses 3500 mechanical voting appliances.

Full mechanization of all Greater New York precincts brings to a close one of the longest and bitterest political fights in the city's record, as installation of the machines was fought actively by the professional politicians, the original antipathy of Tammany chieftains at one time developing a sensational election scandal. Within the last few years, however, under the direction of Election Commissioner Voorhis, who recently celebrated his 100th birthday, the Tammany opposition has been overcome. It is estimated by the Board of Elections that the machine method of voting has eliminated all opportunity for fraud and reduced election mistakes to a minimum, as well as effecting extensive economies and greatly expediting voting returns.

Fuel and Hydrogen Pumped Into Giant Craft on Eve of Trip Around World

LAKEHURST (N. J.) Aug. 6. (AP)—A score of pipes winding their way into the silver frame of the dirigible Graf Zeppelin hissed and writhed today with fuel and hydrogen being pumped into the great ship for her take-off tomorrow on the first flight around the world by a lighter-than-air ship.

Lieutenant-Commander Zeno Wicks, United States Navy, officer in charge of the refueling, said the task will be completed tomorrow noon and all will be in readiness for a midnight take-off. Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf, was in New York today, but will return tomorrow noon to superintend last preparations for the long flight.

Between orders to the refueling crew today Commander Wicks told reporters he has resigned from the Navy, effective next Friday, and thereafter will be employed as hangar and construction superintendent at the Akron (O.) plant of the Goodyear Zeppelin Company, which now is building a hangar in which there will be constructed for the American Navy two airships each twice as large as the Graf Zeppelin.

DAWES AND MACDONALD MEET AGAIN

Navy Disarmament Talks Renewed With Premier; Cotton Strike Watched

LONDON, Aug. 6. (AP)—Premier MacDonald came here today from his vacation in Scotland expressly to renew his conversations with United States Ambassador Dawes on naval disarmament and tonight returned by train to Lossiemouth.

"I don't know when I shall return," he told reporters at the station. "It will be when my work necessitates. I am feeling rather tired as I have put in two days' work in one day."

Soon after his arrival here the Prime Minister talked with First Lord of Admiralty Alexander and also was in conference with Lord Thomson, Minister for Air. The American Ambassador then went to 10 Downing street, accompanied by two attaches of the Embassy. No statements were made after any of these conversations.

An official announcement tonight said Mr. MacDonald, in addition to other urgent government business, was engaged today with the stoppage in the Lancashire cotton industry. He discussed the situation with officials of the Ministry of Labor and others. The Ministry stands ready to lend its services to a settlement whenever practicable.

PENAL PLANS EXPANDED

Hoover Will End Prison Jam

Enlarging of Leavenworth and Atlanta Buildings Will be Ordered

Northeast to Get Institution and Probation System Will be Bettered

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—Convinced the Federal government can delay no longer in relieving crowded conditions in governmental prisons, President Hoover today outlined a plan to provide more accommodations for Federal law violators in the institutions.

When Congress convenes for its regular session, the President will ask the necessary authority and appropriations for a revision of the Federal penal system. The plan includes an appropriation of $5,000,000 for extending the prisons at Atlanta and Leavenworth and the probable construction of a new prison somewhere in the northeastern section of the country.

The President also hopes to relieve congestion by the appointment of a larger number of probation officers so that more prisoners can be placed on probation. Through a betterment of the probation system, Mr. Hoover is of the opinion that not only the prisoners will be benefited, "but the good of the Federal government will be served."

BATES CONSULTED

The Chief Executive determined upon this plan of procedure following extended conferences with Atty.-Gen. Mitchell and Sanford Bates, the new director of prisons, which were expedited by the recent outbreak at Leavenworth.

Mr. Hoover said he considers overcrowding in the prisons the cause of "infinite demoralization and the direct cause of outbreaks and trouble." He declared the increased number of prisoners is due to the general increase in crime which led him to create a commission to investigate Federal law enforcement and court procedures.

Statistics which have been placed in the President's hands show the Atlanta prison is 120 per cent over capacity with Leavenworth housing 87 per cent more inmates than intended for its quarters. At these two institutions 33 per cent of the inmates are Narcotic Act violators, and 14 per cent are serving terms for prohibition violations.

PRESIDENT'S COMMENT

The President's comment on the prison situation in response to questions from newspaper correspondents, was as follows:

"I have one question this morning that I can comment on. It arises out of the incident at Leavenworth and the situation of the Federal prisons.

"I have had an opportunity for lengthy discussions with the Attorney-General and I have the recommendations of Mr. Bates, who is the new director of prisons, and have accepted their view that further Federal accommodations for prisoners cannot be any longer delayed. We will ask Congress at the regular session to give us the necessary authority and appropriations to revise the system.

"Atlanta is 120 per cent over capacity in inmates at the present time, and Leavenworth 87 per cent, all of which is the cause of infinite demoralization and the direct cause of outbreaks and trouble.

CRIME GROWTH BLAMED

"Of course, the increased number of prisoners is due to the general increase in crime, the largest item in our Federal prisoners being the violators of the Narcotics Act. They comprise now about 33 per cent of the inmates at Leavenworth and Atlanta. Prohibition contributes about 14 per cent. The balance is made up of increases all along the line.

"Our plans necessitate an expenditure of about $5,000,000 and will comprise some additions and revisions of the old prisons, and probably a new prison somewhere in the Northeastern States.

"It is proposed also to ask authority of Congress to increase the number of probation officers, as Mr.

TWO DIE IN JAIL BREAK

Three Retaken After Flight

Kansas Institution Scene of Five Uprisings in Recent Years

Guards Overpowered With Smuggled Guns by Mine Crew

STATE PENITENTIARY, LANSING (Kan.) Aug. 6. (AP)—Two prisoners were killed, one wounded dangerously and a guard shot in the leg when six long-term convicts made an unsuccessful break for liberty here late today.

The dead were William Webb, [illegible] years of age, and Robert Collins, [illegible]

J. B. Knight, 40, was wounded in the chest by gunfire. Eddie Jenkins, 37, O. G. Schultz, 35, and Charles Cheapham, 27, closely pursued by guards, fled one-half a mile to the city of Lansing where they were captured without a fight in railroad stockyards.

FOUR GUNS OBTAINED

W. L. Heslop, a guard, was wounded in the left leg by a shot from one of four revolvers mysteriously in possession of the convicts.

There was no general rioting such as occurred last week at the Leavenworth Federal prison near here, but the escape plot formed another link in the chain of convict uprisings over the country in recent weeks, of which President Hoover took cognizance today in making recommendations for bettering conditions in Federal penal institutions.

The break started when the six convicts who made the dash for freedom were brought to the surface after a day's work in the prison mine, which has figured in mutinies of previous years.

Somehow the men obtained two automatic pistols. Reaching the surface the sextet made prisoners of four guards and four prisoners who were intimidated.

GUARDS USED AS SHIELDS

Using the captives to shield them the convicts rushed across the prison yard and out the gates. Armed guards stationed on the walls were forced to withhold their fire for fear of hitting their fellow guards. Only a few shots were fired as the convicts left the prison gates. The men dashed up the highway and were quickly pursued by Deputy Warden W. R. Hudspeth and several guards in a motor car. Heading the fugitives off at the Leavenworth Victory Junction road, Hudspeth and the guards opened fire, killing Webb. Knight was wounded and recaptured. The battle took place about a half-mile from the prison.

Three other convicts, Eddie Jenkins, "Dutch" Schultz and Charles Cheapham, escaped the guards and fled northwest.

Heslop was wounded by Collins when the guard tried to escape from the convict's grasp. One of the four prisoners who had been seized as hostages came to Heslop's rescue and knocked the pistol from Collins's hand.

Later seeing that he was about to be captured, Collins seized his pistol from the ground and shot himself through the heart.

The four convicts used to shield the flight returned voluntarily to the prison.

FOUR RECENT OUTBREAKS

Jenkins, one of the fugitives, had escaped from prison before. Warden Amrine reached the prison soon after the break.

Four times in recent years mutinies and wholesale attempted breaks at Lansing have been defeated. In July, 1926, fourteen prison guards and a mine boss were captives of 172 convicts in the dark shaft of the coal mine. The prisoners eventually balked at the prospect of butchering mine mules for food and gave up.

Not long afterward, a group of convicts captured a captain of guards and made a dash for freedom. A guard killed two of them, ending the attempt.

In February, 1927, the fire of six guards with sawed-off shotguns ended an attempted break for freedom by eight convicts, part of a

AIR RACER READY FOR TESTS

Navy Speed Flyer May Enter English Contest With Plane Doing More Than 300 Miles Per Hour

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—Whether the United States will have an entrant in the international Schneider seaplane trophy race in England will be determined largely within the next few days at Annapolis, Md., in tests by Lieut. Al Williams, navy speed flyer, of his Little Mercury racer.

The plane is known to have a speed of more than 300 miles an hour, but just how much more will be ascertained in the tests. It has been indicated Williams will not take the ship abroad unless it can exceed substantially the present world's record of 318 miles an hour. It was sent from the Philadelphia navy yard to Annapolis today, and at the same time general details of its construction were revealed here.

The tiny blue racer is a middle-wing monoplane of twenty-six and one-half feet wingspread. It is powered with a Packard twenty-four cylinder X engine, which develops in excess of 1100 horsepower.

FLOAT RADIATORS

The twin floats of the seaplane have been utilized as radiators to cool the engine while it is taxiing on the water. It is the first time such a cooling method has been employed on an American seaplane. British planes have used it in modified form, but on Williams's plane, about 80 per cent of the surface area of the floats have been utilized.

The hot water from the engine, passing between the walls of the double-bottomed floats, is cooled by the sea water upon which the plane taxis. Taxiing is one of the most dangerous undertakings for high-speed racing seaplanes because the wing radiators furnish insufficient cooling area at low speeds. Radiators which conform to the shape of the wing cool the engine in the air.

ENGINE CHANGED

The Packard X engine has undergone radical changes to reduce the frontal area and make it more efficient. Its four carburetors and intake manifolds have been placed

DRINKING MORE NOTICED, BUT NOT HEAVIER TODAY

Mrs. Willebrandt Thinks America to be Drier Than It Looks; "Drunk" Data Deceptive

ENFORCING DRY LAW BY KILLING

In the fourth chapter of her series, "The Inside of Prohibition," Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former assistant United States Attorney-General in charge of prohibition, condemns the unjustifiable use of firearms and relates exciting stories of gun battles between rum runners and Federal officers. "Enforcing Prohibition by Murder" will appear in tomorrow's issue of The Times.

like a contradictory, if not a senseless, statement. But it is certainly true that in the old days, when a man took a drink, either in his home, in his club, or in a saloon, that fact was no novelty or "news" either to him, his neighbors, or the newspapers. But now let a man, woman, girl or boy do very much drinking and the fact becomes one of almost general public comment.

At country clubs they boast; in the churches they deplore; in political forums they accuse; but everywhere they talk! The inevitable result is exaggeration of the basic fact. My public experience has made me believe that psychological maxim as accurate as an algebraic formula is that a fact plus feeling plus repetition equals great exaggeration and unreliable conclusion. And that's about the course of most prohibition discussion today among both wets and drys.

It is regarded as so smart and expensive in some circles that we might almost say a bell rings or a whistle blows every time drinks are passed. In the old days, a man drank a glass of beer or whisky, or several of them, all as a matter of course.

"OH, HOW SMART"

Today we are like little Jack Horner pulling out cocktail shakers with, "Oh, what a smart boy am I!" The advertising and exaggerated importance, then, which often is all unconsciously given to every drink now consumed, distorts its real value in making an honest estimate of how wet America really is.

This is especially true with reference to "society drinking." There never was a time in the old days when liquor was not freely consumed in the clubhouses frequented by the well to do. But my personal opinion is that there is no greater amount of drinking now by men and women of leisure and wealth. Few do it from habit. More do it for "show." In nearly every country club will be found a coterie who attract attention by their large and flagrantly conducted "parties."

I was in a near-by city just a short time ago. My host said he couldn't go to a large country club party because it was to become noisy and my presence would embarrass his friends. He hastened to add that although this was a group of the "best" social set, the majority of the club members didn't conduct such spectacularly wet parties. Nevertheless, it is the performance of a small sensation-seeking group that attracts most attention and convinces many people that all the country is wetter than ever before.

MORE ARRESTS

People so often ask: "But if prohibition is any success at all, why is it that arrests for drunkenness in many cities have increased in recent years?" I remember Senator Reed of Missouri made a great speech about that before he left the Senate. Undoubtedly increased arrests for drunkenness indicate a bad symptom. But it is ridiculous to assume that it proves any increase in drinking.

I well remember that when I was public defender in the Police Courts of Los Angeles the "drunks" picked up on the streets at night and from the saloons at closing time were treated quite differently than they are in that city and practically every other city in the United States today. Now they are placed under formal arrest charged with illegal possession or sale of liquor or the violation of some city ordinance.

Then they were regarded as objects of pity and placed in the "drunk tank." In the early morning hours they were haled into what was known as the "sunrise court." After admonition by the judge or payment of a $5 police "lodging fee" they were, if sobered, turned out in time to reach their place of business without loss of a working day. I have seen as high as 140 men and women passed through sunrise court in one morning. Only when their offense was repeated so often as to become habitual were they formally charged, arraigned and tried.

FIRST AND MAIN STREETS

From 1911 to 1914, while attending law school, I used to wait late at night when the law library closed on the corner of First and Main streets in Los Angeles for the interurban car to my suburban home. Indelibly impressed upon my mind is the fact that scarcely a night—never a week—went by without several drunken men reeling past me from the five saloons near that corner. No one noticed them. Now one such incident would cause headlines. No, I am sure no adequate, reliable conclusion can be drawn as to the wetness of the United States by comparing police blotters for drunkenness before and since prohibition.

Traveling men and others who have business contacts frequently say: "Why, in the old days, when we were engaged in a deal we passed out or were handed a cigar, and now we are taken into a private office and a bottle of liquor is pulled out of a file case or the bottom drawer as the method of breaking the ice and producing congeniality."

No one will deny, of course, that there was so-called business drinking in the old days. This treating in private offices is only the modern form of the old "Draw up, boys, to the old brass rail. Drinks on the house!" For those who have had real experience with private liquor treating today and the saloon treating of yesterday there will be little doubt that the modern form is only dampness compared to a deluge.

That in certain groups boys and girls are more liable to drink than formerly, I also do not deny. It is serious and repulsive. But, like country-club drinking, that condition affects only a small proportion of all the young men and women who attend high schools and colleges, or are engaged in industry. It touches those who drive their own roadsters and can imitate their defiant elders.

The same psychology that brings about "society drinking" has created drinking among "society's children." It caters to the desire to be noticed, and youth has ever desired to do what is daring. No one places the blame for increased cigarette smoking on the prohibition law—and that the increase probably is an expression of the same spirit of revolt which produces the increase of drinking among certain classes of young people. I am not lightly passing over drinking among youth; I am just wondering if these youth of 1929 would not be doing it whether their liquor came from licensed saloons or illicit stills?

Against these many disconcerting phases of prevalent drinking today we must in fairness balance the evidence of decrease in the amount of liquor consumed by the millions of working people of the country. Our great industrialists, including Ford, Edison, Durant and Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., of the General Motors Company, have spoken definitely and repeatedly as to the economic and industrial benefits of lessened drinking among the members of their organizations since prohibition became the law. Practically all economists agree that there have been real benefits to industry and to people who work for a living through prohibition.

BLUE MONDAYS PASSING

There is no positive mathematical reply to the query of how wet America is. Too many of us have answered the question according to our own hopes or desires and then cited some fact that in a distorted setting seemed to furnish proof, like a city's statistics on arrests for drunkenness. The honest answer lies in fairly weighing the disorderly evidences of "easy drinking" against balancing indications of gain like the passing of blue Mondays. Even after doing that the result is not mathematical. It is only opinion. But it can be a fair and calm opinion.

We cannot forget that as long as a large number of people have a thirst for alcoholic stimulants and other people have a desire to "make big money quick," liquor will be produced and consumed, in spite of laws or officers of the law.

But I doubt if anyone really believes for the fraction of a moment that prohibition has not reduced, and very materially reduced, both the production and consumption of intoxicating liquors throughout the United States. It has been more of an economic success than a legal success thus far.

(In her next article Mrs. Willebrandt will discuss "Murder and Prohibition Enforcement.")

Bank Official Faces Charges

BIRMINGHAM, Aug. 6. (AP)—Six articles of impeachment charges were voted this afternoon against Judge Thomas, State Superintendent of Banks, in a partial report returned by a Jefferson county grand jury, which has been investigating closing of banks in the Birmingham district.

ROMANCE OF AIR HITTING BUMPS

Pauline Parker Assolant

PARIS, Aug. 6. (AP)—The brief romance of Pauline Parker, New York show girl, and Jean Assolant, French pilot of the trans-Atlantic plane Yellow Bird, is reported to have struck difficulties.

The young couple, Assolant being 23 years of age, and Miss Parker 22, was married at Portland, Me., June 10, just three days before the French flyers took off from Old Orchard for Paris. The American girl followed her husband by steamer and rejoined him on June 26, when she met his parents for the first time.

While neither party admits contemplating any court action, it has been rumored that things are not going smoothly.

GRAF ZEPPELIN 'FED' FOR START

Liberty (N. Y.) photographer. Among the passengers who will fly in the Graf as far as Germany, and maybe farther, are two New York hotel men and Morris Shumoska, a New Rochelle (N. Y.) banker. There also will be on the first leg of the trip John E. Larney, son of a Brooklyn coal dealer, and German newspaper men and officials who came over on the ship. The round-the-world trip will be made, as observers for the American Navy, by Commander Charles Rosendahl, chief of navy dirigibles, a navy lieutenant and a civilian engineer attached to the Navy at Washington. There will be eighteen passengers altogether.

Dr. Eckener expects to be back at Lakehurst in about a month, having arranged for refueling stops at Friedrichshafen, Tokio and Los Angeles. His course between these points will be determined by weather conditions.

GUARDS KEEP BUSY

Ever since the Graf arrived from Germany Sunday, completing its third crossing of the Atlantic, marines have patrolled the hangar where the Graf lies berthed beside her smaller sister, the Los Angeles, and two little navy ships, with a wary eye out for stowaways. The Graf has carried stowaways on her last two ocean voyages, but Dr. Eckener is determined to have no unexpected guests on any part of the world flight.

Albert Bushkow, the German boy who stowed away at Friedrichshafen, still is held by immigration officers at Gloucester, N. J., for deportation, and it is believed the example made of him will discourage other romantic youths from attempting to hide themselves on the ship.

Lieut. S. F. Reicheldorfer, aerological officer here, announced tonight that there is no prospect of strong winds that might delay the take-off of the Graf tomorrow night. He said that light variable northwest winds are indicated, which will be no obstacle to getting the dirigible away.

STUB MOORING MAST WILL BE SET UP FRIDAY

A Navy stub mooring mast for the Graf Zeppelin when it stops here on its flight around the world will be brought up from San Diego and placed in position Friday at Mines Field. It will be brought here on trucks and trailers, ended-up with a crane, and anchored in the northeast corner of the field.

The mast is sixty feet high and is supported by eight columns, anchored to a plate in the ground. It is supported further by eight guy wires anchored to deadmen large pieces of timber sunk eight feet in the ground.

It was used when the dirigible Los Angeles visited the Pacific Coast and has been in storage at San Diego for a year.

The Graf Zeppelin will land on the flying field at Mines Field and a crew of 600 men will be required to "walk" the huge craft to the mast, a quarter of a mile away.

CONVICTS SLAIN IN PRISON BREAK

gang of 108 piling shale outside the prison. One was killed and three were wounded. The other four surrendered less than five minutes after the break began.

A second mine mutiny occurred in June of that year, 328 prisoners striking for cigarettes and holding fourteen guards in the coal mine as hostages. Meanwhile other prisoners above ground rioted, stabbing a guard and overpowering four others before they were subdued. The mutiny in the mine ended after seventy-seven hours of the "hunger cure" in a pitched battle between two groups of convicts.

Since late April of this year the prison has been in the hands of Warden Amrine, appointed by Gov. Reed. Amrine was formerly superintendent of the State reformatory at Hutchinson and served as warden at Lansing during the administration of Gov. Allen.

BRITISH FELONS PUT IN CLASSES

Work System Provides Way to Promotion

Hardened Criminal Faces Preventive Term

With widespread crime persistent in the United States, it is of interest to see how Europe deals with crime and criminals. Accordingly an investigation of foreign prisons and penology systems has been made by The Times and the North American Newspaper Alliance. The results are given in a series of dispatches, of which this is the third.

BY HENRIETTA W. BINGHAM

LONDON, Aug. 6. (Exclusive)—The convict prisons of England serve more or less the same purpose as State penitentiaries in the United States. They are used for men or women sentenced to three years or more penal servitude.

The convicts are divided into three classes: (1) The star class, for convicts not sentenced before and not of corrupt habits. If a member of this class exercises a bad influence he is removed to (2) the intermediate class, mostly criminals previously convicted of serious crime. Men in this category may be promoted to the star class if their conduct is exemplary, or reduced to (3) the recidivist class habitual criminals and incorrigibles.

Convicts may by industry and good conduct win promotion to the special stage in which they can earn gratuities and buy articles for relaxation or comfort. There also is a small category of elderly convicts too feeble to be dangerous. If these are of good conduct they are freed as far as possible from prison conditions.

MARK SYSTEM USED

All classes of convicts except the aged are subject to the mark system, fundamental principle of the English penal system. Every convict is required to earn a certain number of marks according to length of sentence to gain remission or advance from one class to another. The marks are given for actual labor, and earning them by industry or forfeiting them through misconduct constitutes convict discipline.

No gratuities are paid the general convict either for labor or good conduct. However, a government grant is placed in the hands of a special Convict Aid Society, whose function is to help rehabilitate the released convict.

The law allowing further imprisonment for a dangerous criminal after he has undergone penal servitude has had great success. It is designed only for professional criminals sentenced more than three times to imprisonment and at least once to penal servitude.

A special prison is maintained for men sentenced to preventive detention. They proceed there directly after their term of penal servitude, and remain five to ten years. They can earn gratuities to buy articles from the canteen.

PREVENTIVE PLAN EXPLAINED

The rules are generally less severe than in convict prisons, the inmates having privileges for good conduct, such as association at meals, smoking and reading. Moreover, the men qualifying for conditional discharge receive a certain amount of freedom as a test of fitness to be released.

When a man appears capable of an honest life he is released on conditional license, and turned over to a central association for supervision. He must report regularly to this association and convince it that he is leading an honest and industrious life, in order to retain his freedom. If he fails to do this, his license is revoked and he must serve the remainder of his sentence.

Through this preventive detention the dangerous criminal is removed from society for longer than his actual sentence provides, and his mode of life is under constant surveillance, after his release. The professional safe-breaker, for instance, is much less likely to do "just one more job" after his release if by doing so he risks a ten-year preventive detention sentence on top of the three years of penal servitude that particular robbery entails.

FAST AIRPLANE WILL BE TESTED

in the vees between the upper and lower banks of cylinders. The propeller has been geared down and the compression ratio of the engine raised to about 7 to 1. There are forty-eight spark plugs and four distributors.

The changes in the engine, reducing the frontal area, permit a better streamlining of the fuselage than was possible with the engine in its original form.

Fuselage, wings and tail members are constructed of wood and the control surfaces are of metal. The plane weighs approximately 4400 pounds and each square foot of its wing area will support about thirty-six pounds of weight when in flight. The wing section employed is the M-6, a double-cambered airfoil developed by the national advisory committee for aeronautics.

TESTS PLANNED

Lieut. Williams plans this week on the Severan River at Annapolis to take the tiny plane into the air for a few minutes to see how it performs and later give it a high-speed test over a measured course. If the performance is satisfactory Williams will take the plane to England for the Schneider races at Cowes, Isle of Wight, September 6 and 7, next.

The monoplane design is a departure from American military and racing-plane practice. Virtually all racing planes built previously in this country have been of biplane construction. Recent British and Italian racing planes have been monoplanes.

FOREST BLAZES SET BY FIREBUG

Incendiary Starts Flames in Nine Places

Sierra Rangers on Trail of Man Who Did It

Conflagrations Continue in Northwest Woods

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6. (AP)—Using a "firepot" consisting of a candle set in oil-soaked rags inside of a can, to keep the wind from blowing out the flame, an incendiary today set fires in nine points in the Sierra National Forest in Mariposa county, it was stated in reports to the United States Forest Service here.

The candles were cut different lengths, apparently so that the flames, set miles apart, would break out simultaneously in a number of places. Rangers are investigating.

The forest service said a fire burning under control near Jerseydale had swept 3000 acres both inside and outside the Sierra Forest. This was one of the incendiary fires.

Federal investigation showed a hunter's camp fire was responsible for the burning over of 1700 acres in the Piney Creek country about twenty miles west of Soledad. The hunter is sought.

In Calaveras country rangers reported a stubborn fire three miles north of Railroad Flat, mountain settlement twenty-five miles northeast of San Andreas. The broken terrain is hampering the fire fighters there, and several hundred acres have been burned over.

A burning deserted cabin in Elizabethtown, north of Quincy, started a fire in Plumas National Forest. It was brought under control after sweeping 300 acres.

HUNDREDS BATTLE SUGAR HILL CONFLAGRATION

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6. (Exclusive)—Lumber mills of Modoc county were closed down today to permit their workers to join the hundreds of men from Surprise and Goose Lake valleys who are fighting a forest fire in the Sugar Hill district.

The fire was brought under control ten days ago but last night it suddenly broke out anew. The Alturas Box and Lumber Company shut down to permit its entire crew to fight the fire. Today the Crane Creek Lumber Company and other sawmill operators quit operation to permit their men to battle the flames.

The new fire, according to reports received here, has burned over many acres of fine timber lands on the east side of the Fandango logging unit.

The department was advised that 3000 acres of brush and grazing lands in Tuolumne county were burned over by a fire extinguished late yesterday.

MANY FIRES RAGE ONWARD IN NORTHWEST

SPOKANE (Wash.) Aug. 6. (AP)—Forest officials directing fire-fighting work in Idaho, Montana and Eastern Washington today received one encouraging report—that all fires in the Sand Point region of North Idaho have been controlled except one. Hundreds of blazes are crackling elsewhere in the Northwest.

Three great conflagrations have raged over that region, one of them, the Pack Creek fire of 8000 acres, threatening the watershed which assures the city of Sand Point its water supply. That still is uncontrolled.

In Montana forests and timber on the Idaho side, upwards of 100 fires crackle, though most of these are small lightning fires.

CAMPERS WARNED

Careless campers who started several fires, led Federal officials to threaten to close one or more forests. Fire fighters totaling more than 1000 men are combating the flames, which have burned at least 30,000 acres, and uncounted fires in inaccessible regions are burning, reports say. The Camas Creek fire in Washington still burns fiercely and new fires are reported in this State.

A new and rather humorous menace was reported from North Idaho, where fire-fighting crews had their food supplies eaten by bears in the Sand Point region. The reports did not say whether the fire, destroying their customary food, set the bears to ravaging the supplies, or whether the animals merely fled before the flames and found the food en route.

NEW FIRES REPORTED

Further down, in Central Idaho, new blazes are reported dotting the Clearwater, Selway and Nez Perces forests.

Most of the new fires were caused by lightning, which means that they are low on the ground and not so serious as crown fires, which roar through the tree tops, spreading with tremendous rapidity and sending blazing brands whirling through the air. Reports from Nelson, British Columbia, north of here, indicate that although many new fires have been started by lightning, the situation is not there considered serious. Between 500 and 600 men are understood to be fighting fires in the southern interior of that Canadian Province.

PRISONS TO BE MADE LARGER

Bates is convinced he can find a large number of prisoners who merit probation and not only their own good but the good of the Federal government will be served by having them out. But we have no staff now adequate to take care of increased probation, so with a new appropriation we hope to get some later."

Strengthening Effect Remarkable, He Say

JAMES L. FORD

"In my opinion the finest thing about this whole Sargon treatment is its remarkable strengthening effects.

"My hobby is working around the yard, but for the past year I felt so weak and run down that I was unsteady on my feet, and just didn't want to be doing anything much. I was troubled with dizzy spells and was continually using laxatives for constipation, and my whole system was sluggish from an inactive liver.

"It was almost unbelievable the feeling of strength and energy that came over me when I began taking Sargon. I am on my fourth bottle now and am getting better and better all the time. I can feel the tingle of improved over my body. There is about Sargon that the blood, and I feel active and stronger

BORDER KILLERS SENT TO PRISON

Life Terms Given Cochran and Colson

Pair Slew Two Agua Caliente Money Guards

San Diego Judge Explains His Decision

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 6. (Exclusive) At noon today Judge Andrews in Superior Court sentenced Martin B. Colson and Lee Cochran to life imprisonment, following their plea of guilty of the murder of Nemasio Monroy and Jose Perez Borego, Agua Caliente money guards, on May 20. In a statement occupying a full hour, Judge Andrews reviewed the arguments of the attorneys and gave the interpretations of the Criminal Code on which he based his decision.

Continuing an argument begun yesterday afternoon, Edgar Hervey, defense counsel, opened the proceedings at 10 a.m. He pointed out that the present state of the law does not make obligatory the death penalty, even when no mitigating circumstances are apparent and followed this with a frank plea for mercy that amounted in the main to an indictment of capital punishment as a system.

DEATH PENALTY URGED

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Muir followed with the rebuttal of the prosecution, demanding the death penalty and urging that a life sentence, under present conditions, probably would set the defendants back upon the streets after a period of seven years or less.

After considerable preamble in which abstract theories of ethics and immorality were considered, Judge Andrews opened his discussion of the section of the Criminal Code that provides death and life imprisonment as alternative penalties in first-degree murder. He contended that even those first-degree cases where no mitigating circumstances appear are capable of further classification. He cited a recent ax murder and the Hickman case as examples of crime which aroused the indignation of the community to such an extent that the death penalty was necessarily provided as a social safety valve.

Reviewing the broad features of the present case, he indicated that in his judgment the crime for which Colson and Cochran were standing trial was not classifiable as of this type. Brutal and premeditated though it might be, there is about the crime of highway robbery a natural and understandable quality that is lacking in those cases which he described as belonging to the first, or "safety valve," class. He touched upon theories of evolution and eugenics, challenged the absolute doctrine of moral responsibility and free will and indicated the possibility that the heredity of the slayers might be responsible for a mental condition which is imperfectly understood.

At two minutes before noon, Lee Cochran was arraigned and sentenced on two counts of first-degree murder, to life imprisonment in San Quentin prison, the sentences to run concurrently.

COLSON ADDRESSED

Martin B. Colson then was arraigned and after a short pause the court addressed him:

"Yesterday you asked me to sentence you to death," said Judge Andrews. "Do you now desire that I impose the death sentence?"

Colson was silent for a long time, finally breaking forth in an almost incoherent speech, the gist of which was the repeated statement that he left his fate in the hands of the court. He pointedly failed to repeat his request for the noose and Judge Andrews smiled faintly before sentencing him to life imprisonment in Folsom prison on two counts. There was no demonstration following the sentence.

An unrelated, but striking feature of Judge Andrews's discourse was a sweeping indictment of the border pleasure resorts which he compared to Sodom and Gomorrah, which should be swept from the surface of the earth by the awakened moral sense of the citizens of this country and of Mexico.

TONGS SIGN TREATY AND WAR CLOSES

Arbitration Brings to Close Death Feud That Gripped Many Cities

NEW YORK, Aug. 7. (Wednesday) (AP)—A new peace treaty between the On Leong and Hip Sing tongs was signed early today by leaders of both organizations in the presence of U. S. Atty. Tuttle.

The signatures of the leaders were affixed at the close of a three-hour conference behind closed doors and in which the rewording of the old peace treaty played a considerable part.

The conference, begun at 10 o'clock last night, was the outgrowth of a previous session yesterday during which tong leaders agreed to settle their difficulties. Dr. Samuel S. Young, Chinese Consul-General in New York, acted as arbiter. It was in his office that the new treaty was made.

Mr. Tuttle announced that the new pact marked a fundamental change of policy on the part of Chinese in America, in that the rival tongs committed themselves to arbitration in the settlement of all future difficulties.

CHINESE HERE NOT MIXED UP IN EASTERN TONG CLASH

To safeguard against any Chinese tong war in Los Angeles, such as has been threatening in eastern cities, Capt. R. E. Steckel of the vice squad yesterday conferred with leaders of local Chinese. The latter assured the captain that the local tongs are merely fraternal organizations and that they do not accept differences passed along from other cities. The Los Angeles tongs are the Bing Kwong Tong and the Hop Sing Tong.

In addition to getting these assurances, Capt. Steckel has instructed his men to keep an alert watch on the local Chinese quarter.

OFFICEHOLDERS TO PASS PLATES

Large Helpings of 'Pap' Aim of Federal Employees

Treasury Surplus to Fade if Demands Pass

Personnel Boards' Reports Incite Grub Rush

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (Exclusive)—President Hoover's efforts to hold down the Federal budget and effect a further reduction in taxes, especially those on earned incomes, are being threatened by the rapidly growing demands for pay increases for approximately 400,000 government job-holders, which if granted will involve an additional cash outlay of well over $100,000,000 a year.

At every turn the President is confronted with the prospect of mounting expenditures. Unless he can find a way to apply the brakes effectively and promptly the cost of government promises to soar under his regime to a record-breaking peace-time level. In the next fiscal year it probably will top the $4,000,000,000 mark, without counting the $500,000,000 farm-relief program which Congress has authorized.

CONCERTED DRIVE

A concerted drive for higher salaries for government employees is well under way with powerful backing. It will be a major issue for the administration and Congress to deal with when Congress convenes for its regular session in December. Boards, commissions and bureaus whose existence has been almost forgotten in the hurly-burly of the political turmoil of the past year are bobbing up every day now with recommendations of pay increases amounting to millions of dollars in each case. These agencies are acting under authority of Congress, which has directed them to study wage conditions and report back with the view to securing an adjustment. In many cases it will be difficult to dispute the justice of their recommendations for increases; nevertheless, to grant them would mean kissing good-by to any idea of a Treasury surplus sufficient to permit further tax reduction in the near future.

It developed today that visions of higher salaries have been raised for more than 160,000 Federal civil employees by a report just completed at the instance of Congress by the Personnel Classification Board. This board has made a survey of some 500,000 civilian positions comparable to those in the government service to ascertain the disparity existing between Federal pay and that in private business for the same type and quality of work. The result is understood to be a recommendation for new classifications of pay throughout many branches of the Federal pay roll.

SWEEPING INCREASE

This development follows the report last week of the interdepartmental pay board, which conducted an exhaustive inquiry into the economic status of the officers and enlisted men of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Geodetic Survey and Public Health Service. As the result of its inquiry the board recommended sweeping increases for every classification of employee. In this instance the board flung its recommendations at the department heads directly in the face of the President's current efforts to cut the cost of maintaining the Army and Navy.

The postal service, running at a deficit of close to $100,000,000 annually, is not immediately affected by the recommendations of the personnel classification board. Its employees only recently received a pay increase. It is well understood, however, that Congress, when it reconvenes, will be besieged by strongly backed lobbies to grant further increases in pay for night workers. A movement looking to shorter hours for workers in the Postoffice Department is also in prospect.

ASHAMED TO SPECIFY

An accompaniment of the present wave of requests for more money is a tendency to withhold the exact figures covering the suggested increases. Neither the Interdepartmental Pay Board or the Personal Classification Board, with their recommendations affecting hundreds of thousands of persons on the Federal pay roll has yet indicated how much the sought-for increases will total. Rough estimates have been made that the proposed pay increases in the Army alone will amount to between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000. Not even a rough estimate is available for other branches of the service. No hint has been given concerning the recommendations affecting the civil establishment but the feeling prevails that the facts will show a staggering addition to the growing Treasury burden.

Around 110,000 civil employees scattered throughout the world, to say nothing of 50,000 in the District of Columbia, were cheered today by the understanding that the Personal Classification Board's report would ask Congress at the beginning of the December session to approve revision upward in the pay levels of the so-called classification law. The news sent a ripple of excitement throughout Federal departments, bureaus and commissions.

DESERVING BEGGARS

Pressure undoubtedly will be exerted upon Congress from every State and Congressional district in a multiplicity of ways, to sanction the pay increases. There is hardly a person on the Federal pay roll who does not believe that he or she sadly deserves more salary and it apparently has become a fixed notion in Washington that the government worker is woefully underpaid in comparison to similar service outside the government. Therefore, the average official or employee looks upon his or her needs as a clear case of the kind of "constructive economy" the President has been advocating.

LAKE ODESSA (Mich.) Aug. 6. (AP)—Four children of Mr. and Mrs. Royal Johnson were killed today when their automobile was struck by a Pere Marquette passenger train at a crossing here. The dead are Benjamin, 12 years of age, driver; Jerry, 8; Charles, 3, and Harriet, 1½.

HIKERS, BEWARE OF WOOD TICK

Spotted Fever That Usually Proves Fatal Carried by Forest Denizens

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6. (AP) The common wood tick should be regarded with respect by hardy ones who seek the "great open spaces" in California mountain retreats, for he is the dangerous carrier of the Rocky Mountain spotted fever, of which five cases were reported in the State last month, according to Dr. Walter M. Dickie, director of the State Department of Public Health.

The disease is highly fatal, Dr. Dickie stated, and has bee especially prevalent in Oregon this year.

DAY BREAKS AT SOUTHERN POLE

pened to us. We long for sunlight as we never longed for anything before. We watch the little streak of light on the horizon every morning and glady see is growing larger. The personal idiosyncrasies of individuals have become painfully apparent at times. One man's laugh is annoying to some, the way another talks, which would be quite normal in ordinary life becomes a thorn in the side of a few who hear him and those so affected are probably just as guilty of some other personal oddity which grates on the nerves of their neighbors.

But the marvelous part of this experience is that men have shown themselves so capable of restraint, so thoughtful of others, that they have understood and repressed what irritation they might have felt, have known it was largely of their imagination and have gone on smiling through a normal and contented existence. There may have been a few ripples on the otherwise placid surface of our existence but nothing such as we anticipated and nothing at all when the heterogeneous group of which this camp is composed is considered. Little America has weathered "the winter of our discontent" successfully.

EXPECTED OF THEM

In talking of this aspect of the winter today Commander Byrd spoke of the excellent behavior of the men and said: "If you are writing about the good fortune of the camp in getting over the winter night with a spirit of good-humored give and take I suggest that you make it clear we don't want to boast about it, for it is no more than our friends in the States would expect of us as a simple, everyday duty." I don't see any reason, however, why I should not tell this fact:

"That these fellows from every walk of life and different parts of the country stand on their feet down here for what they are as men, without any regard whatever to any advantage of wealth or position they may have had. From a sense of plain duty these fellows have determined to overlook petty annoyances and have given to each other and to me a very whole-hearted co-operation. That's the answer.

TRIBUTE TO GOULD

"Also there's Larry Gould, the second in command, who has set an example of comradeship, co-operation and duty that makes my job a very simple one. As executive officer he is responsible more than anyone for the pleasant situation in Little America. It would not be just in me to mention this matter without acknowledging the very great contribution Larry Gould has made to our well-being. I wonder if the University of Michigan has any more like him. If so, I would like to sign them up for our next expedition."

For much of our success in weathering the winter has been due to the number of those in camp and the way in which Commander Byrd arranged the camp. There are four living houses, so that men are constantly moving from one to the other, dropping in to watch others at work different from their own or to chat. There have been few days when we have not been able to go between the houses overland and so get exercise and air.

CHANGE OF SCENERY

Or, if one gets tired of the voices in his own house he can walk over to another and come back refreshed. We are not forced to sit all together in one house for four months and look at each other until we get to know the way in which every man's whiskers grow. There is enough variety to make life interesting as it can be in such a solitude and enough work to provide for every man a task which he must perform and outside of certain rigid rules about getting up in the morning and going to bed at night there is a happy go lucky freedom which results in a lot of fun.

All in all the winter hasn't been so bad, but we are glad it is nearly over.

Mexican Road Outlines Result of Labor Law

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 6. (Exclusive)—The application of the proposed labor law in its present form would mean an increased yearly expenditure by the Southern Pacific of Mexico of 2,000,000 pesos representing 55 per cent of the company's present pay roll, according to the company's contention as presented to President Portes Gil in a general report on how the law would affect the company's 130,000,000-peso Mexican investment.

It is the company's contention that an increase of 17 per cent on existing freight and passenger rates would have to be enforced to meet the additional operative cost.

ENGRAVERS CONVENE TODAY

CLAM BEDS PUT IN QUARANTINE

Poisonings From Bivalves Bring State Action

Indians Kept from Work by Closing Order

Specimens From Waters of North to be Analyzed

SAN RAFAEL, Aug. 6. (AP)—A quarantine on poisonous clams threw 200 Indians out of work today. The Indians, who live at Marshall on Tomales Bay, and depend for their livelihood on gathering shellfish, were idle, while a State fish and game patrol launch guarded the clam beds supposed to be the source of poisonous shellfish that caused three deaths and numerous illnesses within the last three days. In addition signs have been posted warning the public against gathering clams until the quarantine has been lifted.

J. H. Kuser, county health officer, said specimens of the claims from beds near Marshall are being collected for shipment to the Hooper foundation for medical research at the University of California medical college at San Francisco. Never before, said Huser, have claims caused fatalities, even in the summer, although mussels in past years have been the cause of deaths.

FIVE POISONED AFTER EATING SHELLFISH

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6. (AP)—A family of five persons was rushed to the emergency hospital today all suffering after eating clams obtained at the mouth of Russian River.

Dr. William Hassler, city health officer, issued a warning cautioning all persons not to eat shellfish caught anywhere at this time of year.

Those poisoned today are Joseph Badella, his wife Teresa, two sons, Phillip and Angelo and Mrs. Berta Menta. Mrs. Badella is said to be critically ill.

PHILLIPS
For Troubles due to Acid

When a Child is FEVERISH, CROSS, UPSET

Colic, gas, sour belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, in babies and children, generally show food its souring in the little digestive tract.

When these symptoms appear, give Baby a teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Add it to the first bottle of food in the morning. Older children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child—make his stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes he is comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour, indigestible food. It opens the bowels in constipation, colds, children's ailments. Children take it readily because it is palatable, pleasant tasting.

Learn its many uses for mother and child. Write for the interesting book, "Useful Information." Address The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y. It will be sent FREE.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

BRITISH LOOSEN HOLD IN EGYPT

Troops to be Removed Except in Suez Canal Zone

Other Far-Reaching Reforms Promised in Pact

Details of Treaty Announced at 10 Downing Street

LONDON, Aug. 6. (AP)—British military occupation of Egypt, except for the Suez Canal zone, is abandoned and other important and far-reaching reforms agreed to in the new Anglo-Egyptian draft treaty, details of which were issued today from Downing street by the Foreign Office.

The proposals are a great advance on anything hitherto offered as settlement of the Anglo-Egyptian problem, being considered even more favorable than was the draft treaty of 1927, which was rejected by the Egyptian Parliament under the influence of the followers of the Nationalist leader, Zaghoul Pasha. The agreement which Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson has negotiated with the Egyptian Premier, Mohammed Pasha Mahmoud in a general way follows the lines of the abortive treaty of two years ago, but makes important concessions to Egypt.

The British occupation will cease and British troops will be withdrawn to the Suez Canal zone.

WILL ASSIST EGYPT

The British government will use its influence to induce other powers to consent to the abolition of the capitulations or extraterritorial rights, and will assist Egypt to become a member of the League of Nations.

Further, Great Britain recognizes that the protection of foreigners in Egypt is a matter devolving solely upon the Egyptian government.

The protection of minorities was one of the four "reserved" points by the British government two years ago but it now is admitted that this will be exclusively the concern of the Egyptian government.

The variations from the treaty of 1927 will give Egypt a greater measure of real independence than ever before proposed.

Some points not mentioned in the draft proposals are made clear in accompanying explanatory notes.

OTHER CONCESSIONS NEAR

Thus the British inspector-general of the Egyptian army will cease to function completely and all British personnel will be withdrawn from the Egyptian forces.

Similar concessions in other respects are foreshadowed in the notes exchanged. For instance Egypt retains the right to engage Egyptian officials in various advisory capacities where British officials hitherto were employed.

The most important concession on Great Britain's part is the withdrawal of British garrisons to the canal zone. This was refused in the negotiations with Sarwat Pasha two years ago. Sir Austen Chamberlain, then Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, held out this as a possibility ten years hence.

ROSIE DOLLY SUED OVER NECKLACES

Dancer Accused by Two Jewelers of Swindling; "Ropes" Worth $280,000

PARIS, Aug. 6. (AP)—Roszika Dolly of the dancing Dolly Sisters, wife of Mortimer Davis, Jr., and daughter-in-law of the late Sir Mortimer Davis, wealthy Canadian, was charged today with swindling two Paris jewelers out of pearl necklaces valued at 7,000,000 francs (approximately $280,000) in a suit filed with the Seine Tribunal.

The jewelers, both located in the aristocratic shopping district in the Place Vendome, asked that a trustee should be appointed to keep the necklaces until the case has been decided.

But the trustee will have a job on his hands because the complainants admitted they do not know the whereabouts of Rosie's "ropes."

Roszika Dolly was reported Friday as being in a hotel at the Cap d'Antibes on the Riviera, where it was said she has started divorce proceedings.

In their complaint the Paris jewelers, one of whom is Polak and the other Chaumet, asserted that the dancer's husband signed notes for the necklaces at the time of their purchase, which was prior to the death of Sir Mortimer Davis, and that the notes have remained unpaid.

The jewelers asserted that Rosie in buying the expensive necklaces gave them to understand that her father-in-law was a man of many millions and that there was no need to worry about where the money would come from.

Each of the necklaces is valued by the jewelers at 3,500,000 francs. They said that when Rosie took them she strung the two together in one pretty, glowing rope worth more than $250,000. She is a sister of Yancsi Dolly, also a dancer.

QUIET REST STILL TAKEN BY HOOVERS

President's Wife and Sons Tarry at Virginia Retreat to Enjoy Mountain Shade

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—Mrs. Hoover and her two sons, Herbert Hoover, Jr., and Allan, are enjoying a family party this week at the President's Virginia fishing lodge with the time of their return to Washington still indefinite.

Allan is obtaining the rest necessary to recuperation from an attack of digestive trouble which kept him confined to his bed at the White House for a few days last week and reports from the camp are that his recovery now is virtually complete.

The President's son, who is 21 years of age, has been subject for some time to recurring attacks from this ailment. When he came to Washington from California a few weeks ago, Mr. Hoover decided that an examination by a specialist would be advisable and the President and Allan went to Baltimore for a consultation with physicians at Johns-Hopkins University.

His illness of last week was described by Lieutenant-Commander Joel T. Boone, the White House physician, as of a minor nature. On Friday he was sufficiently improved to join his parents in their usual week-end visit to the fishing preserve and while the President and the guests returned to Washington yesterday, Allan, his mother, Herbert, Jr., and the latter's wife stayed behind for a continued rest in the cool of the mountain retreat.

Marian Nixon's License Issued

CHICAGO, Aug. 6. (AP)—Marian Nixon, film actress, and Edward Hillman, Jr., son of a wealthy Chicago merchant, applied for a marriage license today.

Hillman, who gave his age as 28, was granted a divorce three years ago and Miss Nixon, who said she is 24, was divorced two years ago in Los Angeles.

The couple will be married the 14th inst., Hillman announced.

CENSUS SYSTEM READY TO WORK

Machinery All Mobilized to Start April Next

Army of 100,000 Will be Put Into Service

Nation's Population May Reach 123,000,000

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—Machinery for the census tabulation next spring, which is to be the greatest ever undertaken in the history of the nation, was said today by Census Bureau officials to be practically complete.

An army of 100,000 persons will be mobilized to enumerate statistics on four phases of American life—population, unemployment, farms and trade distribution. They will be under the direction of 573 supervisors and will start on April 1, 1930, their census-taking, which is the fifteenth decennial enumeration of the nation. No appointments of supervisors or enumerators have yet been announced by the bureau.

CONGRESS ANGLE

The census will be more difficult to compile than previous ones, because trade distribution and unemployment will be embodied with the usual population compilation. In the past, also, farms have been enumerated in separate censuses. Another phase of the census will be the allocation of the population as it affects the distribution of seats in the House of Representatives among the States.

A census on manufactures also is to be made, but this will be started next November and will not be taken by enumerators, the manufacturers themselves furnishing the bureau information about the value and quantity of their products, amount of materials used and number of employees.

The enumerators must have the ability to be clever questioners, according to Dr. Joseph A. Hill, assistant to the bureau's director. To gain information about the population, they will be commissioned to ask each individual, man, woman or child, a total of thirty questions and a dozen more queries of each unemployed person. For the farm enumeration they will have to ask 350 questions of each farm owner, seeking information about the value and production of the farms, the number of live stock and varieties of crops. The distribution census will embrace wholesale and retail sales of each commodity with the objective of obtaining the statistics on the values and quantity of the sales.

GUESS AT TOTAL

The nation's population is expected by the bureau to be about 123,000,000 in 1930. In order to obtain a speedy tabulation the 100,000 enumerators are distributed throughout the nation's 3074 counties, while the country is divided into 573 districts each to be headed by a supervisor. The division of the country into enumerators' and supervisors' districts has been two-thirds completed by the bureau. In cities an enumerator is allotted to each 1500 to 2000 population, while in the rural sections the area is the criterion for their assignment. It is expected the census taking will require two weeks in the cities and a month in the rural districts.

HOOSIER PROTESTS "SET-UP" FOR CENSUS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—Representative Ludlow, Democrat, Indiana, announced today he has protested to Secretary Lamont against what he described as a "nation-wide set-up which the politicians are forming to appoint only Republicans in the census field force."

Ludlow did not amplify his reference to "politicians," but in a letter to Lamont urged the Commerce Secretary to issue an order to census supervisors prohibiting discrimination between veterans in filling positions in connection with the census.

The Indianan in a statement said "the set-up" he referred to would shut out some 25,000 Democratic veterans, wives and widows, more or less, who equally are entitled to these places."

"To my great astonishment," Ludlow said, "I find in talking with Republican members of Congress from various States that a set-up now is being made which, unless it is stopped by some regulation, to be issued by the Federal administration, will result in the appointment of Republicans to all these veterans' positions and the exclusion of disabled Democratic veterans."

Ludlow added he recently discussed with another member of Congress the possibility of getting a place as census enumerator for a veteran still suffering from wounds and the answer of that member, he said, was "It's no use to try, he's a Democrat."

LOS ANGELES LEADS AGAIN IN MAIL GAIN

July Total Shows More Increase Over Last Year Than in Any Other City

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (Exclusive)—Los Angeles' gain in total mail income for July this year led all of the large cities of the United States in percentage, gaining for 1929 over 1928 for the month of July 13.33 per cent.

Again Los Angeles was the seventh city in the United States in total collection with a total of $843,739.39, an increase over the same month last year of just under $100,000—the exact gain being $99,237.06. Los Angeles again was far ahead of Cleveland, O., and Kansas City, Mo. The only cities with more mail revenue for the month were New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis and Detroit.

All the leading cities showed increases running from 4.68 to 12.70 per cent but most of them averaged around 11 per cent. San Francisco showed total collection for the month of $727,100.02 for July.

POLLARD WINS VIRGINIA RACE

Mapp Concedes Democratic Gubernatorial Nomination

RICHMOND (Va.) Aug. 6. (AP)—Headquarters of G. Walter Mapp at 10:30 o'clock tonight conceded the Democratic nomination for Governor of Virginia to John Garland Pollard. At that hour unofficial returns gave Pollard 58,141 of the 79,124 votes cast in 971 of the State's 1681 precincts.

Mr. Mapp was in second place, with Roswell Page a poor third.

GRAIN MAN PROMOTED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—J. M. Mehl, senior supervisor of the Chicago office of the grain futures administration, has been appointed assistant chief of that administration.

New 48-hour Coast to Coast Rail-Air Service gives famous honeymooners speedy start on trip to Europe.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN GILBERT recently arrived in New York on The Airway Limited—famous Pennsylvania train—well satisfied with their 48-hour Rail-Air trip from Los Angeles.

In entire comfort—as well as at topmost speed—they had crossed the continent in 48 hours . . . flying by day—traveling in luxurious trains by night.

This newest mode of travel—luxurious as it is swift—owes its success to many months of preparation. Developed by the Pennsylvania Railroad, the Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc., and the Santa Fe Railway—the project has involved the expenditure of many millions of dollars—and many months of effort—under the supervision of a staff of experts headed by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

In fact, everything that could be thought of has been done to ensure in this new enterprise the same high standards of safety, comfort and convenience which characterize the operations of the "largest fleet of trains in America."

JAPAN'S NAVAL POLICY HINTED

Minister of Marine Speaks on Auxiliary Ratio

Report on Figures Scorned as Not Official

Hoover-MacDonald Action Meets Approval

TOKIO, Aug. 6. (AP)—Considerable interest is shown by the Japanese press today in the statement made by Minister of Marine Takarabe yesterday before a conference of prefectural governors in which he is reported to have said Japan will insist on a 10-10-7 ratio for auxiliary naval vessels and will endeavor to obtain agreement of the powers at a future disarmament conference.

Both in reporting Minister Takarabe's statement at today's Cabinet session and at yesterday's meeting of governors the official is quoted as declaring Japan will insist on the 10-10-7 ratio, but pressed for confirmation, the office of the Navy Department declared the Minister had been misquoted.

Japanese reporters declare the Minister definitely mentioned the ratio and that the journalists later were asked to delete references to it. The official explanation is that Japanese policy on the auxiliary ratio question is as yet undecided.

It is the consensus of well-informed observers that Japan will request the 10-10-7 ratio for auxiliary craft without seeking to alter the existing capital-ship ratio of 5-5-3. Further, Japan will support any proposals for the extension of the capital-ship building holiday, the extension of age limits and the reduction of capital-ship maximum tonnage.

In a recent interview with the Associated Press correspondent Minister Takarabe said he is favorably impressed by the negotiations between President Hoover and Prime Minister MacDonald resulting in the suspension of part of the British and American naval-construction programs.

Minister Takarabe said he is unable to indicate what Japan will do regarding similar voluntary reductions in her shipbuilding program since he has not received officially the American and British announcements. In any case, however, he said, "Japan fully shares the spirit actuating President Hoover and Prime Minister MacDonald."

JAPANESE WARSHIPS TO VISIT COAST CITIES

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6. (Exclusive)—Two historic battleships of the Japanese navy training squadron, commanded by Vice-Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura and carrying twenty high-ranking officers, 200 midshipmen and 2000 enlisted men, will steam into San Francisco Bay the 16th inst. in the course of an extended educational voyage for the student officers.

The visiting squadron will be in San Francisco waters for five days and an elaborate program of entertainment and festivities has been prepared. From San Francisco they will go to Los Angeles and thence by way of the Panama Canal to New York.

HISTORY INTERESTING

Both training ships have had an interesting history. The Asama, first-class coast-defense ship, was built in England in 1896. In 1900 it took part with the allied forces in the occupation of Sankai Kwan at the time of the Boxer uprising in China. In 1902 it was sent to England to take part in the ceremonies marking the coronation of King Edward VII.

During 1904 it took part in the Russo-Japanese conflict and destroyed two Russian cruisers, participated in the blockade of Port Arthur and engaged in the battle of the Japanese Sea. During the World War it was one of the Japanese warships occupying German territorial islands.

BOMBARDED RUSSIANS

The Iwate, also a first-class coast-defense ship, has had an equally thrilling history since its launching in 1900. It took part in the conflict with the Russian fleet off Port Arthur and bombarded the Russian forts and dockyards at Vladivostok. During the World War it was engaged in patrol duty in the South Seas and at the time of the Japanese earthquake took an important part in the relief work.

Vice-Admiral Nomura is internationally known in naval and diplomatic circles.

BEES "KIDNAPED" BY ARMED MEN

Owner of Hives Forced to "Forget" License Number of Thieves' Car

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6. (AP) Eight hives of busy bees were stolen from him by four men who held him up at the point of rifles, F. J. Edwards, Hagginwood apiarist, reported today to Deputy Sheriff Ieech.

Edwards said he watched the four men load his bees into a truck at his Sacramento River road bee farm and jotted down the license number of the car. He was discovered, he said, forced at gun points to destroy the paper on which the number was written.

Due to mental agony at the sight of his bees being kidnaped he could not remember the license number, he told Ieech.

BROKERAGE HOUSE HEAD IN CUSTODY

Michigan Man Suspected of Shortage Totaling More Than $700,000

CHICAGO, Aug. 6. (Exclusive)—J. B. Greenfield, head of a brokerage house, was held in technical custody tonight, awaiting formal service of a warrant charging him with embezzlement. Assistant State's attorneys seeking to learn what Greenfield had done with approximately $750,000 paid to him for Trustee Standard Oil shares which he failed to deliver, said he would be questioned tomorrow.

A preliminary audit of his books, seized on a subpoena duces tecum, showed that he was in default $366,000 on securities which investors had paid for but which Greenfield failed to deliver. Defalcations in his Detroit office brought the total to $731,000, but when the whole audit is complete, the total may exceed $750,000, Assistant State's Attorney Arthur Carlsten said.

When the State's attorney's men went through the brokerage office, they found only $1.35 in cash and "rubber checks" totaling $106.

The defalcation, according to Carlsten, is not so much one of deliberate criminal intent as of unwise overexpansion. Greenfield opened offices in Peoria and other Illinois cities and also in Detroit, for the sale of Standard Oil trust shares.

Mesquite (Ariz.) Dam Goes Out in Downpour

Loss of Live Stock Great; Damage $275,000

LAS VEGAS (Nev.) Aug. 6. (AP)—Loss of two lives and damage roughly estimated at $275,000 were counted here today as the costs of severe rainstorms of the last three days.

Striking through a 100-mile territory, the downpours wiped out a half-constructed irrigation dam at Mesquite, Ariz., swept away bridges, causing a freight train engine to carry its crew of two to death, and inundated highways, destroying some of them as well as grazing and farm lands.

DAM GOES OUT

The latest damage reported was destruction of the Virgin River Dam which gave way before the rains pouring off the near-by mountains and flooded Mesquite and the adjoining valley. No loss of life was known, but a heavy damage was inflicted on live stock, much of which was drowned, and to irrigation systems.

The dam break which followed a particularly heavy downpour early Monday occurred shortly after a train of the Tonopah-Tidewater Railroad plunged through a broken bridge, drowning the engineer, Frank Quinn, and the fireman, Myron Taggs.

HIGHWAYS DAMAGED

Highways about the dam area were wiped out. Near here, the rains obliterated sections of the Los Angeles-Las Vegas road and damaged the Las Vegas-Salt Lake City highway.

Incomplete estimates placed the damage around Las Vegas at $75,000. Financial loss in the dam area was calculated at about $200,000, three-fourths of which represented the ruined dam.

The weakened condition of the dam was ascertained some hours before its supports collapsed and residents of the endangered valley had ample time to flee to higher ground. Mesquite, which has a population including the surrounding valley, of about 2500, was flooded in sections to a depth of five and one-half feet.

LIVE STOCK LOST

About 15,000 acre feet of water had washed up behind the dam before it gave way and there was no opportunity to save but a small part of live stock grazing in the valley.

Weather reports indicate the worst of the storms passed, although the strange sight of ordinarily dry desert washes filled with swift streams of water still is to be seen.

GANG PAIR IDENTIFIED AS KILLERS

Men Flee After Their Car, Speeding With Siren Open, Crashes Into Another

CHICAGO, Aug. 6. (Exclusive)—Miles O'Donnell, a brother of "Klondike" O'Donnell of West Side booze-running notoriety, and a pal, Edward Sernik, were identified positively today as the automobile killers of a young woman into whose car they crashed Monday night.

The two men fled in their blood-spattered clothes after the accident, which is said to have been the result of their driving at a speed of seventy miles an hour on the wrong side of the street. Both machines were overturned and wrecked. O'Donnell and Sernik crawled out of the wreckage of their heavy sedan and sped away in a taxicab, leaving the five occupants of the other car lying in the street.

One of the five was killed outright. She was Mrs. Mabel Potter, 28 years of age. Richard Mitchell, 21, Oak Park, the driver of the smaller car, sustained a skull fracture.

In the wreckage of the O'Donnell sedan police found a siren similar to those used on police cars and which caused a stir when, after the St. Valentine's massacre, they were found on several gangland automobiles. Witnesses said the siren of the sedan was screaming full blast as the car sped along at a terrific pace, and that traffic pulled up to the curb in the belief it was a police or fire car.

Five May Die of Burns Received in Motor Crash

KENOSHA (Wis.) Aug. 6. (AP)—Ten persons were burned in an automobile crash near here tonight, five of them probably fatally.

Trapped in a closed car that became a veritable furnace when it overturned in a ditch, two women and three children were the most severely burned in the party and three motorists who came to their rescue were burned less seriously.

Plane Flight Aid for Child Fails

TICONDEROGA (N. Y.) Aug. 6. (Exclusive)—After New York City specialists, a nurse and a blood donor had rushed by seaplane to this historically famous Lake Champlain port yesterday in an attempt to save the life of 9-year-old Thresa Hart, daughter of Harold S. Hart, wealthy shoe manufacturer, the child died at Moses Lundington Hospital, Ticonderoga, this morning.

The girl became ill while camping at Paradox Lake. Doctors Nathan Rosenthal and George Basher of New York, reaching her bedside after their long plane flight, performed a blood transfusion yesterday, but their patient failed to rally.

Dawson Tendered Post by President Hoover

Former Representative Not Sure of Acceptance

Republican Reorganization Plans Perfected

DAVENPORT (Iowa) Aug. 6. (AP) A. F. Dawson of Davenport, former Representative and investment-house banker, has been tendered the post of executive secretary of the Republican National Committee by President Hoover, it was said here today.

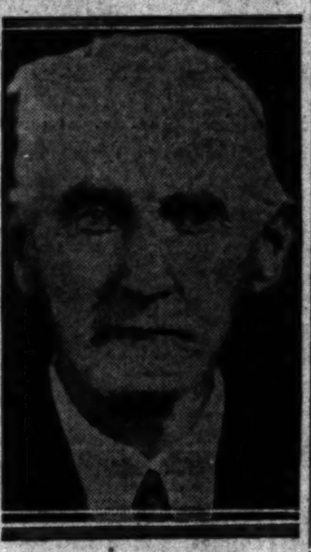
Summoned to Washington last week by the nation's Chief Executive, Mr. Dawson was offered the job of practically running the national Republican organization when it is reorganized on September 9, next.

Claudius Huston of Chattanooga, Tenn., is slated to become chairman, succeeding Dr. Hubert Work, resigned.

Mr. Dawson, who has returned to Davenport, declared today that he has not yet decided whether to accept, but expected to have a definite announcement within a few days.

Pasadena Man in 100 Per Cent Finer Condition

"There must be something 'different' about a medicine that will take a man 81 years old and build him up like Sargon did me. I feel 20 years younger and my whole system feels 100 per cent better than it has in many years.



W. F. McCOLLUM

"I guess it's natural for a man my age to begin to 'give out.' For the past few years I have been gradually going down until I just got so weak and nervous, I felt exhausted all the time and was even afraid to go down town alone. My liver was sluggish and I was so constipated, I felt bad all over. I didn't have hardly any appetite and what little I ate, I had to force down. My food didn't help me any though because my strength just dwindled away. I never did get to sleep until along about day-break and I always got up tired. It looked like I'd just have to give in to old age but since taking Sargon and Sargon Pills I've changed my mind.

"Sargon surely is a great medicine! My whole system feels toned up and I believe I'm as well and strong as any man my age could be. I've got a good appetite and my food seems to nourish and strengthen me better than it has in a long time. I'm not nervous any more and I go down town by myself whenever I want to. I feel stronger and more active than I have in years. I sleep good every night now and get up of a morning ready to do about.

"When I say Sargon is great, my friends all know I'm telling the truth. I feel like I ought to tell others about it so they can be helped too."

The above statement was made by W. F. McCollum, 1530 Woodberry Road, Pasadena. Mr. McCollum is a retired farmer.

The special Sargon representative at the Owl Drug Store, 6th and Broadway is personally meeting hundreds of people daily who call to learn first hand of its wonderful powers. Sargon may also be obtained at all Owl drug stores in Los Angeles and other cities.—[Advertisement.

FIERY SHOWER TO BE VISIBLE

Spectacular Falling of Meteors Promised

Display to Occur Between August 9 and 13

"Systematic Observers'" Reports Solicited

PASADENA, Aug. 6.—Spectacular showers of meteors known as "the tears of St. Lawrence," will be visible in this vicinity at night between the 9th and 13th inst. when the earth passes through the orbit of the Perseid meteors, Dr. Paul W. Merrill, Mt. Wilson Observatory astronomer, announced today.

The shower, he asserted, will be at its best between midnight and dawn Sunday night, the 11th inst.

"A careful observer, in an unlighted region," said the astronomer, "should be able to observe at least thirty meteors in an hour and possibly as many as 120."

"Systematic observers, by making a careful count and submitting it to me at the observatory or sending it directly to Dr. Charles P. Oliver at the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, can be of great assistance to scientists who are studying meteoric phenomena. Particularly, persons in mountainous regions lend valuable aid."

Astronomical records identify this annual occurrence as far back as 1100 years ago. The celestial bombardment is due to the fact that a continuous orbit of these small heavenly bodies extends around the sun at right angles to the orbit of the earth.

The meteoric shower, according to Dr. Merrill, is unique in that while the meteors appear in any part of the sky they all seem to radiate from one central source near the constellation Perseus.

Once a year the earth in making its circuit passes through the orbit of the meteors, a certain number of which pass through the earth's outer atmosphere at such a high rate of speed that they become heated to incandescence, and so are visible.

Basic Tax Rate May be Reduced

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 6.—The State and county basic tax rate may be reduced to $1.82 on each $100 of assessed valuation, under the revaluation survey, which raised the entire county valuation from $140,624,687 to $235,163,034, the Board of Supervisors announced today upon tentative estimation of the budget for the fiscal year. The cut was realized only by application of "rigid economy," the board advised.

While the city tax rate has been raised to $3.27 by the Council, the total tax rate to be paid by city property owners bids to be lower than last year, due to the county cut. Last year the rate was $6.88, and this year it may be $5.34, a reduction of $1.54.

Taxable property in the city last year was appraised at $88,000,000. This year the value is about $68,000,000. Whereas last year the tax rate of $6.88 realized about $5,954,000, this year's rate of $5.34 will produce about $8,971,000, an increase of about $2,000,000.

The county board denied aid to many institutions which applied, and reduced allowances for those institutions which have been customarily budgeted. The board indicated that the Fine Arts Society, aided last year to the extent of $5800, would be denied a requested appropriation of $7500 this year.

The budget will be prepared in printed form for distribution the 20th inst., in accordance with law and if not finally changed, will be accepted the following month.

ACCIDENT VICTIM SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 6.—Col. A. L. Denman, Los Angeles, who with his young son, Albert, sustained serious injuries in an automobile crash Sunday near Arroyo Grande, showed improvement today in Santa Maria Hospital. The nurses reported the colonel and his little son both much improved yesterday, though not entirely out of danger.

They were injured when their car turned over and Lieut. Alden Hearne of the United States Army was killed. Hearne's body was thrown thirty feet from the car and he was killed instantly. The car rolled over after leaving the highway, either as the result of a bursting tire or in an attempt on the part of Col. Denman to avoid an approaching driver, it is said.

MOTORCYCLE OFFICER HIT BY STREET CAR

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 6.—Crashing into a street car on Fifth avenue between B and C streets while returning to the police station with the ambulance, Motorcycle Officer A. A. Winchester was injured badly shortly after noon today. The ambulance was carrying Patrolman William Bailes, who had fainted in a restaurant at Fifth and B street. Winchester turned out to pass the ambulance and crashed into the north-bound trolley head on. He sustained a serious injury to his hip, police report.

COLLEGE STUDENTS VISIT IMPERIAL

EL CENTRO, Aug. 6.—A party of eighteen students from the Virginia Polytechnic Institute in charge of Prof. R. J. Golden, instructor in geology at that institution, visited parts of Imperial Valley today on a summer's tour of seventeen States inspecting geological formation of the various localities of interest. They will travel up along the coast to Oregon and Washington and thence across Nevada, Idaho, Montana and the Dakotas toward home.

BOMBERS LAND AT SAN DIEGO

Eight Army Planes Complete Transcontinental Flight from Langley Field

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 6. (AP)—Winding up a transcontinental flight which started at Langley Field, Va., Monday, a fleet of eight army bombing planes landed at Rockwell Field here at 7 p.m. today.

Commanding the flight, which is being made for the purpose of demonstrating the feasibility and the time factor involved in transporting a group of men from coast to coast, is Maj. Hugh J. Knerr, of the Army Air Service.

The planes made a refueling stop at Albuquerque, N. M., this morning, taking off from there at noon on their way to Rockwell Field. Minor difficulties, including hot engines in two planes, and a clogged gas line in a third, were reported, but these troubles are said to have been overcome.

The planes will remain at Rockwell Field for three days before taking off on the return trip. Homeward bound, they will head north to Oakland and then swing east by way of Salt Lake City, Cheyenne, Denver, and so on through the Middle Western States and back to Virginia.

One plane was diverted to March Field near Riverside, and one was expected to arrive later.

Council Defers Action Against Slot Machines

VENTURA, Aug. 6.—The matter of prohibiting punchboards and slot machines within the city was brought up again at the meeting of the City Council last night by City Attorney Walter Fourt, who explained that he had prepared ordinances by the adoption of which the use of gaming devices could be stopped.

Considerable discussion ensued during which it became apparent that the Council unanimously was in favor of ousting the punchboards, which are considered in the ordinance as lotteries.

Some dissension as to passage of the measure doing away with slot machines seemed imminent.

Councilman Albro requested time in which to read and consider the proposed measures and the matter was put over until next Monday, at which time Councilman Durfee declared that he would introduce a motion for their adoption.

Slot machines at present are licensed as automatic vending machines. The devices are not operating legally as such, it was claimed, and considerable evidence to prove this point was said to have been obtained by the police department and the City Attorney.

BENEFACTOR ROBBED BY HIGHWAY HIKER

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 6.—The old saying, one good turn deserves another, is being doubted by R. C Harrison of 124 Castillo street, when he discovered yesterday that a man he had befriended robbed him of $8.

Harrison told the police that while he was en route to Santa Barbara this morning from the north he invited a young man who was walking along the highway, to ride in the car. The young man accepted the invitation and sat in the rear seat where Harrison had placed a sack containing $8 in nickles. Near the outskirts of the city, the stranger asked Mr. Harrison to stop the car and allow him to get out.

On arrival at his home, Harrison discovered the sack missing. Police are searching for the young man.

VENTURA ENLARGES COURTHOUSE GROUNDS

VENTURA, Aug. 6.—Purchase of the Crane, Neel and Roff properties to add to the present Courthouse grounds was consummated today when the Board of Supervisors approved the amounts to be paid, which amounted to approximately $90,750.

The parcels of land and their prices were agreed upon at a meeting of the board July 8.

The additions are as follows: Crane property, 140 by 400 feet, east of Courthouse grounds, $36,750, and title search costs; Roff property, 67 by 100 feet on California street, $25,000 and costs; Neel property, 100 by 230 feet, Poli and Chestnut, $29,000.

MEXICAN ORDER TO BE MODIFIED

CALEXICO, Aug. 6.—Through intercession by Gov. Abelardo Rodriguez of Lower California, it is believed the immigration order of Mexico forcing Americans employed in Mexico to move across the line will be considerably modified here and at Tia Juana. A telegram from President Portes Gil to the Governor today stated the Immigration Department is being requested by the President to modify the order. Nearly all the American employees here have moved across into hotels.

PASTOR'S FUNERAL HELD AT MONROVIA

MONROVIA, Aug. 6.—Last rites for Rev. Ernest W. Mager, 64 years of age, who died Saturday at his home, 312 Wild Rose avenue, were held this morning from the Burns-Temple mortuary with Rev. George Watson, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiating. Assisting him were Rev. C. R. Montague of Pomona, Rev. G. G. Stewart of Covina, Rev. John Nicholson and Rev. N. J. Burton of Temple City.

Aerial Cop Shoos Noise From Studio

UNIVERSAL CITY, Aug. 6.—Whether you care to believe it or not, Universal City has an air-traffic cop, and it is his job to shoo away other airplanes that come blundering over the Universal Pictures studio while directors are taking the new sound pictures.

By prearranged signals the "cop" warns away air-mail planes and others, or by another signal tells the directors on the ground to hold up their work till an obstinate plane, with the whirr of its motors, can sail by and out of hearing.

These latter signals are given from the air to a man on the hill back of the studios. In turn, he presses a button that communicates with a buzzer to the camera box on the set. It is reported that the work of the air cop already has saved many thousands of feet of film negative and hours of time that would have been wasted.

NEW MANAGER FOR CLUB

HERMOSA BEACH, Aug. 6.—W. P. Clark, formerly manager of Hotel Green at Pasadena and at one time of the U. S. Grant Hotel at San Diego, has been appointed to the managership of the Surf and Sand Club here. He succeeds Boone Riley, who has resigned.

WOMAN MAYOR USES HATCHET

Carpenter's Tool Replaces Gavel in Redondo's Council Chamber

REDONDO BEACH, Aug. 6. The gavel wielded by Mrs. May B. Hopkins, Redondo's woman Mayor, is an innovation in the shape of a shiny new hatchet, delivered to the Mayor by special messenger at the opening of the Council session last night.

The admonition that the sharp edge is to be used when necessary accompanied the weapon, which was sent by one of the women executive's supporters.

SCHOOL TO OPEN AT DAM SITE

Supervisors to Care for Children of the Many Workmen

GLENDORA, Aug. 6.—Plans to establish a school at the San Gabriel Dam site to accommodate forty school children living in the canyon, are practically completed and work will soon begin on installing equipment for the grammar grades, it was announced today through the local Chamber of Commerce.

It was understood that the County Board of Supervisors have appropriated sufficient funds to equip the school and that the building which has been used as headquarters by E. B. Davies, engineer of work at the dam, will be converted into the schoolhouse.

In conjunction with the Glendora school board, the Chamber of Commerce presented the necessity of a school at the dam, before the Board of Supervisors last week.

"As long as the dam site is within the Glendora school district we were confronted with the problem of serving more than thirty school children, who, unless the school is established at the dam, would be forced to travel up and down the canyon daily by bus to local schools," Wirt Williams, Superintendent of Glendora Schools, declared today. "With the increase of traffic in the canyon next year when actual construction of the dam will begin, the daily trips of the school children would be hazardous and inconvenient, especially in bad weather, he said.

Further investigation revealed that the Supervisors would have to increase the first appropriation of $1500, in order that the school be amply equipped, which has caused the delay. However, it is expected that the Supervisors will appropriate the necessary funds, according to school officials.

LONG ILLNESS FATAL TO ADVERTISING MAN

GLENDALE, Aug. 6.—Harrison Anderson, a member of the advertising staff of the Glendale News-Press, died at his home, 209 West Milford street, last night after an illness of several weeks, aged 56 years. Anderson was born in Missouri and was educated at Richmond University, Richmond, Va., where he was a member of Phi Kappa Sigma Fraternity, and after leaving college he joined his father, John D. Anderson, of Nashville, Tenn., in the coal business, making his home there for many years.

HIGHER TAX VALUE INCREASES REVENUE

ONTARIO, Aug. 6.—Although the tax rate for Ontario is to be the same for the fiscal year as last year, the city will have $12,689.43 more to spend, due to the increased assessed valuation.

City Council last night gave the tax rate ordinance first reading, setting the new city rate at $1.83 and the old city rate at $1.85, both the same as last year.

The increased valuation, however, gives the city $116,438.47. Last year's amount was $103,749.04.

RESEDA SCOUTS TO BE IN LEGION MARCH

RESEDA, Aug. 6.—A troop of twenty-six Boy Scouts in full uniform will go to San Diego this month to attend the American Legion convention. They will be accompanied by a large representation of members from the local Legion post. The Scout troop is sponsored by the post, which recently bought the uniforms for the boys, so the Scouts could take part in the parade scheduled for the 20th inst.

GIANT PROJECT FINISHED

Dalton Flood Prevention Dam is Second of Its Type Yet Constructed

GLENDORA, Aug. 6.—Establishing record-breaking time in dam construction, the county flood-control dam in Big Dalton Canyon, north of this city, will be fully completed by the last of the week, according to A. B. Dunn, engineer of work.

Actual pouring of concrete did not begin until July 14, 1928, Dunn said, when the H. W. Rohl Company, contractors of the dam, put on a crew of ninety-five men.

Dalton dam is only the second of its type ever constructed, according to officials, and is of the multiple arch design with six arches and hollow buttresses connecting with gravity sections at either end. The dam is a mighty structure 140 feet from the stream bed, 750 feet long, and it required 45,944 cubic yards of cement, or 199,659 sacks.

Although the dam is to be used for flood-control purposes only, 1100 acre feet of water could be impounded behind its gates, Dunn said.

The dam, which represents a cost of approximately $1,250,000, will be one of the greatest assets to this part of the San Gabriel Valley inasmuch as flood waters will now be controlled instead of flooding orchards and doing damage to property near Dalton wash.

Located several hundred feet behind its original location, the dam is securely fastened to bedrock on both sides and bottom. In the spring of 1928 engineers encountered trouble in locating bedrock on the east end of the original structure, which was condemned, and as yet remains. Whether the portion of the condemned dam will be dismantled is problematic, as officials have not definitely announced their intentions.

During the course of construction, several landslides at the dam site cost the lives of two workmen, and the destruction of steam shovels and other equipment. These serious accidents following the unsuccessful first attempts in excavation for bedrock, were discouraging to the contractors and county flood-control department, and caused long delays.

About thirty workmen remain on the job and are now dismantling building equipment for transportation from the canyon.

Firemen Meet in Convention at Fullerton

FULLERTON, Aug. 6.—Fullerton is all in readiness and in holiday attire as well for the opening of the California State Firemen's Association convention tomorrow. Today the advance brigade of delegates began to arrive and before noon tomorrow it is expected that the city's hotels as well as those in adjoining cities will be filled with the visitors. Something like 1500 delegates are expected to attend the convention during the three days' sessions.

The opening of the convention business sessions starts tomorrow afternoon with Gov. Young expected to make the principal address. Others on the program include Senators Rochester and Wright of Los Angeles, Merriam of Long Beach and Assemblyman Ted Craig of Brea. Jay Stevens, State fire marshal of San Francisco, is also on the program, which will be presided over by Capt. A. W. Meyers of Los Angeles as president of the State association.

The three days' program is filled with business sessions and various entertainment features. The convention is sponsored by the Orange County Firemen's Association.

Best Soldier Awarded Prize

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 6.—Selected as the best-drilled and all around soldier at the R.O.T.C. summer camp at Del Monte, Frank T. Jones, son of Lloyd F. Jones, 1105 South Indiana street, Los Angeles, has been awarded the annual San Diego Army and Navy Academy scholarship, according to Col. Thomas A. Davis, academy president. Young Jones will enter the local academy next fall and will prepare for West Point examination, he said.

The other scholarship is awarded to the best all-around soldier at Fort MacArthur, San Pedro, and announcement of the winner will be made in a few days, Col. Davis said.

CHINESE INJURED

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 6.—A Chinese believed by police to have been I. No. Hop, was slightly bruised last night when he was struck by a car driven by Mrs. C. M. Watts of 624 Sultan avenue at Chapala and Dugerro streets when the Chinese failed to step out of the way of the car. Mrs. Watts told police the man started across the street and when she approached the intersection he stopped and jumped back into the fenders. He was able to go home.

Orange County Citrus Output Breaks Record

ORANGE, Aug. 6.—With the 1929 Valencia crop, the greatest in the district's history, little less than half moved, shipments from the Orange County Fruit Exchange on the 1st inst. have surpassed the entire 1928 output by approximately eighty-five cars, according to figures compiled by the exchange.

The shipments to date aggregate 2866 cars of oranges, as compared with 2871 cars shipped for the entire season last year.

The exceptionally heavy crop has been little less than half moved, it is estimated by L. D. Palmer, manager, who indicated that the season might run into early November before all the fruit can be cleaned up. The big volume of fruit is tending to offset to some extent, at least, the lower prices prevailing on the market this year as compared to high prices obtained last season.

This was indicated by the fact that despite the low market exchange sales up to the 1st inst. totaled $3,177,158.08, approximately $300,000 below receipts for the corresponding period a year ago, when the sales amounted to $3,477,103.44.

SMOKE VALUED AT FIVE DOLLARS

Upland Judge Makes Some Allowance for Young Man's Forethought

UPLAND, Aug. 6.—Even though he was completely surrounded by water when he lit up and began puffing a cigarette in Cucamonga Canyon, the privilege of smoking in the restricted area was worth $5 and J. D. McKee, son of J. W. McKee, foreman of the Cucamonga Water Company, paid it.

McKee, according to H. F. Burbank, deputy forest ranger, was standing knee deep in the waters of Cucamonga Creek, nonchalantly smoking a cigarette. He did this, he told the officer, as a precautionary measure against starting a mountain fire. The precaution was worthy of commendation, Judge George R. Crane said, but the smoke was worth $5.

FIFTH CLASS CITIES PLAN CONFERENCE

Desired Enactments by Next Legislature Will be Outlined

VENTURA, Aug. 6.—A committee comprising City Attorney Fourt as exofficio member, Councilman Albro, chairman, and three others to be appointed by him, was authorized by the City Council last night to confer with representatives of the other three cities of the fifth class in California concerning charter legislation which would be of interest to all of them.

Existing cities of the fifth class in California are Oroville, Santa Ana, Woodland and Ventura. Although two years yet remain before State legislation concerning the matters to be discussed can be obtained, it was felt expedient to prepare and agree upon prospective measures as soon as possible.

It was understood that the other cities, Woodland in particular, have indicated a desire to meet for this purpose. Councilman Albro suggested that some working plans should be in readiness to be taken up at the meeting of the California League of Municipalities on October 7 to 11.

Wilton Heads City Planners

POMONA, Aug. 6.—W. J. Wilton was today elected to the presidency of the City Planning Commission which was recently appointed by the City Council. A. C. Philpott was selected as secretary with the following as members: Mrs. Montrose McCanne, A. B. Marshall, F. C. Froehde, E. G. Stahlman, J. A. Allard, Jr. and Mayor Caves. It was determined that meetings will be held twice each month.

Following the election of officers, the planners were shown maps which had been approved by a former group, but which had never been submitted to the City Council. City Engineer Froehde urged members to study these maps so that various changes might be suggested, the maps redrafted and submitted to the council for approval.

COUNCIL PLANS TO TREAT SICK TREES

ONTARIO, Aug. 6.—With reports of surveys made by two authorities on tree culture, filed with City Manager Austin Burt regarding the condition of the 600 pepper trees on Euclid avenue, City Council and the Park Commission are making plans to restore the trees to health.

Both survey reports declare the 600 trees in weakened condition and in need of prompt attention. The Davey Tree Surgery Company proposes three methods for restoring the trees to a vigor which will not necessitate their removal. One is chemical treatment of the soil at $5 per tree; another is pruning the trees and otherwise building them up at approximately $8 per tree. The third proposal was installation of a root drainage system, to cost about $20 per tree.

The "hospital bill" for the trees would reach approximately $19,800 if this plan is adopted. No action has been taken yet on how the city is going to preserve the trees if they are endangered by fungus and other tree diseases.

SURGEONS AVERT TOTAL BLINDNESS

UPLAND, Aug. 6.—Although she has lost the sight of her right eye physicians at San Antonio Community Hospital here are hopeful they will save the left eye for Mrs. Lucille Credelle, former Cucamonga girl, who was critically injured in an automobile crash several weeks ago.

It was unknown for a number of days whether Mrs. Credelle would become totally blind from her injuries. Due to her close approach to death in the crash an operation was impossible until recently. The operation resulted in loss of vision in the right eye, but today when she could tell when a gleam of light passed before her left eye physicians took hope that Mrs. Credelle will not become totally blind.

GIRARD SETS PACE IN TREE PLANTING

GIRARD, Aug. 6.—This West San Fernando Valley town is setting the pace for all other towns in Southern California in the matter of tree planting. Within two or three more years, residents say, the entire place will be offset by a background of dense foliage. When the town first started the tree-planting program was begun. Since then it has been the rule to set out at least 250 shade trees each month. Thousands of these plantings now beautify the whole area. Property owners here say that acreage which is set off with shade trees usually brings a price between 20 and 30 per cent more than a tract not improved in such a way.

SUIT THREATENED AGAINST ONTARIO

ONTARIO, Aug. 6.—Unless the city of Ontario at once removes a "dip" at the intersection of H street and Campus avenue Harry D. Gritzner of Long Beach will sue the city for damages resulting from a jolt over the dip recently.

In a communication to city officials Gritzner declared he received such a bump on the head when he was thrown about in his car in crossing the dip that he was incapacitated for several days. The only way the city can escape a legal battle is by removing the dip, his communication declares.

The matter has been referred to the City Attorney.

AUTO DUTY CUT BY REPUBLICANS

Reductions in Tariff of from 25 to 10 Per Cent Made

Eliminating Countervailing Clause Reaffirmed

More Hearings on Sugar Scheduled Today

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee Republicans, engaged in amending the House tariff bill, today reduced the duty on automobiles from 25 to 10 per cent and reaffirmed their previous action in eliminating the existing countervailing clause permitting the United States to raise its motor-vehicle tariff to meet foreign levies.

By the change, trucks valued at less than $1000 also would be dutiable at 10 per cent, but trucks worth more than $1000 and busses intended to carry ten or more persons would bear the 25 per cent rate.

The existing law, which the House bill did not change, provides a duty of 25 per cent on all motor vehicles and the countervailing arrangement.

Previously, the tariff framers had eliminated only the countervailing clause. The cut in duty decided upon today, they say, was made after it was learned that Alvan Macauley, president of the Packard Motor Company and the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, had reversed his position and had agreed to both the duty reduction and countervailing clause elimination.

REASONS GIVEN

Macauley, together with representatives of other automobile manufacturers, recently appeared before the full finance committee in response to an invitation by Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania and expressed a willingness to the reduction to 10 per cent, but argued for retention of the countervailing provision.

Committee members declared the reason for excepting more expensive heavy-duty trucks and busses from the lower duty is the fact that these products are built on order and are not on a mass production basis.

The House rates on wall paper, sensitized and photographic paper also were eliminated during today's revision process and existing duties restored to the bill.

Chairman Smoot was less optimistic about the prospects of having the measure in final form by the 19th inst., when the Senate reconvenes, declaring it appears now to be impossible to complete the work by that time. Unless the bill is ready, the Senate will meet and recess over three-day periods.

MEASURE SCORED

Criticising the measure, Senator Swanson, Democrat, Virginia, in a statement issued through the Democratic National Committee, declared it "bestows on the manufacturing interests a higher tariff than ever before enjoyed by them," and would "greatly increase the extortion practice by specially favored manufacturing interests at the expense of the consuming public."

Swanson said the Commerce Department year book on business and international trade published a few days ago "completely vindicates" the contention of those opposed to the increases in the House bill.

"The great increases contemplated in this bill cannot be justified if the statements of the Department of Commerce are true," the Virginia Senator added.

EUROPEANS OBJECT

Private industries of Europe continued today to find fault with the House tariff bill, eight commercial groups in five countries protesting to the Senate Finance Committee through diplomatic channels upon proposed increased duties on a score of commodities.

All of the complaints, which supplemented about fifty already in the committee files, were couched in the same general terms and forecast serious injury to international trade in event the new rates are adopted.

Great Britain, Holland, Portugal, Finland and Latvia joined in the latest protest as the Finance Committee Republicans put in another long day of toil in revising the House measure.

Future night sessions were abandoned for the present, but in their stead Chairman Smoot ordered meetings to begin at 9:30 and end at 6 o'clock.

The tariff framers completed the revision of two more schedules—rayon and paper and books—during the seven hours they worked today, leaving only the sundries, wool and sugar sections, the free list, and administrative provisions to be studied. Few changes are said to have been made in the rayon and paper and books schedules and it is understood no reductions were effected in the rayon rates.

SUGAR UP TOMORROW

Sugar will come up again tomorrow with resumption of public hearing by the full committee to take testimony on Senator Smoot's sliding-scale tariff proposal, calling for duties of from 1 to 3 cents a pound on raw sugar, the rates changing as the wholesale refined price goes up or down.

T. O. Gallagher of Toledo, W. R. Ogg, assistant legislative representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation, and H. H. Pike, Jr., of New York, representing the Hershey interests in Cuba, will be among those appearing to testify on the scale. Chairman Smoot has said he will abandon the project if his Republican colleagues on the committee do not approve of it.

Democratic members of the committee and some Republicans already have expressed opposition to the plan, while western and southern interests also have signified dissatisfaction with it.

HUGGING HINTS: WAIST NORMAL

Gallivanting Belts Settle in Comfortable Curve Right Where They Belong

PARIS, Aug. 6. (AP)—A woman's waist again is something more than a figure of speech in the world of style. After years of wandering belts have settled down in a comfortable curve called the "normal waistline," and there they will stay, temporarily, by almost unanimous agreement of the most important dress designers of Paris.

Final doubts about the upward flight of waistlines were dispelled yesterday when a famous woman dressmaker who took normal waistlines out of fashion put them back again.

Hines, commandant, will present the decoration at a ceremony at Crissy Field the 16th inst.

Few over 40 know these important facts

Doctors urge this important safeguard against an increasing menace to health that gives no warning.

The Medical profession has come to this conclusion about the age of 40 being the turning point in health:

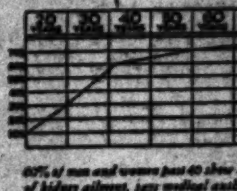
Over half the people past 40 are afflicted with kidney ailment in varying degree. Caused, it says, by overwork of these vital organs. 75% of poisonous waste from the body is excreted by the kidneys, much of it in too concentrated form. Break down of tissue is inevitable. Kidneys become clogged, throwing back into the system poisons which should be eliminated.

Kidney ailments thus become the underlying factor of some of our most serious ills.

One of the most potent correctives to this increasingly prevalent ailment that the Medical Profession knows is pure mineral-free water. Drink six full glasses of Puritas each day, with and between meals.

First, it dilutes the poisonous waste, absorbs and washes it away, thus lightening the load of kidneys.

Then, because Puritas water is mineral-free it leaves no deposit of minerals in kidneys, thus preventing additional burden.



60% of men and women past 40 show signs of kidney ailment, says medical authority

Puritas is freed of all minerals and impurities by scientific distillation and aeration. It is by chemical analysis, water in its purest state. Doctors urge Puritas as health-protection to both adults and children. Though its taste you'll find different at first, each drink becomes increasingly enjoyable.

Telephone TRinity 1861 for prompt Puritas delivery anywhere in Southern California. A Puritas iceless cooler furnished free.

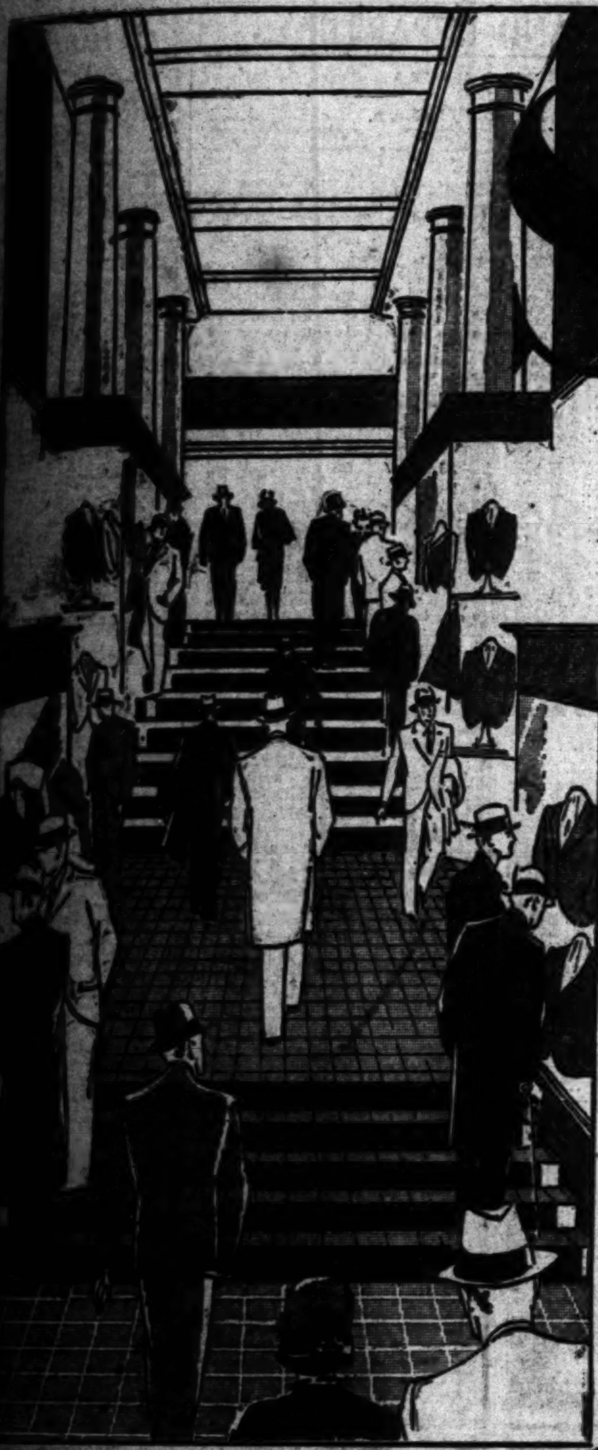
If You Wear Clothes—Read This!



Stop and consider, WHY IS A "SALE"?

OUT of a thousand and one possible reasons for a clothing sale you can bet the buttons on your vest and win on this: It's the "left-overs" of a stock that did not sell at a higher price so must be forced out at a lower price before the season ends. The average clothing merchant must guess his future needs and order far ahead. And he's a good guesser who doesn't find his store cluttered up with "left-overs" at the end of a season. He's got to sell this merchandise—how does he do it? Cuts prices and has a sale. Foreman & Clark whipped that problem by controlling manufacture as well as retail selling of F & C clothes. Instead of buying for each season we receive shipments daily, direct from our own factories. And our stock turns 6 times a year—no "left-overs," no reason for sales!

No,
We Don't Have "Sales"
YES,
Fall Models Are In

We have no "tag-ends" of the season to move out via the special sale rcute. Instead of sales here are new Fall models that others may show four to six weeks hence. No advance season penalty prices—always the same $20, $25 and $35—showing far less profit than most "sale" prices!

Ask these Questions Before You Buy a Suit "On Sale"—

1. Is this a new season model or a "left-over"?
2. Was this suit purchased just for sale purposes?
3. If not, how long have you had it in stock?
4. What was your original mark-up on this garment?
5. Was it not marked up at the beginning of the season so it could be marked down now?
6. Is it really worth any more than your "sale" price?
7. Could you not sell it at the "sale" price any day in the year and still make a good profit?
8. Will you guarantee that the suit I buy today will not be offered at a still lower price tomorrow?

Ask US—We'll Answer These Questions Gladly

Trade Upstairs and

Foreman & Clark prices don't change with the weather. We don't mark prices up at the start of the season so can't mark them down at the end. What is more, we guarantee to save you $10 over any one store or chain store clothing, upstairs or down—any day in the year!

Season In and Season Out These Stairways Lead to Savings!

But savings tell only a small part of the story. Stairways to style, to service, to satisfaction! Over 19 years ago we started the men of America walking up these broad blue and white stairs—stairs that changed the clothes buying habits of the nation! Eight out of 10 men who come up these stairs and buy come back again and again.

WAR MEMORIAL STIRS MARINES

Yankee Division Chapel Too Near Belleau Wood

Gen. Harbord Says Critics Justified in Stand

Boston ex-Officer Explains Veterans' Attitude

NEW YORK, Aug. 6. (Exclusive) Nearly eleven years after the war veterans of the Second Division, A.E.F., who have returned to this country after revisiting the fields where they fought, are saying that some representatives of the Twenty-sixth (Yankee) Division have, in marine parlance, "pulled a fast one."

A memorial church has been built by the Yankee Division veterans within a shadow's length of Belleau Wood, whose name rang through the world when the marine brigade of the Second Division and the advancing Germans battled desperately for its possession.

RECAPTURED WOOD

In a series of attacks the marine brigade recaptured Belleau Wood, which the French had just lost in the last drive on Paris in May, 1918, and suffered great losses owing to the nature of the defenses in the wood and the determined resistance of division after division of German troops hastily thrown into the breach.

Now, in August, 1929, veterans of the Second are saying that the commanders of the Twenty-sixth, of New England, are trying to take Belleau Wood from them.

The Yanks deny it. They insist that they only have reconstructed the village church of the township of Belleau as a memorial to their dead, and that it is done in Belleau as they did some fighting in that vicinity after Belleau Wood had been emptied of Germans and they had relieved the Second Division, whose advanced lines then commanded the town of Belleau, which lies in the valley below the wood.

HARBORD COMMENTS

"As much as I deplore post-war controversy and with due respect for the fighting record of the Twenty-sixth," said Gen. J. G. Harbord, commander of the marine brigade during the attack, and now president of the Radio Corporation of America, "I feel that the opinion held by former members of the Second Division is entirely justified.

"The placing of a memorial by another division almost at the gateway of Belleau Wood will distort history for posterity. The Yankee Division did fine work in many places, where its glory is undisputed and is unmistakably its own."

The marines want to know why the Twenty-sixth should build a church nearly a mile from its old battered position and as near Belleau Wood as possible on the main approach to the cemetery and wood.

Why, they ask, pick out a town where the losses of the Yankee division were comparatively slight? Why, they inquire further, not select some other town among the many captured by the Twenty-sixth, where its claims are clear.

Veterans of the Second assert that the reason is in that Belleau Wood is one of the conspicuous battle names in the history of the A.E.F. Its associations are immortal. The marines insist that their successors in the area are seeking honors they do not deserve.

In all the history of the Marine Corps there is no such battle as that of Belleau Wood. Fighting day and night without relief, without sleep, often without water and for days without hot rations, the marines met and defeated the best divisions the Germans could throw into the lines.

For this fighting epic the Fourth Marine Brigade was cited and tribute paid it by a grateful French government, for the name of the wood was changed officially to "Bois De La Brigade Marine."

The Twenty-sixth Division's memorial church is to be dedicated in October.

VERSION OF YANKEE DIVISION SET FORTH

BY JOSEPH F. DINEEN

[Copyrighted, 1929, Nana]

BOSTON, Aug. 6. — "These marines think that they won the war and they didn't even have a full division over there. They had only two brigades. All the rest were M.P.'s in Paris and elsewhere. They're the greatest bunch of advertisers in the world."

These are the words of Lieut. Carroll J. Swan, a former officer of the Twenty-sixth Division, and president of "The Y.D. Club" (Yankee Division Club) when the suggestion for a memorial in Belleau was made two years ago.

Lieut. Swan is at present serving on several committees working on the memorial. He went to France and assisted in the arrangements for it. He was chairman of the committee which raised the funds for the memorial, obtaining more than $50,000, of which the public contributed not a nickel.

LONG UNDER WAY

He says that the construction of the memorial has been under way for two years and that the marines are rather late in waking up to it. He also says that the fireworks concerning the memorial probably are traceable to a story in a recent issue of the American Legion Monthly, which told the story of the "Yd Memorial" in Belleau.

"It is absurd for the marines to say that we are taking any of the glory away from them," Lieut. Swan said. "In the first place we are not erecting a memorial in Belleau Wood. We are erecting one in the town of Belleau, near the woods, a town which the Twenty-sixth Division captured.

"We are reconstructing there a church which we demolished by our own artillery fire. The Germans were using it at the time for a machine gun position. It was six or seven hundred years old and we are replacing it as our tribute to the men we lost in that fight. A tablet will appear on it giving the names of all our casualties.

"It is being erected with the full permission and support of the French civil and military authorities and societies and with the approval of our own government. We have been working on it for more than three years and the marines are rather late in finding it out.

"It is true that the marines were in Belleau Wood," continued the lieutenant. "But they didn't advance there. They merely held the line. We relieved the marines on July 5, 1918, and held the line until July 18, 1918, when we advanced and took among other things the town of Belleau. Our division captured that town. The marines didn't. They were never in the town. We went on for about eighteen and a half kilometers.

"Our memorial committee first went over the six sectors over which we had fought. They decided that our severest fighting was in Belleau and that there was the greatest accomplishment of our division. We lost more men and gained more ground there. It was the longest gain made by any allied division up to that time in the World War. Our division held the whole sector and then advanced and captured the German positions.

"The Fifty-second Brigade was prominent in this fight, so our committee decided upon this memorial.

DEDICATION PLANNED

"We do not want to enter into a controversy with the Second Division Regular Army officers. The trouble is the Second Division was of the 'Regular Army,' while the Twenty-sixth Division was a National Guard, a volunteer division. As a matter of fact, we were just as regular as they were and more so. We were well trained. The Second Division was officered by Regular Army officers. Some of the noncoms were Regular Army men, but most of them were new at the game.

"We're going back to Belleau on September 28, next, to dedicate the church," said the lieutenant in conclusion. "It has been a long time in the process of construction and it appears to me that it is rather late in the game now to criticise."

PERSHING REFUSES TO DISCUSS CHAPEL

PARIS, Aug. 6. (Exclusive)—Gen. Pershing today categorically refused to discuss the Belleau Wood chapel erected by the Twenty-sixth Division. He would not confirm or deny that he and Gen. Harbord had corresponded about the affair.

CROKER SOUGHT IRISH HAVEN

Application for Citizenship in Free State Written by ex-Tammany Chief

MIAMI (Fla.) Aug. 6. (AP)—A letter purportedly written by Richard Croker, late Tammany Hall chieftain, to Arthur Griffith, first President of the Irish Free State, making application to become a citizen of the Free State, was before the United States District Court today as concluding testimony in the suit to establish heirs to valuable Palm Beach properties was being heard.

Attorneys for Mrs. Bula Croker, the widow, introduced the letter in an effort to prove the Tammany leader had made plans to become a Free State citizen shortly before his death in Ireland, April 29, 1922.

CHINESE PAVING WAY TO PEACE

[Copyright, 1929, by the Chicago Tribune]

HARBIN, Aug. 6. (Exclusive)—Chu Shao-Yang, former Chinese Charge d'Affaires at Moscow, who is representing the Nationalist government in the Chinese Russian negotiations, arrived here this morning from Nanking and spent the day in conference with local officials. He departed this afternoon for Manchouli where he is scheduled to meet the soviet delegate M. Melnikoff.

Chu Shao-Yang refused to divulge the result of the conferences with the local officials or the nature of his instructions from Nanking, but indicated that the opinions of the Nanking and Mukden governments are unified in regard to the terms of settlement. He did not state whether they have agreed to the terms of the local Harbin officials, who precipitated the original trouble through the raid on the soviet Consulate at Harbin.

While local Chinese officials profess optimism of a peaceful settlement, they declare that even with the impossibility of an outbreak of war no changes will be made pertaining to defense measures in the vicinity of Hailar, which is the Chinese chief military outpost on the Chinese side of the Siberian border.

A foreign merchant stationed at Hailar telegraphed today stating that Gen. Chang Tso-Hsiang had sent another regiment of cavalry to Hailar while the construction of trenches and other defenses continue.

REPORT OF STIMSON NOTE CAUSES COMMENT

MOSCOW, Aug. 6. (AP)—Publication of a Tass news agency dispatch from Vienna reporting that Secretary of State Stimson was asserted to have sent a "secret" note to the great powers concerning the creation of an international commission for untying the soviet-Chinese railway tangle has caused much comment here.

On July 25 Secretary Stimson was reported to have sent an identic-aide memoire to the diplomatic representatives of Great Britain, France, Japan, Italy and Germany which was understood to have related to the projected negotiations between Russia and China over the Chinese Eastern situation. The exact terms of this were not made public but it was rumored that the Secretary was concerned with having China restore the status quo ante as a preliminary to negotiations. Although these reports were cabled from the United States to Moscow at that time, the Vienna dispatch mentioned in today's Moscow cable may have had its origin in the July 25 report.

WASHINGTON MUM ON REPORTS IN MOSCOW

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—Officials of the State Department declined to comment today on reports from Moscow that Secretary Stimson in a note to the principal powers interested in China had urged the formation of an international commission to settle the dispute between China and Russia.

CANADA TREATY NEED STRESSED

Dominion Expert Asks More Than Kellogg Pact

Animosities for Americans Told at Institute

Caribbean Loans Shown as Cause of Trouble

WILLIAMSTOWN (Mass.) Aug. 6. (AP)—The need of a separate arbitration treaty between the United States and Canada, in addition to the Kellogg pact, was urged today by Dean P. E. Corbett of McGill University, international relations expert.

Speaking before the Canadian American relations round table of the Institute of politics, Dean Corbett said: "There should be a simple, frank treaty between the United States and Canada which will carry disputes between the two nations to arbitration.

PACT NOT ADEQUATE

"The Kellogg pact does not cover the situation because its agreed reservations are vague and little understood, and so much has been written about it that very few people have much confidence in it when it comes to specific matters.

"There is a sense of anxiety in Canada, especially among business men whose interests are divided between the two countries, because there are many gaps in the treaties which now exist between the United States and Canada.

"All types of disputes are not covered by any treaty. If there were a separate treaty between the two countries that anxiety could be disposed of."

LOANS CAUSE TROUBLE

There are times, said Dean Corbett, when in Canada there is much animosity against the United States and in such times a treaty between the two countries would safeguard the feelings of the people.

Prof. Harry T. Collings of the University of Pennsylvania, former special agent in the Latin-American division of the Department of Commerce, said foreign loans are the chief source of trouble in the Caribbean area.

"Borrowed funds—and they total a vast amount—are not used for railroad construction or highway building, but are squandered," said Prof Collings. "Caribbean loans are appropriated for unfair or undesirable or personal ends. They have led to dissension and trouble both because of the way they were spent and because they were so heavy that the people couldn't repay them.

"If the Caribbean area is ever to have an economic standing it must be kept free from foreign loans."

LILLIE COIT GIVES FUND TO BAY CITY

Famed Belle of Sixties Wills Part of Fortune to Beautify San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6. (AP)—The will of the late Mrs. Lillie Hitchcock Coit, famed belle of the sixties, who died here recently, bequeathed approximately $150,000 to the city of San Francisco to improve and beautify it. The estate of the one-time beauty, the only woman ever honored with a membership in the old San Francisco Fire Department, was appraised at $573,810 on April 25. The will directed that one-third of the residue, after all bequests are made, be given to the city.

The University of California and the University of Maryland are each to receive a third of the residue, or about $150,000 each. Mrs. Coit asked that $5000 be given to each living member of the old Knickerbocker fire company and $50,000 for a monument to the volunteer firemen of California, to be executed by Haig Patiagan.

Prince George's Health Alarms

LONDON, Aug. 7. (Wednesday) (AP)—The Daily News today says that it learns that the royal family is somewhat anxious about the health of Prince George, youngest son of the King. The Prince left the Navy because of his health and went into the Foreign Office. This is said not to have benefited him but rather to have caused his present indisposition.

Prince George, who is 26 years of age, was prevented by illness from keeping an engagement July 19, last, and his brother, the Duke of Gloucester, said that the Prince might have to go away and take a brief cure.

Congress Race Running Close

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 6. (Exclusive)—Numa F. Montet, Thibodaux lawyer and Democrat, had a lead of less than 500 votes over M. E. Norman, Mayor of Morgan City and Republican, in the election today to name a successor to Whit P. Martin, who was elected as a Progressive Representative and who died a short time ago.

The Republicans made a great campaign to win the district sending Frank Reid and Dewey Short of Missouri here to stump the district for Republicans while Gov. Long led the speakers for Montet.

Three Killed in Plane Crash

CAMPBELLSVILLE (Ky.) Aug. 6. (AP)—A barnstorming student pilot's airplane crashed in the center of the business district here late today and the younger flyer and two local business men were killed.

The dead were Francis Mitchell, 25 years of age, the pilot, Louisville; Carl E. Carter, 23, drug store owner, and Flave Courts, 23, clerk in Carter's store.

PORT PROBLEM BRINGS ACTION

Steps Taken to Do Away With Clutter of Piping

Blocking of Harbor Streets Cause of Troubles

Fish Canneries on Verge of Great Merger

BY WAYNE B. CAVE

The problem of pedestrians climbing over and motorists driving around 1,000,000 tons of pipe and steel cluttering up highways at the port has become so acute that something at last is going to be done about it.

Two or three years ago permission to store such shipments in the middle and along the edges of the port streets was granted on representations it was a momentary flurry of incoming pipe, merely to last a few weeks. The flurry has become chronic and, according to Harbor Department officials, vehicular communication to and from certain docks has become almost impossible because of huge piles of pipe protruding everywhere. Accidents likewise have been credited to these obstructions.

A solution is sought first, voluntarily from the Los Angeles Steamship Association, which has called a meeting for this afternoon for that purpose. Their findings in turn will reach the Harbor Department for final disposition.

"We have been patient a long time, but the situation has reached a point of near-paralysis of transportation and accessibility to many terminals," declared Burt Edwards, port manager yesterday.

"One solution would be a separate pipe terminal. It would require shifting of vessels from their regular docks, but that is practiced in many ports where ships have specialized cargo.

"Congestion is particularly bad on two piers in Wilmington where passenger line terminals attract thousands of cars, but even at the new and elaborate terminals on Terminal Island the other day more than a score of potential passengers never did reach a liner in time to sail on her, because of this pipe congestion."

Preliminary maneuvers are under way, which, if successful, will bring together most of the fish cannery companies of Los Angeles-Long Beach harbors, Monterey and San Diego into one merger with assets of several million dollars.

The project still is in tentative form, but is said to have behind it several unnamed Los Angeles and San Francisco investment bankers, represented in the negotiations by F. G. Bullock of San Francisco and K. F. Joerrisen, former Los Angeles canner.

Heads of all but three Los Angeles-Long Beach canneries are said to have committed themselves more or less favorably, as have nearly all at San Diego and three at Monterey. No agreements yet have been signed, however. Van Camp Sea Food Company, Inc.; Curtis Packing Corporation and Franco-Italian Packing Company are said to be the only local firms not in such proposition.

Entry of the different companies, it is said, would be accomplished by trading their assets in part for stock in the merger company, and receiving part in cash. A fishing fleet valued at more than $1,000,000 would be absorbed by the new concern.

"The need for more adequately financing the fishing industry in its expansion trend," is declared the reason for the proposed merger, which would have a working capital of perhaps $2,000,000. Details must be worked out, and the interested elements brought into agreement, a labor which is expected to require at least three months for realization.

Launching yesterday at the Belfast yards of Harland and Wolff of the White Star Line's 27,000-ton motorliner Brittanic was announced in cable advices received by W. F. Ohlson, Los Angeles manager of the International Mercantile Marine Company. Mr. Ohlson said launching of the Brittanic could be regarded as a definite victory for Diesel engines over steam propulsion, since she is the first motor-driven I.M.M. liner and the largest Diesel-propelled vessel under the British flag.

The new ship, 680 feet long and with accommodations for 1500 cabin passengers, will take her place early next spring on the New York-Boston-Queenstown-Liverpool run.

One hundred cabin passengers from New York and the Spanish Americas arrived yesterday afternoon aboard the Panama Mail liner Colombia, the ship also bringing in 3500 tons of freight, including 1000 tons of East Coast products and consignments of coffee, sugar and tobacco from Central America.

Prominent among her passengers was Edward H. Crosby, dramatic and literary critic of the Boston Post, with Mrs. Crosby; Hugh de Laussat Willoughby, Jr., socially prominent at Newport and Palm Beach, accompanied by his wife and their son, Hugh Willoughby, III; Mrs. F. R. Peixotto, woman financial wizard of New York, with her daughter, Helen; J. Warren Laughlin, Brooklyn capitalist, on his first vacation in eighteen years, with Mrs. Laughlin and their daughter, Ruth; and Miss Ella Sullivan, Chicago educator.

Hermana, new seventy-foot express Diesel cruiser being built by the Harbor Boat Building Company for Charles C. Perkins and Tod Ford, will be launched on the 10th inst. With Capt. L. A. Waters in command she will make an extended fishing cruise to the Gulf of California in the early autumn.

Designed by D. M. Callis, she is the first Pacific yacht with the new "wish-bone" stern and is to be driven by two 170-horsepower model K Cummins high-speed engines, which are expected to give her a top speed of seventeen knots.

Extradition of Suspect Asked

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6. (Exclusive)—Gov. Young today communicated with the Secretary of the Navy relative to the extradition of George L. Templeton, under military arrest in Puget Sound, Washington, and wanted in Hanford on an embezzlement charge.

Templeton disappeared last May and recently was discovered in the Navy. His arrest followed. He is wanted on twenty-three counts of embezzlement and is charged directly with having appropriated $3000.

The money is asserted to have been taken from the Hanford Laundry and Dry Cleaning Company for which Templeton was employed as bookkeeper.

POND'S DEATH BROADCAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6. (AP)—Radio broadcast was made today of the news of the death of Rear-Admiral Charles Fremont Pond, U.S.N., retired, in the hope that it might reach the admiral's son, John E. Pond, and three grandsons, reported on a camping trip in the High Sierras.

Stanislaus Has Cheese Crown

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6. (AP)—Stanislaus county is the cheese center of California, having led all other counties in the manufacture of that product last year, according to the report of Dr. M. E. McDonald, chief of the bureau of dairy control.

Stanislaus county produced more than 1,000,000 pounds of cheese, about one-third more than the next largest producer, Humboldt county. Marin county ranked third, with Alameda, San Benito and Santa Clara counties next in order. A little more than 8,000,000 pounds of cheese was manufactured in the State last year, Dr. McDonald stated.

McKEON TO FORM NEW OIL CONCERN

Italo Petroleum Votes to Join in Venture; Other Companies Included

Directors of the Italo Petroleum Corporation of America announced yesterday, following a meeting of the board, that a proposal from John McKeon, well-known oil operator, for the consolidation of Italo with other companies, has been accepted. Mr. McKeon will head the new company as president and general manager.

Including in the merger, according to the announcement, are Italo Petroleum, Delaney Petroleum Corporation, Raleigh Oil Company, J. E. O'Donnell interests, and the Elberto Oil Company.

Italo Petroleum, it was stated, will receive $2,400,000 in cash and 57 per cent of the issued stock in the new company. The McKeon Oil Company, the name of the new organization, will have a capitalization of 1,150,000 shares of no par value common and $5,000,000 ten-year, 6½ per cent bonds, and no other liabilities. The working capital will amount to $1,000,000. Daily production of the company will run around 16,000 barrels daily above royalties.

New York and Chicago bankers, according to the announcement, are underwriting the merger. A meeting of stockholders of the Italo Petroleum Corporation has been called for the 23rd inst., to ratify the deal.

Cash Dividend Total in July Nearly at Top

Dividends paid on stocks listed on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange totaled $27,892,547 during July, the largest monthly total for all time, excepting December, 1928, when the figure reached $32,000,000, Carl P. Miller, secretary and manager of the exchange, announced yesterday.

Dividends paid during the first seven months of the current year reached an aggregate of $117,178,046, an increase of $17,601,974, or more than 17 per cent.

The miscellaneous division of the market accounted for the greatest portion of the July total at approximately $10,000,000. Utilities were next in line at $9,000,000 while oils ranked third with nearly $6,000,000.

Following is a comparative monthly table of dividends paid:

	1929.	1928.

At the time of the acquisition the Skinner Company had more than $400,000 in cash in its treasury. Skinner Company is the largest manufacturer of bumpers for automobiles in Canada.

NEW VOTING TRUST SOUGHT

Hydraulic Brake Interests Propose Holding Company to Control Stock; Fear Outside Buyers

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Steps have been taken by interests associated with the Hydraulic Brake Company, owners of the patents on the Lockheed brake, to form a voting trust for the control of the majority interest in the company. It was learned yesterday that letters have been mailed to stockholders outlining the voting trust program and asking for the deposit of shares with the voting trustees.

Officials of the company were reticent in discussing the plan for the voting trust, but from the text of the letter it appears there is a possibility of control passing to other hands. On the street it is understood that inquiries have been received by the company from prospective buyers, presumably motor manufacturers, which have led the Hydraulic management to believe that control may be sought in the open market.

On this point the letter to stockholders states:

MOTIVE EXPLAINED

"Information has reached us to the effect that outside interests have considered trying to obtain control of the Hydraulic Brake Company and no doubt such an arrangement, if accomplished, would not be entirely to the interests of the stockholders."

Apparently the motive behind the organization of the voting trust is to insure the retention of control by the present management and also to protect the interests of the minority in the event that an attractive offer to sell the company should be received and accepted. The voting trustees would be in a position to demand the same price for all stock, while if control were obtained by others in the open market the minority holders would not necessarily be offered an opportunity to sell their shares at favorable prices.

Officially the Hydraulic Brake Company does not appear in the voting trust proposal, although the letters to stockholders are written on the company's stationery. The letter is signed by F. E. Keeler, Gilbert S. Wright and William Henry Smith, describing themselves as stockholders.

HOLDING UNIT PLANNED

Under the plan submitted to stockholders, it is proposed to organize a holding company to hold not less than 50 1-2 per cent and not more than 60 per cent of the Hydraulic stock. The stock of the holding company would be listed and the shares would be traded in over the market in the same manner as the free stock, except that the shares of the holding company would not carry voting powers.

This is virtually the same plan under which the Union Oil Company operates. Union Oil Associates was organized several years ago to control the majority of the Union Oil shares in order to forestall the Royal Dutch-Shell interests in their reputed attempt to buy control in the open market. The necessary amount of stock was obtained by Union Oil Associates after a sharp struggle with the foreign interests.

More than seventy-five automobile manufacturers are using the Lockheed brake under licenses from the Hydraulic Brake Company. For the first six months of the year the company earned net profits of $212,-249 after all charges, equal to $4.77 a share on the outstanding stock. This compares with $3.40 earned in the first half of 1928.

Officers and directors of the Hydraulic Brake Company are H. L. Westbrook, president; W. E. Bintliff, vice-president and secretary; E. A. Featherstone, J. A. Jevne, Eugene Clark, W. G. Hutchison, L. D. Sale, C. W. Brown and H. M. Haldeman.

Daily Average Oil Production Rises Sharply

NEW YORK, Aug. 6. (AP)—The daily average gross crude-oil production in the United States increased 11,950 barrels for the week ended the 3rd inst., totaling 2,908,600 barrels, says the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute. The daily average production east of California was 2,046,300 barrels, an increase of 15,250 barrels.

Refineries representing 92.6 per cent of the estimated daily potential refining capacity, operating at 88.5 per cent of their capacity, reported daily average run of crude oil to stills as 2,642,400 barrels. Daily average the previous week was 2,612,200 barrels for refineries representing 91.4 per cent of potential capacity operating at 85.6 per cent of their capacity.

FINANCE CONCERNS IN DEAL

Fay Securities Company Disposes of Automobile Business Section

Purchase of the auto finance section of the Fay Securities Company by the Pacific Finance Corporation was announced yesterday. It is understood that a business of over $3,500,000 a year in automobile contracts changes hands through the purchase. The amount paid by Pacific Finance for the business was not revealed in the announcement made by O. Rey Rule, executive vice president of the purchasing company.

No other interests or subsidiary lines of the Fay company other than the auto finance business, which was established seven years ago, are affected by the deal, it was emphasized by Mr. Rule and George Hoover, manager for the Fay company.

Fay Securities Company, founded in 1905 by Frank P. Fay, head of the concern, in addition to its auto finance business is a large operator in real estate and has large holdings in downtown business property. It maintains offices in San Francisco as well as in the Fay Building in Los Angeles. The present personnel of the company, it was stated, will in no way be affected by the transaction with Pacific Finance.

Mr. Hoover said that a thorough survey of the local auto finance field had been made before it was decided in the best interests of the Fay company's dealer clientele to turn the goodwill and business of the auto unit over to Pacific Finance Corporation.

Telephone Net Earnings Off During June

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company showed an increase in gross earnings and a decrease in net earnings for the month of June as compared with the same month last year, according to a statement issued by the company yesterday. The gain in gross followed increased development and expansion in business, it was stated.

Net earnings in June, 1929, after interest was paid totaled $1,297,821, as against $1,408,641 in the same period of 1928, a decrease of $110,-820. Telephone operating revenues for the two months were respectively $8,385,515 and $7,701,777, the larger figure showing the effect of expanded business.

For the first half of 1929, the system's net earnings after interest amounted to $7,752,914, which compares with $7,008,213 in the similar period of the previous year.

Realty Bonds Offered Today

Public offering will be made today by S. W. Straus & Co. of a $1,000,000 first mortgage fee sinking fund 6 1-2 per cent bond issue on the J. B. Lyon Building Corporation of Albany, N. Y., according to an announcement yesterday. The bonds, which are priced at par and accrued interest, are dated July 1, 1929, and are due July 1, 1944. The property securing the bonds has been appraised by the Albany Realty Board at $1,630,186.34, it was stated.

A syndicate headed by Freeman, Smith & Camp Company, Pacific Coast investment banking house, is expected next week to offer a $4,000,000 issue of five-year 7 per cent convertible gold notes of the American Fuel and Power Company, according to Samuel B. Franklin, resident manager of the banking concern. The utility supplies natural gas in Ohio and Kentucky.

Chicago Bank Interests in New Concern

CHICAGO, Aug. 6. (Exclusive)—Formation of the National Republic Investment Trust by interests identified with the National Bank of the Republic of Chicago, was announced today. The new investment trust will be managed by eight trustees, all of whom are executive officers of the bank.

The authorized capitalization of the new company will consist of 120,000 convertible preference shares and 420,000 common shares, of which 100,000 convertible preferred shares and 280,000 common shares will be presently outstanding.

Public offering of 100,000 convertible preference shares and 100,000 common shares is expected to be made shortly by A. G. Becker & Co.

MILEY OIL COMPANY FINANCING SHORTLY

Details of the new financing for Miley Oil Company will be announced within a few days, Clifford De Lorme, vice-president, said yesterday. Mr. De Lorme stated that the reorganization of the company was practically completed.

RICHFIELD OIL INCOME JUMPS

Year's Dividend Fully Earned in First Half

Profits in Six Months Equal to $2.03 a Share

Depreciation, Etc., Charges Shown at $1.94 a Share

Earning of the full year's dividend in the first half of the year is disclosed in the semiannual report of the Richfield Oil Company of California released yesterday by James A. Talbot, chairman, and C. M. Fuller, president. Net profits for the six months ended June 30, last, totaled $4,246,397 after all charges, including depreciation, depletion, income tax, etc., the equivalent after preferred dividends to $2.03 a share on 1,922,310 shares of common stock outstanding.

In the first half of 1928 the company earned net profits of $1.75 a share on 1,615,237 shares. The earnings for the first six months of 1928, however, did not include Pan American Western Petroleum. Operations of Pan American Western were included in this year's report, but not the earnings of Richfield Oil Corporation of New York.

For the second quarter of this year the Richfield earnings, according to the report, were $1.14 a share after all charges and preferred dividends, as compared with 91 cents a share (excluding Pan American) in the quarter ended March 31, last, ones and had 7500 barrels daily shut computed on the basis of 1,917,386 shares.

NEW METHOD USED

An interesting departure in the report is the method of setting forth the amount of earnings allocated to reserves for depreciation, depletion, intangible drilling expense and abandonments. This figure is computed on a basis of the amount for each share outstanding, enabling stockholders to readily understand the policy of the company in this respect.

For the first half of this year the sum of $3,747,564 was set aside for Richfield and Pan American Western, the equivalent to $1.94 a share. This compares with $1.29 in the first half of 1928, excluding Pan American.

Net sales for the first six months of the year totaled $39,997,014, as compared with $20,420,945 in the first half of last year. Net operating income amounted to $9,324,101, against $5,685,188, the 1929 figures including Pan American Western and the 1928 figures excluding the subsidiary.

During the second quarter of the year the combined production of crude oil and casinghead gasoline, including Pan American, was 3,790,-000 barrels, as compared with 3,149,-000, excluding Pan American, in the first quarter of 1929. On June 30, last, Richfield was drilling eighteen new wells and deepening five old one, and had 7500 barrels daily shut in.

SALES BOOSTED

Second-quarter net sales amounted to $21,160,983 as compared with $18,836,031 for the first quarter, both figures including Pan American Western. Gasoline sales totaled 129,007,137 gallons as compared with 98,592,000 gallons for the first quarter, or a total of 227,599,137 gallons, including Pan American, for the first six months of 1929, as compared with 276,306,000 gallons sold in the entire year of 1928, excluding Pan American.

During the period covered by the report the Richfield Oil Corporation of New York was formed as a wholly owned subsidiary. This company owns several large distributing companies and has branches and distribution in 139 cities in the Atlantic Seaboard States. Earnings of this company, according to the report, are running at the annual rate of $1,000,000.

In June the Richfield Oil Company retired $10,266,000 6 per cent notes of the Pan American Company and $4,630,500 of Richfield 5½ per cent convertible notes, and about $5,000,000 of current obligations of the Pan American. The money was obtained from the sales of $25,000,-000 6 per cent convertible gold bonds.

The income account for the first six months of the year follows:

Net sales	$39,997,014	$20,420,945
Net operating income	9,324,101	5,685,188

COLLEGE BRED MEN PICKED

Nash Motor President, Farm Hand, Wants University Product in His Business

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1929, by North American Newspaper Alliance]

Charles W. Nash, president of Nash Motors Company, and formerly president of General Motors, has been talking recently about the college man and his place in business.

Mr. Nash wants the college man to go to work. He concedes that a man with a college degree can do any kind of work better than the uneducated man—if he is willing to soil his hands.

"The trouble is, though, that college men as a class seem to think that work of a kind that causes them to get their hands dirty is not the thing for them," says this automobile manufacturer.

"They are not above it; but they have the mistaken impression that this kind of work does not offer opportunities wherein they can use some of the things they learned during their years in school."

Mr. Nash started work without a college education. For eight years after his marriage he worked on a farm. But today, in his great plant at Kenosha, Wis., he is eager to get college men who have the right slant about work.

"Compel a boy to work from a reasonably early age and you have given him an asset of priceless value," Mr. Nash said. "Add to this a college education and he has an unbeatable combination."

Every college man who enters the Nash plant is required to start in the factory itself and not the office. It is easy enough to move from the factory into the office. And when the college man does he has mastered the first job.

College men just beginning business careers might well ponder these statements of this unusually successful man.

Installment selling, tried out in the United States more than ten years, is now one of the most effective means used for extending American trade abroad.

For many years a large number of American business men were inclined to question the ultimate success of the plan. One large automobile company spent a tremendous amount of money in a study of the question. Dr. E. A. Seligman of Columbia University was asked to make a close study of the problem for a group of American business leaders. His report was favorable.

Now one New York company finances abroad on the installment plan such widely different articles as air compressors, barber supplies, dental equipment, laundry machinery, furniture, roofing, talking machines, radios, vacuum cleaners and motion-picture projectors.

Term payments abroad are receiving large advertisement space in the papers, and the volume of sales testifies to their popularity. This is particularly true in France, Switzerland and England.

In Argentina American automobiles are forging ahead, primarily due to this type of partial payment. Finance companies handling automobile paper now report a turnover in such paper of about $12,-000,000 a month.

Some American observers believe such a method of selling will bring prosperity to the whole world.

Utility Offers Stock Rights

CHICAGO, Aug. 6. (Exclusive)—Central Public Service Corporation today announced Class A and common stockholders of record the 26th inst. will have the right to subscribe to one share of Class A stock at $40 a share for each four shares of Class A or common stock held. The rights will expire September 15, next.

The rights will be listed on the Chicago Stock Exchange and on the New York Curb market. Payment for additional stock may be made in three monthly installments.

SPIRITED RALLY FOLLOWS SLUMP

Break in Chicago Shakes New York Exchange

Confidence Restored as Call Money Market Falls

Utilities React in Line With Insull Depression

NEW YORK, Aug. 6. (AP)—Powerful banking interests came to the rescue of a tottering stock market today. Prices reacted sharply during the morning, as heavy selling was spilled into the market by a 12 per cent renewal rate for call loans, the break on the Chicago Stock Exchange, and a drop in wheat prices, but a sudden influx of funds carried the call money rate to 8 per cent in the afternoon, and prices rallied briskly, regaining much of their losses.

CHICAGO BREAK DISTURBES

The break at Chicago was particularly disturbing, as the first tremors of a general collapse on the security markets have upon notable occasions in the past been felt on that market. Also, the high renewal rate for demand loans caused qualms in view of the prospect of a further drain being imposed upon credit by an increase in the Bank of England's discount rate. Considerable nervousness was evident in brokerage - house board rooms until confidence was partially restored by the quick action of the banks.

That the sharp drop in call money resulted from action to bolster confidence, rather than a normal easing of credit, was indicated by the money rates, which followed a contrary course, very little money loaning at less than 9 per cent, even for some of the longer maturities. The snug condition of credit was further indicated by the bulletin of the Amer-

Great Northern Sells Bus Lines

ST. PAUL, (Minn.) Aug. 6. (AP)—The Great Northern railway today announced that it has sold control of its bus operating subsidiary, the Northland Transportation Company, to the Motor Transit Corporation and Automotive Investments, Inc. These two companies are affiliated with the nation-wide bus system of the Greyhound Lines.

Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern, announced the railway will retain an active interest in the property as a large minority stock holder and also will have representatives on the bus company's board of directors. The property will be operated under the name of the Northland Greyhound Line.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6. (AP)—An irregular trend characterized trading on the San Francisco Stock Exchange today with the majority of the issues selling down and five new lows chalked up as against one new high. Fluctuations in the majority of the cases were fractional.

Profit-taking was apparent in the utility group which has been buoyant for the past two weeks. Pacific Lighting sagged 6¼ points to 121, Pacific Gas & Electric common dropped ½ to 75⅝. Pacific Public Service "A" was off ⅜ at 27, and Pacific Gas & Electric preferred was steady at 26.

Among the industrials, Consolidated Chemicals registered a new top at 36⅝. Issues strengthening fractionally included Food Machinery at 50¼, California Copper at 6¼, I. Magnin at 34, Transcontinental Air at 24½, and B. F. Schlesinger common at 16⅛.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Strong Undertone Comes Into Local Market After Early Hesitant Trading

While some irregularity developed in yesterday's session of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange reactions from Monday's bullish advance were for the most part confined to fractions and a general confidence for the future course of the market was indicated by an exhibition of strength toward the close. The leaders of Monday's session continued to hold the spotlight and with the volume of trading somewhat reduced no substantial liquidation crept in.

Security-First National Bank, again traded in excess of 1000 shares, dropped off 2 points to 133½ and was the heaviest loser on the day. Other bank stocks held firm, while Transamerica, substantially a bank holding company, continued upward with a gain of 3-4 to 138 1-4.

While Pacific Lighting dropped off sharply from the high of the previous day, only 100 shares were transferred. This board lot was at 120. On the other hand Southern California Edison moved up 1-4 from Monday's close to end at 76 1-4, and the preferred jumped 1 1-4 points to 74 1-4.

Douglas Aircraft was a leader in the trading and advanced ½ to 39½, while rumors continued to circulate to the effect that United Aircraft would take over the company. Emsco rallied sharply to 31, up 1 1-8. Jantzen Mills hit a new high at 51, up 1.

Pacific Finance reacted 2 points to 131 and International Reinsurance sold off 1 to 62. Oils continued spotty with no changes of consequence.

Sales totaled 21,598 shares valued at $884,848; previous day, 23,178 shares valued at $1,680,759.

LOS ANGELES CURB

With a well-sustained volume of trading, prices continued to strengthen in yesterday's session of the Los Angeles Curb Exchange and while some irregularity developed in spots a confident tone prevailed throughout. Chapman's Ice Cream was the spectacular issue of the day and followed up advances of the past few sessions with a jump of 2 1-4 points to 29 3-4. The close was at ½.

Electrical Products of Washington, in a sympathetic move with Claude Neon Electrical Products in the previous session, shot 1 1-8 points to 25 on spirited trading. Claude Neon, while less active than Monday, added 3-8 to finish at 54 1-8. Consolidated Steel continued active and held firm at 21 1-4. Gladding McBean moved up a point to 83 while Pacific Mutual reacted the same amount to 114 3-4. Pacific Indemnity was steady on light sales.

Kinner Airplane and Motor common stock and warrants continued to feature the trading activity, and on a rapid turnover the common advanced 30 cents to a high at 2.30, closing later at 2.25 and the warrants climbed 27 cents to a new high and close at 1.25. Oils improved fractionally.

Sales totaled 165,304 shares valued at $573,539; previous day, 120,782 shares valued at $486,436.

Sales Executive Wanted

OUR client, a successful and old-established Nati[onal] investment house specializing in public utility [secur]ities is seeking the services of a thoroughly expe[rienced] bond executive in their Los Angeles office.

Preference will be given a man with similar experi[ence] but the man we are seeking is one with ability to [lead] and direct this growing organization. R[emuneration] will be on the basis of a liberal drawing a[gainst a] salary and commission arrangement. Inquiries, of co[urse,] will be treated in the strictest confidence and should [be] directed to Mr. Clark.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Aug. 6. (AP)—The bond market traveled over soft ground again today. Although prices were a shade firmer than on Monday, the general tone was easy, especially in the rails. Recessions proved to be mostly nominal in the standard issues and no extensive liquidation was in progress, but the underlying sentiment seemed to be unfavorable with 9 per cent time money making its reappearance after a very brief absence.

Convertibles worked lower in an irregular session. Early declines were mostly erased by midafternoon, but selling developed in the late trading and the close found most of the share privilege bonds lower. American Telephone 4½s made an extreme dip of about 6 points, closing at 200½ for net loss of 4½. International Telephone 4½s at one time were 4 points below the previous final, but rallied to 173 for a 1-point recession. Other convertibles showing losses on the day were Atchison 4½s, down 2; American I. G. Chemical 5½s, down 1¼; American International 5½s, off 1¾; General Public Service 5½s, off 1½; Lautaro Nitrate 6s, down 1, and Reading Coal & Iron 6s, off 1½.

The general list showed some resistance to selling pressure in the forenoon, but numbers of the low coupon rails later yielded and worked lower. Fractional net losses appeared in Baltimore & Ohio 4s, Toledo & Cincinnati division; St. Paul 5s, Denver & Rio Grande 5s, Erie refunding 4s, Illinois Central 4½s and Southern Railway general 4s. Missouri Pacific 4s, Nickel Plate 4s, Philippine Railway 4s, and Lake Shore & Michigan Southern 4s dipped 1 to 2 points.

Industrials showed wide fluctuations. Steel issues were firm, but rubber company bonds and some of the specialties sagged. The largest loss was a 5-point drop in National Radiator 6½s. Cuba Dominican Sugar 7½s, deposit of which is recommended in the reorganization plan published today, proved to be the only point of strength in the foreign sugars.

Utilities ruled irregularly lower and oil company obligations, in which some fair trading developed, were mixed.

United States government issues reflected the general sentiment by selling off, although in only one security, the Liberty First 4¼s, was there an appreciable turnover. Foreign bonds likewise were dull with virtually all price changes fractional.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in the order given. To expedite transmission, the close is omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close when same as high.

Ranking prior to all mortgages on

West Eighth Street Property

WEST Eighth Street—that great east-west traffic artery ranking as one of Los Angeles' principal thoroughfares—will soon be widened and improved in line with the major traffic plan which has already been approved.

Bonds representing direct liens on specific properties fronting on this street will be issued by the City of Los Angeles to finance this new improvement. The bonds constitute liens ranking prior to all first mortgages on properties appraised at over $30,000 for each $1000 bond. For a sound tax-free investment, we suggest our Ownership Certificates which represent actual proportionate ownership in the bonds which are deposited with the Bank of America, as Trustee.

Issued in convenient serial maturities, due 1930-1958, in even $500, $1000 and $5000 denominations.

Price Par and Interest, to yield 6%

PACIFIC COAST AGGREGATES, INCORPORATED
("Aggregates" is the name for crushed rock, sand and gravel in concrete construction)

One Sixth the Way from Earth to Moon,
Twice around the Earth

The long trains of freight cars that toil slowly and endlessly over the high Sierras are playthings compared to that stupendous train which hauls the nation's annual supplies of rock and gravel.

45,000 miles of cars, reaching twice around the world, are annually filled with aggregates.

ican Acceptance Council, which intimated that higher acceptance rates, with consequent burden upon commerce, cannot longer be avoided unless the Federal Reserve comes to the support of the bull market.

The day's industrial and business news remained largely favorable, including several more satisfactory earnings and sales reports. Woolworth reported a gain of nearly 10 per cent in July sales, and Mack Truck reported first half earnings equal to $5.17 per share, against $3.84 in the first half of 1928. Further good buying of copper was reported, and some consumers, who have been deferring orders in the hope of price reductions, were said to be asking protection against increases.

UTILITIES REACT

The utility shares, which made substantial advances yesterday despite the break in the Insull stocks at Chicago, were particularly depressed. North American, Pacific Lighting, Consolidated Gas, Standard Gas and Electric, American Power and Light, and Stone & Webster sold off 4 to 7 points, but many losses were reduced before the close, the last two named closing only about a point lower. American Water Works was strong, selling close to its record. Detroit Edison dropped 27 points.

Rails were also generally depressed, New York Central and Chesapeake & Ohio dropping about 7 points, although the former regained about half its loss. Atchison was a strong spot, mounting a couple of points to a record level. Steels were generally steady, United States Steel sagging a couple of points, then regaining its loss. Such shares as Allis Chalmers, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse Telephone, International Business Machines lost a few points. Adams Express dropped 20 in a small turnover.

Coppers were heavily bought in the last hour, particularly Anaconda which rose more than 3 points to 122, a new high for the movement, in a turnover of nearly 400,000 shares. It was rumored that a large banking house will soon offer its customers a block of the stock at 120. American Bosch Magneto, Eastman Kodak, Hershey Chocolate, Worthington Pump and Radio Keith were in good demand.

In the reactionary grain markets, wheat broke about 6 cents a bushel in response to a drop of 9 to 11 cents at Winnipeg, heavy receipts and a weak cash market. Corn lost 2 cents or more a bushel on further bearish weather. The cotton market was again quiet, with closing prices steady.

Foreign exchanges were inclined to ease, although sterling cables held fairly steady at $4.85 3-16.

RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 6. (Exclusive)—Dullness was again the ruling influence in the trading of futures on the New York Rubber Exchange today. The firmness of the preceding session, however, was lacking and all positions wound up with 10 point losses, after prices moved in a narrow trading area. Sales were 67 contracts, or 167½ long tons. London spot was 1-16d lower at 10 15-16d, while Singapore quoted the August delivery at 10¼d, 1-16d higher. Outside spot was unchanged at 21c.

one short block from Hollywood and Vine

IF you are that shrewd type of bond buyer, who likes to obtain extra security without the sacrifice of yield, you should drive out to Hollywood today and inspect the magnificent, newly completed Hollywood Knickerbocker Hotel, which contains over 480 rooms and is a Class "A" reinforced concrete and steel structure. Note its exceptional location—just one block from the corner of Hollywood Blvd. and Vine Street, one of the busiest intersections of Hollywood.

After investigating the building personally, drop into our offices and learn full details of the attractive 6½% first mortgage bond issue secured by less than a 43% lien on this $1,750,000 structure. Application has already been made to certify this issue as a legal investment for California Savings Banks and Trust Funds; and net earnings are conservatively estimated at over 3.3 times annual interest requirements. We recommend these bonds from every standpoint.

Sudden Selling Plunges Wheat to Low Levels

CHICAGO, Aug. 6. (AP)—Unnerved by whirlwind selling that without warning overtook the wheat market today, numberless traders in semipanic let go of wheat wholesale. Prices for wheat suffered an almost perpendicular fall of as much as 7⅛c a bushel here, compared with yesterday's finish, reaching a level fully 18c under recent current figures. The selling that started the smash of values was generally ascribed to Canadian sources.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were feverish, at virtually the day's lowest point, 6c to 7c net lower. Corn closed 1¾c to 2c down, oats 1⅛c to 1⅛c off, and provisions showing 2c to 10c setback.

Upsetting of confidence on the part of speculative owners of wheat came abruptly after the market here had shown a decided tendency to advance on account of reported big purchases of flour today in the Southwest and because of evidence of rapid falling off in the movement to domestic winter wheat to most of the leading railroad terminals. In Chicago, the number of cars of wheat arriving today was much smaller than either a week or a year ago, and there were also greatly diminished receipts at Kansas City, Omaha and St. Louis. However, all this was quickly lost sight of when a leading Winnipeg trader was reported as throwing overboard his holdings of wheat future deliveries here.

A tumble of 10c a bushel in wheat prices at Winnipeg added to the force of the selling storm which overwhelmed the Chicago wheat trade. Besides the selling orders from Winnipeg came at a time when the Chicago market was apparently without much if any of the aggressive buying support that of late had been so conspicuous. Meanwhile, about the only immediate known incentive for the selling were reports of some rains in Canada and rather vague advices that Argentine wheat acreage could be enlarged. Relative slackness of export demand for wheat from North America was no doube also a considerable factor, as well as general knowledge that speculative wheat contracts for future deliveries in the Chicago market have piled up to the unprecedented total of 217,088,000 bushels, an increase of about 12,000,000 bushels in hardly more than a week.

All other cereals reflected the weakness of the wheat market. Corn was responsive also to a forecast of moisture much needed in the Southwest.

*In addition, 500,000 shares are reserved against exercise of attached warrants hereinafter mentioned and of like separate warrants issued to initial subscribers.

The Corporation has only one class of stock and no funded debt.

Upon sale of the stock now offered the initial cash resources of the United States Shares Financial Corporation will exceed $7,800,000. Of the above issue, 160,000 shares have been purchased for cash by United States Shares Corporation and their associates, netting the Financial Corporation, $2,400,000.

Business: United States Shares Financial Corporation has been formed under the laws of Delaware, with broad powers to buy, sell, trade in or hold securities of any kind and to participate in underwritings and in syndicates. The charter imposes no investment restrictions upon the management but the present investment policy of the management provides for substantial holdings of bank and insurance company stocks. It is also intended to take advantage of special situations arising in the general securities market.

Management: The business of the United States Shares Financial Corporation will be managed, subject to its own Board of Directors, by the United States Shares Corporation, an experienced investment trust operating organization incorporated under the laws of New York, which has established and is successfully managing eight investment trusts of the limited management type.

Management Contract: United States Shares Financial Corporation has made a management contract with United States Shares Corporation, under the terms of which, United States Shares Corporation is entitled to receive up to 20% of the annual net profits (as defined in the contract) of United States Shares Financial Corporation, subject to the limitation, however, that such compensation shall not exceed one-half of the amount of dividends received by the stockholders of the Financial Corporation. Accordingly, dividends to stockholders are to be not less than twice the amount paid for management.

For the purpose of computing annual net profits, the Financial Corporation's investment assets are to be inventoried at not more than cost or market value, whichever is lower.

The management contract provides that stockholders of the Financial Corporation may terminate the management contract at any time by majority vote. If any director shall be elected to the Board of the Financial Corporation without the approval of United States Shares Corporation, the management contract may be terminated by the latter. Upon termination of the management contract, the Financial Corporation shall, at the request of United States Shares Corporation, change its name so as to eliminate all reference to United States Shares Corporation.

Perpetual Warrants: With every two shares of capital stock now offered, purchasers will receive an attached option warrant entitling them to purchase at any time after July 15, 1930 (unless sooner authorized by the Corporation), one share of additional stock at $25 per share. This warrant is not detachable prior to July 15, 1930, unless earlier authorized by the Board of Directors. As the time is unlimited within which warrants may be exercised, these warrants in effect give a perpetual "call" on stock at $25 per share as then constituted (subject to certain provisions against dilution). Aside from warrants issued or to be issued in the discretion of the Board of Directors no stockholder has any pre-emptive right to subscribe to any additional stock.

Dividends to Stockholders: Although the Financial Corporation may set aside any portion of the net profits as reserve for the benefits of stockholders, the provisions of the management contract are intended to assure current distribution of a substantial part of the profits to stockholders.

Present Directorate: The following constitute the initial Board of Directors of United States Shares Financial Corporation: Travis H. Whitney, Vice-President, Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Corp.; Marck I. Tooker, Member N. Y. Stock Exchange; Robert Van Iderstine, President, Guardian Fire Assurance Corp.; Douglas Kent, Member N. Y. Stock Exchange; John Scott Lansill, President, United States Shares Corporation.

The foregoing is subject to the provisions more fully stated in the certificate of incorporation of United States Shares Financial Corporation and in the management contract, copies of which may be obtained from the undersigned upon request.

FIRST PUBLIC OFFERING

BIARRITZ, Inc., Ltd.

(Incorporated Under the Laws of Delaware)
ALHAMBRA, CALIFORNIA
Authorized Depository, Bank of America of California, Los Angeles.

Authorized Capitalization

Preferred Stock 7% cumulative (par value $100) 10,000 shares
Common Stock (without par value) 20,000 shares

Description of Issue—Preferred and Common Stock:

Biarritz, Inc., Ltd. is offering its issue in amounts of $101.00 or any multiple thereof:

The Preferred Stock is 7% cumulative with a par value of $100 per share, and when issued will be fully paid and non-assessable. It is preferred as to dividends and assets, and is callable at the option of the corporation in whole or in part, at any time on thirty days' notice at $105 per share, plus cumulative dividends.

It will be the policy of the directorate that no dividend will be paid upon Common Stock until all issued and outstanding Preferred Stock shall have been retired, redeemed or purchased.

Permission for the sale of Biarritz, Inc., Ltd. securities in the State of California has been granted by the Commissioner of Corporations.

Business: Biarritz, Inc., Ltd. has been organized for the purpose of conducting a number of diversified enterprises, its charter having been drawn so as to permit the Board of Directors to engage in any business which, in its wisdom and experience it may deem conducive to the best interests of the corporation.

Location: The corporation's strategic location is in prosperous San Gabriel Valley, nine miles east of Los Angeles City Hall, and at the hub of a 250-square-mile area with a 260,000 population, many important arteries of traffic from mountains to sea radiating directly from it. The Mission Theatre in old San Gabriel with its internationally-known Mission Play, and the Western Air Express $1,000,000 Airport—the largest in Southern California—are both within a stone's throw of the property. Many prominent country clubs are also within an extremely limited radius.

Earnings: The conservatively estimated earnings of the corporation through its rentals, bowling alleys, billiard rooms, theatre, banquet, dining and tea rooms, restaurant, cafeteria, beauty parlor, cigars and fountains would be 15% net of the corporation's capitalization, or $150,000 per annum—this amount based upon and with provision for total carrying charge, including 7% interest on Preferred Stock and operating charges such as advertising, maintenance, replacements, upkeep, repairs, taxes, insurance and sinking fund.

Safeguards: The assets of the corporation at the present time consist of a piece of property in San Gabriel Valley, Los Angeles County, which will be improved by the erection of a group of buildings at minimum cost. This valuable property, occupying an area of 57,210 square feet, together with buildings and their complete equipment and appointments forms one of the investor's important safeguards.

First Public Offering—An Investment Opportunity

For the first time, the stock of Biarritz, Inc., Ltd. is now offered to the public through a special, initial public offering of $500,000.

The distinctive feature of the entire Biarritz project is the soundness of the investment opportunity it assures, due to the adequate security of the corporation's well-selected, advantageously located Los Angeles County real estate, as well as the character of its income-producing interests and the unquestioned efficiency of its managerial staff.

Under The Tyrell Plan, the investor's money has a secure earning power, and the investor becomes part owner of Biarritz, Inc., Ltd., together with its group of buildings and allied projects on a money-back, plus seven per cent basis. He shares permanently and securely in its success, increased values and earning power, thereafter receiving 50% proportionately of all profits distributed, regardless of the fact that his original investment has been fully repaid, plus cumulative 7%. In other words, he receives out of the earnings of Biarritz, Inc., Ltd. operations:

A—7% cumulative on money invested.
B—100% on all profits distributed until every dollar of original investment has been returned to investor.
C—50% of all profits distributed thereafter.

To sum up, every sound investment essential is behind The Tyrell Plan—security, adequate return, constantly increasing values and correspondingly increased profits. All these conditions are assured through the intelligent specialization of highly remunerative, non-competitive enterprises under the guidance of executives long versed in the conduct of financial, construction, art and merchandising affairs.

...and again at 109

On June 19, 1929, we recommended General Gas & Electric Corporation $6.00 Convertible Preferred Stock, then priced at 95, as a decidedly attractive public utility investment which had not yet discounted the future. We recommend this stock again at the current price of 109.

We believe this issue presents unusual possibilities for appreciation—particularly in view of the attractive conversion feature. It is convertible after May 1, 1930 into 1 and 1/5 shares (or at 80) of Class "A" Common Stock now selling at approximately 107 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Price Market to yield about 5.65%

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 6. (AP)—A rush of selling orders was unleashed on the curb exchange today as the Insull group of utility stocks for the second successive day fell back sharply in New York and Chicago. A better tone was in evidence in the afternoon as the call money rate was dropped from 12 to 8 per cent and final prices although well under last night's closing, were around the best levels of the day.

The common of Insull Utility Investment, which holds a stock interest in the Insull Utility Enterprises, broke to 94 from an opening price of 120¾, and closed at 111 for a net loss of 13 points. Last week this stock sold at a new high at 160. Preferred stockholders in June bought the common at $15 a share. Yesterday Insull Utility fell 17¼ points. On the Chicago Stock Exchange today it sold as low as 92. Pools active in the stock were said to have withdrawn their support.

Middle West Utilities, another Insull property, opened up 6 points at 431, but soon sold off and closed at 221, down 4 points. Commonwealth Edison, which broke 15 points yesterday, fell back 38¾ points, but recovered 10 points of its loss at the close.

Duke Power was a sensational strong spot, soaring 64 points to a new high at 290 and closing at 285. Duke shareholders are to get stock purchase rights as a result of recent approval of an increase in stock. Montreal Light, Heat & Power rose 18¾ points to a new high at 125. Long Island Lighting and Lone Star Gas also were strong.

Arizona Power fell back 10 points to 35. This stock recently was pushed up to 58. Bell Telephone of Canada dropped 5¼, and American Superpower, Electric Bond & Share, Electric Investors, American Cities issues, and Northern States Power "A" declined 1 to 5 points.

The investment trusts were irregular with the main trend downward in sympathy with the decline in other stocks. National Investors dropped 10 points to 166. Shenandoah and Interstate Equity were steady around yesterday's closing levels.

Aluminum Company slipped off 12, while its subsidiary, Aluminum Ltd., came within a fraction of its record high price, but closed with a fractional loss. Procter & Gamble soared 20 points to a record. The stock recently was split, and J. P. Morgan & Co. acquired a large block.

The radios followed an irregular course with Grigsby-Grunow losing 7 points of its recent wide gain, and Cable & Wireless "B" dipping a point to a new low. Hazeltine mounted a point.

The oils continued quiet with Aero Supply "B" advancing nearly 7 points on the announcement John J. Raskob had bought into the company.

Newmont Mining recovered part of its recent loss on the favorable copper situation.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

Mr. Samuel Slotkin, President of the Corporation, summarizes from his letter to us dated August 1, 1929, as follows, to which reference is hereby made for a more complete statement of the contents thereof:

BUSINESS AND PROPERTY: Hygrade Food Products Corporation was incorporated under the laws of the State of New York in November, 1927. Its business is the preparation, and distribution, direct to the trade, of ready-to-serve, meat products.

Under the Plan and Agreement dated November 1, 1928, respecting Allied Packers, Inc., Hygrade Food Products Corporation is to acquire through judicial sale five completely equipped plants located at Chicago, Detroit, Buffalo, Wheeling and Topeka, together with substantially all current assets, brands, and trade marks, and other properties of said Company. Hygrade Food Products Corporation serves New York, Philadelphia and Boston, one of the greatest markets in the world for sausage, ham, bacon, and prepared meat specialties; and other Eastern markets. The Corporation proposes to extend its sales of finished, quality product by direct distribution, to other important markets, including the cities at and near said five manufacturing plants.

The Corporation and the five plants have over 19,000 customers including Kroger Grocery and Baking Co., Park & Tilford, Inc., Beech-Nut Packing Co., Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company of America, and many other important companies.

The United Cigar Stores Company of America is to acquire a substantial common stock interest in the Hygrade Food Products Corporation and will be represented on its Board of Directors, and arrangements have also been concluded to supply the United Cigar Stores, Happiness Candy Stores, Neve Drug Stores and Whelan Drug Stores exclusively with the meat products sold in their stores and restaurants.

The combined volume of business in 1928 of the five plants and Hygrade Food Products Corporation, was over $47,000,000.

ASSETS: The pro forma balance sheet of Hygrade Food Products Corporation as of March 29, 1929, as certified by Messrs. Ernst & Ernst, after giving effect to the consummation of the Plan and Agreement, to the acquisition of the above properties and to this financing, shows current assets of $8,299,488, current liabilities of $1,222,116 and net current assets of $7,077,372; the ratio of current assets to current liabilities is nearly 7 to 1; total net tangible assets after deducting current and underlying liabilities, are $14,691,225, equal to $2,938 per $1,000 First and Refunding Mortgage Convertible 6% Gold Bond.

SECURITY: The First and Refunding Mortgage Convertible 6% Gold Bonds will be secured in the opinion of counsel by a direct first mortgage and deed of trust upon all the real estate and plants owned by Hygrade Food Products Corporation at the date of the execution of said mortgage, and upon the five plants to be acquired from Allied Packers, Incorporated, located at Chicago, Detroit, Buffalo, Wheeling and Topeka, subject only to the prior lien of several separate real estate mortgages aggregating $275,400, covering certain of the properties now owned by Hygrade Food Products Corporation and to the $617,000 First Mortgage bonds on the Chicago plant of Allied Packers, due in 19[illegible]. The sound depreciated value of the real property to be subject to said mortgage has been appraised by the American Appraisal Company at $9,209,564.52.

EARNINGS: After provision for depreciation at present rates on the values of existing operating plants, and for central office expenses as budgeted by the management at $325,000 a year, (which has been substituted for actual central office expenses of the five plants averaging $310,817.86 and for central office expenses of the Hygrade Food Products Corporation not separately stated in previous years but amounting to $24,471.87 for the first three months of 1929 or at the rate of $97,887.48 per annum) but before (1) interest or bond discount (except interest on present underlying mortgages and bonds) and (2) Federal Income Tax, and excluding certain non-recurring items averaging $[illegible] per year, the combined average annual earnings of such five plants, and of Hygrade Food Products Corporation and its predecessor companies, for the past five fiscal years, as reported by Messrs. Ernst & Ernst, in their certificate, have been $943,579.45, equivalent to 3.14 times the interest on the $5,000,000 First and Refunding Mortgage Convertible 6% Gold Bonds to be presently outstanding. Such earnings for the fiscal year 1928 were $781,833.05, and for the period ending March 29, 1929 (beginning November 3, 1928, for the five plants, and January 1, 1929 for Hygrade) were $382,032.94.

MANAGEMENT: Mr. Samuel Slotkin, President of the Corporation, has for 25 years been engaged in the business of preparing and merchandising meat products. Mr. Frank R. Warton, who will be Chairman of the Board, and in charge of finances, has been in executive control of Allied Packers, Inc. since January 1, 1928. In addition to Mr. Warton and Mr. Slotkin, the Board of Directors will include Messrs. Theodore Smith (Vice President of the Central Hanover Bank and Trust Co.), A. Granat (Vice President and director of United Cigar Stores Company of America), George P. Smith of Smith & Gallatin, Jacob Schapiro (President Trust Company of North America), and representatives of the Bankers.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: The purpose of this issue is to provide funds for the acquisition of the properties referred to above, including the discharge of certain current obligations against those properties.

SINKING FUND: The Bonds are to be entitled to a semi-annual sinking fund beginning in 1930, calculated to retire not less than one-half of the amount thereof by the date of maturity.

These bonds are offered, when, as and if issued and accepted by us, and subject to approval by counsel of all legal matters. It is expected that the temporary bonds or interim receipts of Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company will be deliverable on or about August 20th, 1929.

Legal details in connection with this issue will be passed upon by Messrs. Hornblower, Miller & Garrison. Audits by Messrs. Ernst & Ernst. Appraisals by American Appraisal Co.

Application has been made by the Corporation to list its first and Refunding Mortgage Convertible 6% Gold Bonds upon the New York Curb Exchange and it will apply for listing on the Chicago Stock Exchange.

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD KEGLEY

Additional wildcat drilling may be expected as a result of the recent organization of the Ventura Petroleum Corporation, which has leased 211 acres a mile north of the Ventura-avenue field, where a wildcat will be spudded in within the next well two weeks.

The new company is headed by C. Phelps Campbell, with Thomas M. Blake as secretary and treasurer. It will be associated with the California Ventura Oil Company, which is drilling the Cal-Ven No. 20 in Fresno Canyon, about six miles north of the Ventura-avenue field.

According to officials of the new company, when a water well was drilled on their recently acquired lease a showing of oil was obtained. Locations for one or more wildcat wells will be staked out there soon, it is asserted.

The Cal-Van No. 20, had a gas blowout yesterday, which heaved out considerable formation, it is said. Bottom of the hole it at 3287 feet. Approximately 150 feet of oil sand has been picked up in this project, and reports are that a production test will be made after the drill, has gone to about 3400 feet.

Barren Formation

The Olympic Oil and Refining Company's Knott No. 1 well, a mile east of the Lomas No. 1 discovery well, in the Palisades field, is reported to have picked up no oil formation down to 2300 feet.

According to field reports, this project will be drilled deeper to determine what the formation is like. This is the only test being continued by Olympic since turning over approximately 200 acres to the General Petroleum Corporation two months ago when the Lomas No. 1 was brought in.

Ten and three-quarter inch casing is cemented at 280 feet and there are 600 feet of perforated tubing in the hole. Considerable mud and water was in evidence when a production test was made, it is asserted.

The Lincoln Drilling Company's Williams No. 1 at the edge of the surf at Summerland is said to be pumping approximately 312 barrels of 19.3-deg. gravity oil per day from a depth of 1345 feet. This project failed to develop commercially at 1417 feet and plugged back after penetrating gray sand. Indications are that the Sespe formation is devoid of oil inland from the ocean. The oil structure is thought to be well out in the ocean.

Wildcat Blows In

The General Petroleum Corporation's More No. 1 wildcat, three miles southeast of Elwood, in Santa Barbara county, yesterday blew in and according to field reports was out of control and blowing 25,000,000 to 50,000,000 cubic feet of dry gas per day.

A few days ago, eleven-inch casing was cemented at 2590 feet, and yesterday the drill was run into drill out the cement plug when it blew in unexpectedly. Considerable formation was blown out of the hole and efforts are being made to kill it. Reports are that it will not be deepened at present as General has learned that the hole is not straight and an effort will be made to straighten it before operations are resumed.

No promising formation was ever picked up in More No. 1, it is said, although on several occasions there was evidence of gas. It is said the gas is coming from a depth between 2590 and 2600 feet.

Progress Watched

Having completed one well in the Kettleman Hills field, considerable interest is taken in the Standard Oil Company's deepest projects drilling ahead.

Standard's No. 81 on Sec. 11 is putting out approximately 850 barrels of 61-deg. gravity oil per day from a depth of 6673 feet, along with about 20,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day, being made into casinghead gasoline.

On Sec. 27 the No. 87 is drilling ahead below 6340 feet in hard brown shale; the No. 41 on Sec. 3, No. 78 on Sec. 7 and the No. 261 on Sec. 11 are well below 6100 feet in depth. The No. 8, to be completed under the agreement adopted by the Kettleman Hills oil and gas conservation committee is drilling below 6205 feet and will be given a water shut-off test this week.

Near Taft, Standard's Mascot No. 1 wildcat, a deep test, is drilling ahead below 6209 feet in brown shale and to date has not picked up any favorable showings, according to field reports.

Deep Test Starts

The Shell Oil Company's Union-Sugar No. A-5 post-hole in the Betteravia district has just been started, and field reports state that it will be drilled in further search of geological markers. Shell has extensive holdings in that district and has drilled a number of post-holes to determine what the formation is like.

At Kettleman Hills, Shell's Armstrong No. 1, which came in a few weeks ago and was killed to deepen after yielding for a week approximately 150 barrels of high gravity oil per day, is drilling ahead below 6790 feet. Under the recent agreement signed by the majority of operators in that field the Armstrong No. 1 will be completed.

Refinery Nearing Completion

The Western Oil and Refining Company's new refinery at Wilmington is nearing completion, according to field reports. The new plant, with additional tankage, marketing possibilities and other facilities will cost approximately $3,000,000, and have a capacity of 10,000 barrels of crude oil per day, it is said.

To Clean Wells

The Keystone Petroleum Company is preparing to clean out eight wells in the old Bardsdale district, near Fillmore, in the expectation of increasing their output.

In the event the cleaning out program is successful, company officials state that several wells will be drilled in search of deeper commercial production in that general area.

Keystone has resumed operations in its Paderewski No. 1 wildcat, on a 500-acre lease about three miles southwest of Santa Maria. This project recently was drilled to about 500 feet where operations were suspended due to a faulty cementing job, according to field reports.

Test for Gas

First attempt to develop its Crites No. 1 into a gasser was unsuccessful and the Milham Exploration Company will make a second test today or tomorrow at Buttonwillow, according to field reports.

This project is about three-quarters of a mile from the other Kern wells in that district, and is thought to be slightly off the structure, it is said. Gas from wells in that area will be run into the new pipe line now being completed by Pacific Gas and Electric Company.

To Plug Back

The Southern Exploration Company is preparing to plug back in its Twitchell No. 1 well on the bluff at the extreme western end of the old Summerland field, as the result of picking up a red shale devoid of oil. Bottom of the hole is at 1221 feet.

Deep Test Progressing

The Doty No. 5 well of the Barnsdall-Rio Grande combination at Elwood, newest deep test for that district, is drilling ahead below 4400 feet at the western end of the field.

Field reports state that about 350 feet of oil sand has been picked up in the Vaqueros formation, the same which has already been developed commercially. The Lufton Bell No. 8, of the same operators, is drilling ahead below 3319 feet.

Drilling Ahead

The Globe Petroleum Corporation Company's Jameson & Estle No. 1 well, at Santa Fe Springs, is drilling ahead below 6700 feet, and indications are that it will be drilled to at least 6800 feet before another production test is attempted.

Globe's well came in a short time ago for about 1900 barrels of oil per day, and after flowing a few days was killed to deepen.

METAL MARKETS

CLEVELAND (O.) Aug. 6. (Exclusive)—Daily Metal Trade today says less finished steel will be shipped into the Detroit district this month than any month this year, according to the present outlook. But even so the movement will be considerably ahead of that of last August. Vacation shutdowns and the slack period when new models are being put into production are expected to bring August output of automobiles and trucks slightly below July, but there is a rather general sentiment that September will see production move up sharply. Specifications for semifinished steel are well sustained, although activity in the spot market is confined to small lot transactions.

Copper is in moderate demand at 18c, Connecticut. Zinc is in a dull market, with producers quoting 6.80c, East St. Louis. Lead is firmer at 6.55c, East St. Louis, and 6.75c, New York. Tin is easy, with spot straits quoted 47.12½c.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—Approximately 500 head were offered yesterday only about 200 of which arrived fresh, the balance being held over from Monday. Quality of the steer run was poor and these sold slowly at about steady prices. The small supply of she stock sold readily at fully steady prices.

Two loads of 828-pound Mexican steers cashed for 9.50. Odd lots of other common steers went over from 9.00@10.00.

Half a load of good 896-pound heifers scored 10.00, with odd head selling higher. A short load of good 1116-pound Utah cows topped at 9.35. Other lots of cows cleared from 8.75@9.25, while common and low medium cows went over from 7.00@8.50, including a load of mixed cutters and common cows at 7.90. Low cutters and cutters moved from 3.00@6.50. A few medium and good bulls sold from 7.50@8.50. Odd head of bulls made 8.75.

CALVES—About half of yesterday's supply arrived late and with only limited demand the resultant trade was rather slow and very uneven. Early sales were close to steady, while closing sales reflected declines of 25@50c. A car of good 245-pound vealers made 14.25 on the early session, while a car of good 249-pound weights on the late session made 13.50. A load of 161 to 247-pound weights sold for 13.25. Plain vealers and calves were in small supply down to 8.50.

HOGS—Yesterday's small supply was cleaned up at about steady prices, quality considered. Two cars of good 190 to 207-pound New Mexicos topped at 13.40. A car of mixed 173-pound Utahs made 13.00, this price also being paid for a load of mixed 180-pound Colorados with 138-pound averages out at 12.50. A sizable lot of 186-pound trucked-in butchers made 12.85. Packing sows were strong to 25c higher, selling mostly from 10.00@10.50, with roughs at 9.50.

WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—Demand is fairly strong on 56's and 48-50's domestic wool, although trading in large quantities is not very active. This is accounted for by the fact that several houses have sold these grades before they were graded and will not take further orders at current prices. Asking prices on combing and clothing wool are very firm.

Cotton Strike Deadlock Ends

MANCHESTER (Eng.) Aug. 7. (Wednesday) (AP)—The Daily News today says that the deadlock in the cotton industry has been relieved.

Announcement of arbitration is expected which will restore peace before the end of the week. The stoppage now is in its second week with more than 500,000 operatives idle.

BIGAMIST MUST WORK

New York Judge Sentences Culprit to Support Both Families

NEW YORK, Aug. 6. (Exclusive) County Judge Nova in Brooklyn today sentenced a confessed bigamist to support his two wives and three children, rather than committing him to Sing Sing for five years.

Frank Bruno, 32 years of age, pleaded guilty of marrying Rose Anna Carubia November 17, 1926, without obtaining a divorce from Mrs. Millie Bruno, whom he married in 1921. He is the father of his first wife's two children and his second wife's one child.

Judge Nova sentenced him to pay his first wife $20 a week and his second wife $15 a week, with the alternative of prison if he defaults in either obligation.

CITIES EXEMPT FROM WATER PERMIT FEES

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6. (Exclusive)—Metropolitan water districts are declared to be exempt from the payment of fees for obtaining permits from the State Division of Water Rights, in an opinion given today by Atty.-Gen. Webb. The ruling was made in the case of the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California. Webb pointed out that the exemptions under the law include cities, counties and other political subdivisions, and that metropolitan water districts are political subdivisions.

FALL FATAL TO PATIENT AT HOSPITAL

Woman Reported to be Jack Doyle's Sister-in-Law Dies in Plunge

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 6. (Exclusive)—Plunging from a third-story window this evening, Miss Winifred Dolenty, 55 years of age, a patient in the Santa Monica Hospital, was killed upon striking a cement basement projection. She was recorded at the hospital as a sister-in-law of Jack Doyle, Los Angeles boxing promoter.

Whether she fell accidentally or leaped remains to be decided by a Coroner's jury. Miss Dolenty had been a patient in the hospital intermittently for eight months.

According to information obtained by police she had become despondent because of her long illness. She was eating tonight when her nurse left the room to obtain her own meal. Another nurse saw Miss Dolenty leaning out the window. Then she fell to death. The body was taken to Todd & Leslie's undertaking establishment.

Wisconsin Shies at White Apron

MADISON (Wis.) Aug. 2. (AP)—A proposal to put Wisconsin into the business of manufacturing and selling liquor was defeated in the Senate today. The measure, by Senator Gettleman of Milwaukee, would have amended the State constitution which prohibits the commonwealth from entering private business.

Gettleman contends the Eighteenth Amendment does not apply to a State distillery.

BAY CITY DRY CHIEF AND COOPER CONFER

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6. (AP)—Edward R. Bohner, Federal prohibition administrator here since March, 1927, whose resignation becomes effective tomorrow, conferred here informally today with Maj. John E. Cooper, the acting administrator. Maj. Cooper, who is administrator for Hawaii, is to be relieved of the post here tomorrow by William Walker, recently Chief of Police at Fresno. Bohner has not yet announced his future plans.

French Speed Ace Meets Death

BORDEAUX (France) Aug. 6. (AP) Lieut. Bonnot of the French army, selected by the Ministry of Air to pilot the French entry in the coming Schneider Cup races at Calshot, Eng., was killed this afternoon when the airplane in which he was training for the speed test was wrecked in leaving the airfield here.

Bonnot was the holder of the world speed record for land airplanes.

DUCE'S CHILD TO HAVE POPE FOR GODFATHER

ROME, Aug. 6. (Exclusive)—An indication that affairs between the Vatican and the Italian state are not as bad as the constant bickering over education and suppression of Catholic papers might imply was given today when it became known that Pope Pius has consented to be the godfather of Premier Mussolini's fifth child, which is expected to be born toward the end of this month.

The Pontiff will be represented at the christening ceremonies by Mgr. Borgongini Duca, papal nuncio to Italy. Donna Rachel Mussolini, the Duce's wife, who is staying at Riccione, near Rimini on the Adriatic coast, yesterday visited Villambrossa, where she inspected the reforestation institute there as the guest of Prof. Pizzaoli, director of the institute.

SNOOK ONCE MODEL MAN, SAY FRIENDS

Former Repute of Killer Established Before Jury; Fall from Grace Told

COLUMBUS (O.) Aug. 6. (AP)—Counsel for Dr. James H. Snook, confessed slayer of Theora K. Nix, began to show the jury today, in his trial for first-degree murder, their picture of Snook as a man who in the last three years had fallen from the ways of respectability into the role of an insane killer led astray by illicit romance.

Prosecutor Chester rested the State's case this morning.

Middle-aged men who were instructors or students with Dr. Snook in the College of Veterinary Medicine at Ohio State University as long as twenty-five years ago and associates who have known him closely ever since then said they had known him as a man of good character bearing a reputation for truth and honesty.

But these same men admitted under cross-examination that in recent months Dr. Snook had been reprimanded for associating with women other than his wife and that once he was called before his superiors to explain why he had given a narcotic to a woman whose name was left out of the trial record.

Among the character witnesses for Dr. Snook were Dr. O. V. Brumley, head of the Ohio State Veterinary Clinic, Dr. D. S. White, dean of the university's veterinary college; Dr. Howard W. Miller, veterinary surgeon, and Raymond C. Brackett, Columbus lumber dealer who accompanied Snook to Europe for the 1920 Olympics as a member of the United States pistol shooting team.

MONTEREY PORT DATA REQUESTED

War Department May Let Trucks be Used in Place of Proposed Railroad

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—The War Department Rivers and Harbors Board today decided to ask the San Francisco district engineer's office for more information on the Monterey (Cal.) harbor breakwater project to decide what conditions must be complied with before the work can be undertaken.

It is indicated the condition imposed in the 1912 project requiring local interests to construct a railroad as a means of insuring full use of the port facilities may not be required in the new project.

Lieut.-Col. Hobins of the Engineer Corps said the contention of Monterey interests that trucks would furnish adequate means for taking freight to and fro from the port probably is accurate.

The railroad contemplated in 1912 was to have run from Monterey up the San Joaquin Valley.

Until another report is received from the San Francisco office no action will be taken by the War Department.

Salvation Army Changes Made

LONDON, Aug. 6. (AP)—Commissioner William Maxwell, Salvation Army head for Eastern Canada, with headquarters at Toronto, has received orders to bid his command farewell.

This announcement by Salvation Army headquarters here followed that stating Commissioner James Hay has been ordered to leave his post in New Zealand to take over a new command in October, presumably that in Canada.

The removal of Col. Mary Booth, daughter of the late Gen. Bramwell Booth, from Germany, where she had been territorial commander for five years, also was announced. She will come to England and later will take a new appointment which has not yet been determined.

Grounded Ship Crew Rescued

VICTORIA (B. C.) Aug. 6. (AP)—Unable to stay with the Ellwe No. 11, when she ran aground Saturday night at high tide on Ridge Reef, four members of the crew of the fish packer were rescued late yesterday from a barren rock off Bare Island by the tug Hopkins and the derrick scow Island Tug No. 3, it was learned here today.

The Ellwe was proceeding through O'Hara Strait when she was grounded, smashed her forefoot and ripped up her keel.

The Ellwe was towed to Sidney, where her crew was landed, and then taken to Vancouver.

Locomotive Bid of Germany Wins

BUCHAREST (Rumania) Aug. 6. (AP)—The Rumanian government has given an order to German factories for 100 railway locomotives at a price much higher than other foreign offers because the Germans offered to deliver the locomotives before harvest time. The government will pay about $500,000 down. The price is not made public.

CONVICT GAILUR IMPROVED

SAN QUENTIN, Aug. 6. (AP)—Weak but much improved, Damascus Garcia Gailur, leader of the San Quentin band, has been released from the prison hospital, where he was sent with a stroke of apoplexy. Gailur, serving a term for second-degree murder, is nationally known for his musical compositions.

WATER REPORT READY

PHOENIX, Aug. 6. (AP)—The fifth biennial report of the State Water Commissioner to the Governor for the period from January 1, 1927 to December 31, 1928 has been received from the printers and is ready for distribution, Frank P. Trott, State Water Commissioner announced today.

Dawes y MacDonald Conversan Otra Vez

LONDRES, Agosto 6.—Hoy ha venido aquí el primer ministro MacDonald, desde el lugar de Escocia donde está veraneando, con el deliberado propósito de renovar sus conversaciones sobre desarme naval con el general Dawes, embajador norteamericano. Esta noche se volvió por tren a Lossiemouth (Escocia).

En la estación dijo a los reporteros que no sabía para cuando vendría de nuevo; pero que acudirá aquí de seguro cada vez que sus labores oficiales lo exijan. Dijo que se sentía algo cansado, pues que había hecho en un día el trabajo de dos.

Poco después de su llegada a ésta habló el primer ministro con Alexander, primer lord del almirantazgo, y tuvo también una conferencia con Lord Thomson, ministro de Aeronáutica. El embajador yanqui se dirigió luego, acompañado de dos agregados de la embajada, al 10 de la calle de Downing. No se ha hecho declaración ninguna a raíz de estas conversaciones.

Por anuncio oficial de esta noche, se sabe que el señor MacDonald, además de atender a otros asuntos gubernativos urgentes, se estuvo ocupando en estudiar la grave cuestión del paro de la industria algodonera de Lancashire. Discutió esa situación con funcionarios del ministerio del Trabajo y con otras personas. El ministerio está dispuesto a prestar sus servicios cuando sea oportuno para buscarle solución a la disputa obrera de que se habla.

Los Britanos Aflojan la Mano en Egipto

LONDRES, Agosto 6.—En la minuta del nuevo tratado angloegipcio, del que ha publicado hoy pormenores el ministerio de Relaciones, se tienen acordadas la desocupación militar británica del Egipto, salvo en la zona del Canal de Suez, y otras importantes y trascendentales reformas.

Las proposiciones que el nuevo tratado contiene son mucho más liberales que las que hasta aquí se habían hecho para la solución del problema angloegipcio, y se las considera hasta más favorables que las del proyecto de tratado de 1927, rechazado por el parlamento egipcio bajo la influencia de los secuaces del líder nacionalista Zaghoul Pasha. El convenio actual, negociado con Mohammed Pasha por Arthur Henderson, ministro de Relaciones, sigue las líneas generales del tratado que abortó hace dos años; pero hace importantes concesiones al Egipto.

La ocupación británica del país cesará, pues, y las tropas inglesas se retirarán a la zona del canal. El gobierno de la Gran Bretaña hará uso de su influencia para inducir a otras potencias a que renuncien a los derechos extraterritoriales, y ayudará a Egipto para que llegue a ser miembro de la Sociedad de Naciones.

Various Tubos Están Alimentando al Poderoso Zeppelín

LAKEHURST (Nueva Jersey), Agosto 6.—Por medio de unos veinte tubos, que se han introducido en la plateada armazón del dirigible Graf Zeppelin, y que silban y se retuercen a impulsos de hidrógeno y del combustible, se está alimentando la gran aeronave, a fin de poder reanudar su vuelo mañana y emprender el primer viaje alrededor del mundo intentado por un aparato más ligero que el aire.

El capitán de fragata Zeno Wicks, de la armada de los Estados Unidos, es el oficial encargado del abastecimiento de combustible al zeppelín. Dice que su tarea quedará terminada mañana, y todo estará listo para que el dirigible se ponga en marcha a media noche. El doctor Hugo Eckener, capitán de la aeronave, estuvo hoy en Nueva York; pero volverá mañana a medio día para dirigir los últimos preparativos del largo vuelo.

El Asaltante de Shuler Pagará su Multa

C. C. Stafford, comerciante en granos de Pasadena, pagará los $250 de la multa que le fue impuesta por el juez de paz Farrell, de Alhambra, a raíz de haber sido convicto de vías de hecho contra el Reverendo R. P. Shuler en El Monte, hace poco tiempo. Tal ha anunciado ayer Joseph Ford, defensor de Stafford, en la sala del juez municipal Ballard.

Cuando Ford hizo saber en el juzgado que su defenso no apelaría de la sentencia de Alhambra, el juez Ballard sobreseyó en la acusación por golpes contra Stafford. Este fue convicto de ese delito por el juzgado de Alhambra, después de haber oído testimonios que probaban que había golpeado a Shuler con los puños en una droguería de El Monte. A Shuler se le conoce por el mote de "el pastor de pelea".

Está pendiente en el juzgado superior un proceso contra Stafford por golpes que, se dice, infirió a su taquígrafo, y los comentarios que por radio hizo Shuler de ese proceso fueron los que determinaron las bofetadas que dio Stafford al conocido predicador.

Pronto se Inaugurará una Línea Aérea a Denver

El Mid-Continent Air Express, empresa afiliada con el Western Air Express, comenzará a trabajar por el día 20 del actual estableciendo un servicio de nueve horas entre esta ciudad y la de Denver. Tal anunciaron aquí ayer los directores de la primera compañía citada.

La Mid-Continent explotará dos líneas; una de Denver a Kansas City, y otra de Denver a El Paso, por Albuquerque. Habrá aviones diarios en ambas direcciones. Tomando el avión de la W.A.E., que sale de aquí todos los días, a las 5 a.m., para Kansas City, será posible llegar a Denver en nueve horas, trasbordando en Albuquerque. Así se economizan treinta y nueve horas, más o menos, de viaje, si se compara la vía aérea con la férrea.

Podrá irse de Los Angeles a Pueblo (Colorado) en ocho horas, y a Colorado Springs, en ocho y cuarto horas.

COUNCIL TODAY VOTES ON DRAKE

[illegible] Battle Expected on Police Board Appointee

Porter's New Resignation Policy Also Faced

Mayor's "Contact Man" Sees Victory Assured

[illegible] on the confirmation to the Police Commission of Francis Drake, who failed ten years ago to [illegible] the fire department unionized, will come before the Council today with the result in doubt, but with the prospect of a bitter battle on Mayor Porter's appointment.

Aside from Drake's labor union [illegible] in the past, the Councilmen are faced with the inauguration of a policy whereby the Mayor [illegible] the resignation of an appointee before submitting the nomination to Council.

This system was condemned in [illegible] terms Monday when Porter adherents went down to [illegible] defeat when they tried to [illegible] through the Drake confirmation.

HENNING PERPLEXED

Councilman Henning said he can[illegible] understand how a man can "throw away his self-respect" to such a degree as to resign before [illegible] a position, and Councilman [illegible] said it is obvious that [illegible] is safeguarding against [illegible] which might happen."

Councilman Cooke, in a clear exposition of the problem facing the [illegible] quoted from the charter and said Porter's system is a clear violation of the spirit, if not the letter of the charter, which gives Council a hand, not only in appointments but in removals.

In addition, Mr. Cooke said that [illegible] previous experience on the Fire Commission makes his [illegible] appointment unwise, and [illegible] the best interests of the [illegible].

STRONG FIGHT MADE

[illegible] strong efforts have been made by the Porter administration to induce the Council to [illegible] Drake, according to members of Council. Meanwhile, with [illegible] vacancies existing on city [illegible], Mayor Porter is submitting no more names, awaiting the outcome of the contest over [illegible].

According to Rev. R. P. Shuler, [illegible] Martin, the Mayor's "contact man" in Council, believes [illegible] "deliver" eight votes, or enough to assure the confirmation.

SHULER MAKES PLEA

Shuler in a final radio plea last night for his Police Commission [illegible] Drake, gave his hearers [illegible] notice of what he said was inside information about [illegible] for his favorite in [illegible] today. He announced [illegible] vote for confirmation. He [illegible] Davis, Webster, Henning, [illegible] Ingram as being against [illegible] being seated as a member of the Police Commission.

Having this he started in on what he termed the doubtful ones. He stated that Councilman Ja[illegible] has "almost broken his [illegible]." He accused him of "wobbling on the question." He said he had heard the Councilman was sick and will not appear at today's session of the Council.

"I [illegible] in his place tonight [illegible] medicine," Mr. Shuler [illegible], and then recommended [illegible] to be followed by some [illegible] without any alcohol in it, of [illegible]."

Fall Instantly Kills Carpenter

[illegible], a carpenter, 45 years of age, of 5419½ Denker avenue, was killed instantly yesterday when he missed his footing and plunged to the pavement from the [illegible] story of a building in course of construction at Wilshire [illegible] and St. Andrews Place. The accident occurred when he [illegible] stepped into space [illegible] as it arrived at the [illegible] level. The body was removed to the [illegible] Morgue.

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS TO HEAR FISK SINGERS

The [illegible] Singers will sing at the University of Southern California at the last assembly of the summer session tomorrow morning, according to President R. B. Von KleinSmid. The present group, a [illegible] quartet, is the third generation of these singers. It always been composed of graduates of Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn. Roland [illegible] formerly was a member.

GOVERNOR OF ARIZONA FLIES HERE

Comes to Southland for Visit With Daughter and Will Attend State Picnic

Gov. Phillips of Arizona flew into Los Angeles yesterday afternoon on his first air transport journey, had a few affairs of state in mind, inquired if the the weather here still is "unusual" and rushed away to his daughter's home in Wilmington for a week's vacation.

Mrs. Phillips was with her husband when they landed at the South Western avenue terminal of Standard Airlines and joined him in expressing pleasure over their flight from Phoenix, Ariz.

"I haven't much to say on the Colorado River project," Gov. Phillips said as his little grandson, Mickie Robbins, hung on to his neck. "Yes, my committee is holding sessions, but it feels it is not getting California's co-operation and I look for little action until next fall.

"Mexican immigration? Nothing new on it. That's just one of those questions we always have had and no doubt always will have.

"I'm just out here for a rest and I hope this 'unusual' weather of yours lets up to convince me that I wronged Mayor Porter by sending him that bottle of our Phoenix ozone."

Ruth Elizabeth Phillips and Mrs. J. S. Robbins, daughters of Gov. Phillips, were at the airport to meet their father. He and Mrs. Phillips will stop at Mrs. Robbins's home, 1264 Fries avenue, Wilmington, during their vacation.

Gov. Phillips is scheduled to attend the picnic of the Arizona Society of Southern California at Bixby Park, Long Beach, next Saturday, it was announced yesterday by Alfred Livingston, president.

Nix Postpones Action in Case Against Pyle

Action against C. C. Pyle, transcontinental bunion derby promoter, was postponed yesterday by City Prosecutor Nix until the 13th inst. when the promoter, after reiterating that he has no money with which to pay the labor claims against him, declared that he will assist the girls' band, members of which have filed most of the claims, to gain employment in motion pictures.

Pyle told Assistant Prosecutor Krowl that he intends to pay all of the claims against him, and will start to do so as soon as he obtains money.

COST MAPS SUBMITTED

City Engineer Shaw yesterday submitted to Council the assessment district maps for the improvement of Laurel Canyon Road between Pacoima avenue and Lookout Mountain Road, and for the Stoner avenue and Nebraska avenue district. They were referred to the Public Works Committee.

BATTLE FLEET'S EYES ON HOME

It Will Come Back to Harbor on the 31st Inst.

Greatest Tactical Training Program Scheduled

Aircraft Carriers Going to San Diego Next Week

The battle fleet, after being scattered to the limits of the Pacific Coast for the summer season, will return to the home base on the 31st inst. to begin the greatest tactical training program in its history. Review of the fleet here in mid-September by Secretary of the Navy Adams, spectacular co-ordination of air and surface forces in maneuvers and new developments in gunnery are highlights of the schedule to be closed on February 15, 1930, when the armada gets under way for New York, via the Panama Canal and Caribbean areas.

The aircraft carriers Saratoga and Lexington, which have remained here through the summer for gunnery and tactical training of their air squadrons, will go to San Diego next week for the annual air concentration exercises—climaxed about the 29th inst. by a spectacular show of more than 200 fighting planes in simultaneous flight. The two carriers, with all planes back aboard, will return to San Pedro about the 31st inst.

OTHERS TO RETURN

The battleship divisions, under Vice-Admiral Lucius A. Bostwick, will return from Puget Sound on that date, concluding five days of full-power runs, and divisional exercises en route from San Francisco.

Rear-Admiral T. Pickett Magruder, commanding the United States fleet base force, will precede the dreadnaught squadron home, arriving here aboard his flagship, the U.S.S. Procyon, on the 24th inst. to prepare anchorages and shore facilities for the returning armada. Other units of the base force will straggle in during the week.

Only five battleships will return on the 31st inst., the Maryland, Colorado, New Mexico, Mississippi and Idaho. The West Virginia and Tennessee, completing annual overhaul at the Puget Sound navy yard, will return during September, while the fleet flagship California, undergoing modernization at Puget Sound, will remain at the yard until October.

The fleet will remain at anchor at San Pedro for leave, liberty and machinery overhaul from the 31st inst. to September 9, when the regular fall gunnery program will get under way.

SCHEDULE LISTED

From September 9 to 20, the battleships will fire antiaircraft and short range battle practice, while from September 23 to October 4 night battle practices will be fired.

The squadron will remain at anchor from October 4 until November 4 for overhaul and athletic competitions. From November 4 until December 7 antiaircraft practices and fleet tactical exercises will be carried out, interspersed with visits to Armistice Day ports.

The Christmas-New Year holiday at-anchor period this season will run from December 8 to January 5, 1930, the longest since the fleet has been based on the coast. During the remainder of January, however, all forces will be busy in rehearsing and firing annual long-range battle practice and night battle practice "A." From February 1 to 14, the fleet will be at anchor, undergoing machinery overhaul and loading stores in preparation for the long cruise to the North Atlantic, from which it will not return until mid-June.

Imperial Valley Lines Reopened

Through traffic on the Southern Pacific's main line was resumed yesterday following two days' dislocation caused by floods in the Imperial Valley between Frink and Niland.

Announcement from the company's Los Angeles headquarters stated that the damage done by flood waters has been repaired and that regular schedules again are being maintained, reopening the Imperial Valley. The first train out of the flood-affected region was a shipment of perishables from Imperial Valley.

EQUITY POSTS FINES SCALE

Actors, Whether or Not Members of Union, Will be Penalized if Association Wins

That the Actors' Equity Association has been reduced to playing a game of bluff and bluster became apparent yesterday when an official announcement was made of a schedule of ruinous "fines" which it is proposed to levy on all screen players, whether they are members of Equity or not. That the move seems to be an attempt to scare motion-picture actors sufficiently to induce them to join the organization seemed obvious to those who read between the lines.

The official announcement, prominently displayed on the first page of the current issue of the Actors' Equity News of Hollywood, official organ for Equity here, reads verbatim as follows:

Instead of our list of suspended members, we publish in this issue the following penalties which have been recommended for adoption by our legal advisor, Paul Turner, and our president to both the Hollywood advisory board and the New York council of Equity:

For members of Equity who have signed or sign any contract subsequent to June 5, contrary to Equity instructions:

A fine equal to double the amount of earnings under such contract, and suspension for one year.

For those working by day, who have worked contrary to instructions:

A fine equal to the amount they have earned by so working during the period of this struggle, and suspension for four months.

For artists not being Equity members, but who have worked during this period:

Similar fines to the above in each group, and nonadmission to Equity for a period of one year in the first

LAWYER TO FACE SUIT BY WOMAN

Action for $75,000 Filed Against Rollin L. McNitt Who Tells Own Version

Rollin L. McNitt, prominent attorney and dean of the Southwestern Law School, yesterday was named defendant in a suit for $75,000 damages filed in Superior Court by Laura La Rock, private telephone exchange operator, who accuses McNitt of beating her and threatening to throw her out of the window on the eleventh floor of a downtown building.

The complaint is based on an episode asserted to have occurred July 20, last, when, according to the plaintiff, McNitt accused her of revealing his personal affairs to his wife.

The plaintiff asserts McNitt threw ice water on her besides beating her and threatening to throw her out of a window in his office. Attorney Earl Crandall prepared the complaint.

In reply to the charges McNitt last night said:

"This action is brought against me by a disgruntled employee whom I found it necessary to discharge.

"I am engaged in the conduct of some important litigation and it came to my attention several weeks ago that certain information which should have been considered confidential was leaking out of my office. I requested Miss La Rock to seek another position, offering to keep her on my pay roll for a reasonable length of time while she was doing so.

"She became indignant and excited. I ordered her to leave the switchboard, which she refused to do. As her language at the time was not the kind that should be heard by persons calling at my office, I thought it necessary to remove her, which I did."

Former Football Star Will Wed Miss Colegrove

Engagement of Jefferson N. Cravath, former football star at the University of California, who will coach at Denver University this coming season, and Margaret Colegrove, daughter of J. A. Colegrove, was announced yesterday.

Cravath lives at the Sigma Chi Fraternity house and the Colegrove residence is at 861 South Irolo street. She is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, at the University of Southern California.

The engagement of the couple was formally announced yesterday at a tea at the Los Angeles Country Club, given by Miss Evelyn Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Martin, 712 South Catalina street, and Miss Colegrove.

Old Sol Lets Up Trifle but Ally's Worse

There were just three reasons why Angelenos should have reduced their daily average of weather complaints yesterday, those reasons being three degrees less warmth in the rays of the sun as they shone on the city.

That is, according to United States Weather Bureau reports the highest hurdle the mercury accomplished was at 1:45 p.m., when it reached 88 deg., as compared with the 91 deg. of the day before. The lowest temperature for the day was 67 deg., just at dawn.

However, that dreaded humidity, which had dropped down on Monday to a fairly inoffensive percentage of 28, stirred from its lethargy and yesterday struggled back to 34 per cent, thus adding somewhat to the oppressiveness of the occasion.

Predictions for today, said the weather man, are fair and warm, but so fickle are the moods of August that he would not attempt to prognosticate beyond that. The next day may be a little cooler, he said; the signs indicate that there should be a slight relief in sight, but even so, it's all very doubtful and there's nothing to do but wait and see what happens.

State and City Auto Liability Law Attacked

A declaration that the act passed by the last Legislature holding the State, counties and cities liable for damages inflicted by their employees operating motor vehicles is unconstitutional was made by City Attorney Werner yesterday in a ruling submitted to the Finance Committee and read to Council.

Deputy City Attorney Neal told Council that undoubtedly suits will be filed after the law becomes effective, the 14th inst., whereupon the constitutionality of the act will be subjected to a test.

In addition to the invalidity of the act, the opinion, which was written by Deputy City Attorney Kitzmiller, states that it does not apply to this city.

NEW OFFICE ISSUING OPERATOR'S LICENSES

Additional offices to facilitate the issuance of operator's licenses have been established by the State Department of Motor Vehicles at the headquarters of the California Debeen established by the State Deber of Commerce. Representatives of the department will be on duty between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. and 2 and 4 p.m. daily in Room 204, William M. Garland Building, Ninth and Spring streets, to give the examination. Only renewals of licenses granted prior to January 1, 1927, will be made at this office.

WAR ON GAMBLERS OPENS

Fitts and Chief Davis Lay Plans for Drive and Prosecutions on Conspiracy Charges

Los Angeles gamblers who continue to operate in violation of the law, in the future will not be regarded simply as questionable sportsmen but will be prosecuted as criminals, Dist.-Atty. Fitts announced yesterday.

The announcement was made at the close of a conference with Chief of Police Davis, who sought the District Attorney's attitude in the preparation of evidence and the charges to be filed against gaming-house operators.

In the future, Fitts states, charges of conspiracy to violate the State gambling laws will be filed against defendants arrested for operating gambling houses. Police Chief Davis, it was understood at the conference, will direct his officers to follow this policy in conducting their raids and preparing evidence for use in court.

The new policy is based upon the successful prosecution of three Avalon men, one a police commissioner, who were convicted on a gambling conspiracy charge and sentenced in Superior Court ten days ago.

GHOST FAILS TO WALK, SO ACTORS RIDE

Manager of Yiddish Art Players, Facing Wage Row, Placates by Paying Bills

The "ghost" failed to walk Sunday night for eleven members of the Yiddish Art Players Company of New York, according to the story they told Monday to Deputy Labor Commissioner Barker, it was revealed yesterday. The actors lodged formal wage claims against Maurice Schwartz, actor-manager of the company, amounting to approximately $1500, Barker said.

The company, which for several weeks has presented a repertory of plays in Yiddish, first at the Mason and later at the Biltmore Theater, completed its engagement here Sunday night, an engagement which for patronage fell far short of the Yiddish director's expectations, he told the deputy commissioner.

Schwartz was given until 3 p.m. yesterday to bring documentary proof to the commissioner that all hotel bills had been paid for the actors, that each claimant had been furnished with a through ticket to New York and a ticket for a Pullman berth in addition to sufficient money to pay his or her expenses en route. Yesterday at the appointed hour, Schwartz, Barker said, furnished him with satisfactory proof that the commission's orders had been carried out. Schwartz further assured Barker that each member of the company will be paid in full upon arrival in New York.

Dropping of Bus Line Unopposed

Application of the Pacific Electric Company to discontinue operation of motor coaches within the corporate limits of Santa Ana was taken under submission by Examiner Handford of the State Railroad Commission here yesterday following hearing of oral arguments.

The application was not opposed. It was urged by representatives of the Pacific Electric that, despite the granting by the Railroad Commission of fare increases from time to time since 1923, the motor busses have been operating at a loss.

PAVING PLAN CONSIDERED

Council yesterday referred to the City Engineer and Public Works Committee a petition asking for the paving of Lark Court at Glenalbyn Drive, which is to be combined with the Glenalbyn Drive and Glenalbyn Way improvement district.

CAPPER LAUDS AID OF STATE

California Men and Methods Help Agriculture

Farmers' Future Brighter, Speaker Declares

Hoover and Teague Given Special Praise

Agriculture, the basic industry of the country, will come into its own and California is providing the nucleus of both men and methods for the first comprehensive government move to bring this about, Senator Capper of Kansas declared before a large company of business men at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon in the Biltmore yesterday. He gave specific credit for the industry's brightest prospects in years directly to President Hoover and C. C. Teague, two Californians, and to the co-operative association idea developed in this State.

Senator Capper cautioned against the idea that a magic wand is to be waved at Washington whereupon agriculture immediately will be set on a pedestal. He also cautioned against believing that the Federal farm relief law just enacted is the last and perfect word in remedial plans. But he did say:

"After seekers for farm relief almost had despaired of help and thought that it had been just about eight years of hot air in Washington this legislation was enacted under a Californian, a man with a western viewpoint.

CALIFORNIA PLAN

"It has laid out a plan on a sound and practical system of economics that California has made use of for years, the co-operative movement. You have been leaders in this for years. Of course, there have been and there will be failures but progress has been made. You have blazed the way.

"Agriculture is just coming into its own. It is facing its brightest prospects. I will not say that this legislation will solve all its problems. But it is the start for a great constructive agricultural policy for this nation. Its morale and its psychology, its courage and its optimism have been brightened already."

Senator Capper said that President Hoover "did a fine thing when he drafted that Californian, Charles C. Teague (who by the way came from Kansas.) "He has pioneered." the Senator continued, "in the great co-operative movement and I doubt if there is a man in the entire country who knows as much about it as he. President Hoover got him by drafting him.

GENIUSES DRAFTED

"It is an inspiring thing," said the speaker at this point, "to know that the geniuses who have made business and industry in this country so outstanding can be drafted by President Hoover to give the public the benefit of their fine knowledge and experience, so that such great leaders can be got to take up the problems of government."

Agriculture lagged, he said, heretofore because it lacked intelligent leaders and he blamed the farmers somewhat for this because of what he said was their suspicion against each other which hindered efforts to organize them. Now, he said, they are to be helped on the principle of getting them to organize themselves "so that they can have more control over their own business, especially some control over the marketing of their products so that they may get just reward for their investment and labor." As the situation has stood, the speaker said, the farmer got but $1 of each $3 that the consumer has paid for farm products.

FARMER NEEDS AID

Senator Capper said that in the coming Congressional action on the tariff "it is important so see that the farmer gets his fair share of protection—he has not got it in the past." California, he said, is "probably entitled to all that it is asking in tariff revision." He cautioned, however, against going too high with duties.

The Senator called upon business men everywhere to take a most active part in government affairs and not to hesitate in letting Congress know how they feel on matters concerned in proposed legislation. He indulged in many pleasantries regarding California and Kansas and heaped compliments upon California and Californians.

Vice-President John C. Austin of the chamber, who presided at the luncheon, pointed out that the Senator once was Governor of Kansas, has been a farm magazine publish-

LOCAL FREIGHT RISE FOUGHT

Railways' Stand on Rates to Suburban Cities Attacked by Manufacturers Affected

Strong opposition to the efforts of railroads serving local territory to obtain an increase in freight rates to Glendale, Burbank and Alhambra developed at the hearing yesterday of the railroads' application before the State Railroad Commission. Manufacturers located in the three affected cities, together with Chamber of Commerce representatives, joined forces in an attack on the applications of the Southern Pacific, Santa Fe, Union Pacific and Pacific Electric railroads seeking to have "proportional per car" rates apply only in combination with line haul rates published as to or from Los Angeles.

The railroads urged before Commissioner Carr that at the time of the original publication of the rates it was intended that the rates apply only as proportional rates in combination with local or joint-line haul rates, but not in combination with other proportional rates named between the points involved. It is asserted that through improper tariff publication the intention was not clearly expressed and the rates have been applied in combinations with one another by some of the applicants, resulting in lower rates than were intended.

Representatives of Glendale, Alhambra and Burbank strenuously opposed the changes sought, declaring that industries now located within their boundaries could not longer operate on a profitable basis were the increase to be granted by the Railroad Commission. Among opponents to the applications of the railroads were Warren Wert, traffic manager for C. F. Braun & Co.,

THE State Department of Public Health is polite enough to pretend to be surprised. But I imagine that it isn't really paralyzed with astonishment to discover that the modern flapper is a better mother than her grandma—not to speak of her mother.

She may be baked to the color of a Senegambian; she doesn't wear any clothes that can be discovered at first glance; she talks about things that would make a bartender blush; she is a rowdy and ain't got no manners; but the American flapper is the most remarkable woman who has ever inhabited the earth.

There is more going on in her cranial cavity than ever disturbed any other generation of women.

CROWN JEWELS

If kings ever come back to Europe they will have a hard time scratching together enough jewelry for a respectable set of crowns. In self-defense the future kings will have to marry the daughters of American oil barons in order to get the necessary "ice."

The crown jewels of Austria seem to have scattered among thieves in a dozen lands. The crown jewels of Russia are for sale.

NERVE NEEDED

My idea of the summit and consummation of human impudence would be these two acts: Making a speech in the underground "cathedral" of the Carlsbad Caverns, which nature has spent 60,000,000 years in hollowing out by the drip of many waters; and wearing the crown jewels of imperial Russia to a party.

THE AMBASSADOR COMES

Trade follows the flag; but friendship and understanding follow the tin can. The tin can is the real dove of peace.

These profound observations are inspired by the visit of the Chile Ambassador to Los Angeles. Before the World War there were no parts of the world more remote from one another in thought and sympathy than North and South America. In the brief years since, we have become the best customer and the most favored seller to Chile. And, it naturally follows, the most sympathetic and understanding neighbor.

STEAM ENDED IT

Steam, in some mysterious way, interrupted our friendships with South America. In the old clipper ship days California was very close to Chile and Peru. As also to Hawaii and the Philippines—even China.

The arrival of the ships of old Jose Aguirre with lace from Peru and silks from China were gala events in the life of early-day California society.

Steam ended it; gasoline will revive it. A motor highway to South America is an absolute certainty of the future. Col. Lindbergh's airship already has staked out the sky route under the Southern Cross.

MADE TO ORDER

Mrs. Howard Willett is returning to Chicago to try making a California garden on the top of a skyscraper roof. Gosh! The lady will discover that a California garden is part climate and part the setting with the mountains for background. She might as well try to build a Yosemite Valley. I have a California garden whose charm lies in the violet haze that always envelops it. Gunpowder smoke is all the haze she will be able to find in Chicago.

Actor Questioned in Foster Murder Case Fails to Throw New Light on Crim

ANONYMOUS TIP HELD BASELESS

Death Car License Number Traced to Player

Lew Harvey, Friend of Dead Man, Exonerated

Miss Taylor Recalled for Checking of Story

After several hours of questioning in connection with the recent killing of Frank A. Foster, wealthy manufacturer, Lew Harvey, 43-year-old film actor, taken in custody earlier in the day as the result of anonymous information, last night was completely exonerated of complicity and the murder remains an unsolved mystery.

Harvey, who lives at 1933 North Bronson avenue, Hollywood, was released following questioning by Captain of Detectives Cato and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Matthews, who reported he had convinced them he was unable to shed any light on the slaying, despite circumstances which at first indicated prospects to the contrary. These, they ruled, were purely matters of coincidence.

RESEMBLANCE SEEN

One of the circumstances was, according to the officers, that Miss Beth Taylor, pretty companion of Foster and sole eyewitness of the tragedy, told them Harvey resembled one of the two men who are being sought. The resemblance was confined principally to his dark hair, parted in the middle, a characteristic which the girl fastened upon one of the escaped slayers immediately after the murder.

The second was that Harvey admitted having been personally acquainted with the dead man.

Harvey was subjected to interrogation as the result of a written unsigned tip to police that an automobile bearing license No. 7-S-9738 had been observed speeding away from the scene of the murder a moment after the shot had been fired.

Detective-Lieutenants James and Brown traced ownership of the machine to the actor through James Mulhauser of 1775 North Orange Drive, to whom it was registered but who explained he had only been the "dummy" in the sale transaction and that the car actually was Harvey's property.

ALIBI ESTABLISHED

At the end of the questioning, which occupied a major part of the afternoon, Cato and Matthews announced Harvey had accounted satisfactorily for all his movements on the night Foster was killed.

Investigation of the murder was further reopened yesterday when Miss Taylor was asked to repeat her version of the killing under oath before Investigator Matthews of the District Attorney's office.

The move was decided upon, according to Capt. Cato, because police have noted discrepancies in Miss Taylor's previous recitals of the details of her friendship with Foster and of events attended by them together.

STORY UNCHANGED

Following her visit to the District Attorney's office, accompanied by Capt. Cato, it was announced, however, that her version of the killing remained unchanged; namely that two strange men ordered Foster to get out of his car and shot him to death as he complied. Capt. Cato stated the District Attorney's office will now be expected to examine the Hollywood stenographer's story for any discrepancies or other factors that might warrant further investigation.

It became known yesterday that for three days Miss Taylor technically has been under arrest in custody of Policewoman Dinuzzo on orders from Capt. Cato. No charges have been filed against her, however, nor has she been detained from going to and from her hotel room in Hollywood as she has pleased.

Three more suspects were taken in custody for questioning yesterday following the receipt of anonymous tips to police; but all were released when Miss Taylor failed to identify any of the trio.

Mrs. Dorothy Foster, widow of the slain sportsman, attended funeral services of her estranged husband yesterday afternoon at Edwards Brothers funeral parlors. She was accompanied by the Fosters' 2-year-old daughter, Gay, and Mrs. Foster's mother, with whom she is residing at 6660 Whitley Terrace, Hollywood.

Foster's body was placed in a receiving vault at Forest Lawn Cemetery, pending directions from Toronto for final disposal of the body, a representative of the local mortuary said last night.

Mrs. Foster, however, will remain in Hollywood with her mother, the latter stated. The widow was prostrated with grief last night.

PAIR MUST FACE TRIAL AS BANDITS

Youths Ordered Held on Nine Felony Counts at Preliminary Hearing

James W. Winn, 22 years of age, of 2624 Redondo Boulevard, and Alvin Cuthers, 20, of 1324 Maple avenue, asserted boy bandits, were ordered held under $5000 bail each to await trial by Superior Court on nine felony counts following their preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge Stafford yesterday. Winn also was ordered held on two additional robbery counts under an additional $5000 bail. The counts on which the two youths were held are six of robbery, two of assault with intent to commit murder and one of attempted robbery.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Bialock called as his chief witness L. A. Varinecke, operator of a service station at 1573 West Forty-seventh street. Varinecke testified that he grappled with a hold-up man, whom he identified as Winn and, after being shot through the arm, succeeded in subduing him. Cuthers fled, but was captured later by police, witnesses testified.

Other witnesses told of a bandit reign over the southwestern part of the city which ended when the youths were captured. Charges against Emmett Baker, 631 North Heliotrope Drive, owner of the car used by the youths in their asserted robberies, were dismissed by Judge Stafford when Baker was able to prove that he did not know the purpose to which they were applying the machine.

W. H. Fairbanks Awarded Medal for War Service

For exceptionally meritorious and distinguished services as a signal officer of the Fifth Army Corps in active operations in the St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne offensives in 1918, Lieut.-Col. William H. Fairbanks of Los Angeles is to receive the Distinguished Service Medal Award, according to word received from the War Department in Washington.

WILLIAM H. FAIRBANKS

Col. Fairbanks has gone to the Del Monte Presidio where the presentation of the medal will be made by Col. Roger Fitch, Eleventh Cavalry commanding officer. During the war, Col. Fairbanks was a major of the Signal Corps, United States Army, commanding the Fifty-fifth Telegraph Battalion, and between August, 1918, and November, 1918 while in action on the front Col. Fairbanks performed notable services in the offensives against the enemy.

The citation further states that Col. Fairbanks "displayed superior professional attainments and exceptional ability and devotion to duty in maintaining the communications of the Fifth Army Corps, under the most difficult conditions."

This is the second medal for distinguished services that Col. Fairbanks has received. The first was the Philippine Medal of Honor awarded to him during the Spanish American War when he served as a sergeant in Company D, First Washington Volunteer Infantry in the Luzon campaign of the Philippine insurrection.

Col. Fairbanks is manager of transportation for the Southern California Telephone Company, and has under his supervision a corps of 800 motor vehicles and 200 special units. He has been connected with the telephone company and its predecessors for the past twenty-seven years.

Too Few Baths and Shaves Get Divorce Blame

Mrs. Florence Ellis, loathed whiskers and her husband, Thomas J. Ellis, refused to shave, or take a bath, she told Superior Judge Gould yesterday, when granted a divorce.

Mrs. Ellis also complained that when the San Gabriel River overflowed its banks in 1927 and water was coming into the Ellis home, her husband refused to aid her and she was compelled to build a raft herself and save herself.

The wife also declared that Ellis quit work as a foreman on State highway work to build a racing car, which he entered in the races at Ascot; that all he got out of the race was $3 and lost his job. She said that as a result of the race she and her husband's finances got so low that debts piled up and she was beset with bill collectors, all of which caused her great mental anguish.

The couple were married at Tujunga on April 12, 1924, and separated on February 20, 1927.

Negro Actor Compromises Suit for Balm

Compromise of the $100,000 breach of promise suit against Lincoln Theodore Perry, negro motion-picture actor known as Stepan Fetchit, was recorded in Superior Judge McComb's court yesterday, when Perry agreed to pay the plaintiff $2500 cash and $50 a week for 50 weeks.

The plaintiff, Yvonne Butler, through her attorney, Charles W. Cradick, asserted Perry promised to marry her and then he wed another. Because she is under age, the plaintiff, with her mother, Aletha Weston was in Judge McComb's court to have the settlement contract approved.

HICKMAN CASE FIASCO HINTED

Ex-Officer Declares Suspect Was Seized and Freed

Report Torn Up on Orders of Superiors, He Asserts

Shirley Story Minimized by ex-Chief Cline and Cato

William Edward Hickman, executed slayer of little Marion Parker, was arrested on Grand avenue in this city within two hours after he had turned the mutilated body of his victim over to the child's father, according to a report before Judge Hardy yesterday in the case of Clifton M. Shirley, who was in court on a charge of possession of a machine gun.

The sensational statement was contained in Shirley's application for probation, in which he blamed his troubles on the machine-gun charge in part to differences he had had with his superior officers during the time he was employed as a policeman.

Shirley was quoted in the report as saying that at about 1:30 a.m. the night Hickman delivered the Parker girl's body he arrested Hickman and took him to the police station, where, the report continued, he was questioned for a short period and then released.

STORY REPUDIATED

Repudiation of Shirley's assertion that he took Hickman into custody and that the murderer was let go was made last night by Herman Cline, former chief of detectives, and by Capt. Ray Cato, head of the homicide division. Both officers gave Shirley credit for locating the automobile which Hickman used, a car stolen from a Kansas City physician and later abandoned to steal another machine after the Marion Parker murder.

Cline said that Shirley found the car in the course of his routine checking up on cars reported stolen. The former chief of detectives added that detectives were staked out near the parking yard, but that Hickman did not return. Both Cline and Cato assert that Hickman's detailed confession bears out their version and contradicts Shirley's testimony.

In writing a report of Hickman's arrest, the statement quotes Shirley as saying, he was ordered by his superior officers to change it and consequently tore up his first report and wrote another to meet the approval of his superiors.

Shirley also was quoted as saying that he located the car used by Hickman to deliver the Parker girl's body a short while after the child's mutilated form had been thrown into the street, but that police headquarters did not send a fingerprint expert to examine the car until the next morning.

Shirley pleaded guilty several days ago in Judge Hardy's court to a charge of possessing a Thompson semiautomatic gun, construed by the authorities to be a machine gun. It was brought out in the probation officers' report that such a gun had been stolen from Shirley's place of business at 7020 Wilshire Boulevard, by George Wonderlich, who later was taken into custody on a burglary charge. It also was reported a gun similar to one asserted to have been possessed by Shirley was found in the home of a known gangster now said to be a fugitive from justice.

GUN SALES REPORTED

Shirley, it was said, had sold two of the so-called machine guns to the Tia Juana authorities. A mention of the hold-up several months ago of the Agua Caliente money car was made in the report, but there was nothing in the document to show that any of the guns obtained from Shirley were used in this robbery.

Shirley, who is 33 years of age and a World War veteran, came into possession of the guns by virtue of his license as an agent for the California Arms Company. According to the probation report, he was deputized as a special deputy sheriff and sold several guns to members of the police and Sheriff's departments. He told the probation officer he believed the Thompson gun was a legal weapon in California and was not aware of the fact that the gun had been construed as a machine gun by the authorities. Judge Hardy granted Shirley probation for a period of three years, subject to the usual conditions.

Shirley, according to the probation report, served for some time as a police officer here and finally was dismissed for being absent without leave. The report stated that the police records showed there were a number of complaints, and at the same time, a number of compliments, on the way he had handled several arrests during his service as a police officer.

The Thompson gun, according to the report, cannot be construed to be a "sporting" gun, but undoubtedly is designed for "use against humans."

er for years, is head of the Senate Agriculture Committee and otherwise has distinguished himself in many ways, especially in the conservation of forests.

Gov. Young welcomed Senator Capper to California and said President Hoover is fortunate in having so fine a type of man to help him in national affairs, especially agricultural problems. Mayor Porter extended him an invitation to visit the City Hall and welcomed him to the city.

CHAMBER PRAISED

The Senator said he came here principally for a vacation but that he has spent most of the time looking into how California co-operative agricultural associations have worked out. He said he has not been here since fourteen years ago and utterly is amazed at the extent of development since that date.

He paid a particularly graceful compliment to the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce saying that of all the chambers of commerce in the land, he knows of none in a great city that has done anything like what the Angeleno one has done for the agriculture industry and that it has done a very fine thing in interesting so many city business and industrial leaders in the problems of agriculture.

case, and for four months in the case of day workers.

This means that, if Equity succeeds in getting control of the film industry here, every actor and actress who has not supported that effort practically will be put out of business. Those who have signed contracts contrary to Equity's orders since June 5—and these number some 600 players—will have to pay Equity twice the face value of the contract in cash and will be barred from their profession for a year. If they do not pay they will be barred forever.

Those working by the day, without contracts, will have to pay over every cent they have made during such employment and will not be allowed to work for four months.

This order applies to both Equity and non-Equity members, which means, of course, that it can be enforced only in the event Equity is victorious to a point where it is able to dictate to the producers who shall and who shall not be employed—in other words, a 100 per cent Equity unionization of the industry where no player may work at all unless he or she takes out Equity membership.

UNFAVORABLE REACTION

There was an immediate and unfavorable reaction to what was termed a tyrannical attempt to force independent players into line and it was pointed out that 100 per cent "equitazation" which such a rule presupposes is not likely to be achieved by any such method of bluster and threats.

The third of what appears to be a series of conferences between representatives of the Association of Motion Picture Producers and the Actors' Equity Association to discuss demands being made for the placing of "Equity shop" in Hollywood was conducted yesterday.

Producers who attended the meeting as well as Equity representatives continued to guard their activities in the deepest of secrecy. It was said at Equity headquarters no announcement is to be made to members of the association until such a time as a decision or agreement is reached.

A fourth meeting between the producers and the Equity committee is scheduled for today. Whether the fact that so many conferences are being held indicates a deadlock or that the demands will be arbitrated amicably neither producers nor Equity representatives would say yesterday.

Universal Planes Reach Immense Mileage Total

Planes of the Universal Aviation Corporation, pioneer air transportation system of the Aviation Corporation of America group, have just passed the 3,000,000 mark in total miles flown, according to traffic figures released yesterday by H. J. McNally, assistant general traffic manager of the midwestern air line.

The figures were made public through the local offices of Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, who recently resigned her government office to accept the post of chief legal counsel to the aviation corporation.

Universal planes now are flying 11,000 miles each day, McNally's figures show. Universal's air-rail service to the East is via Western Air Express, Santa Fe, Universal Air Lines and the New York Central.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE ANNOUNCED

A free Christian Science lecture will be delivered the 15th inst. at 8 p.m., in Thirteenth Church of Christ, Scientist, 1750 North Edgemon street, by Arthur P. De Camp, C.S.B., of St. Louis, member of the board of lectureship of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston.

HON. CARLOS DAVILA, Chilean Ambassador to the United States, delivered a message to his own countrymen yesterday through the medium of a sound picture taken of him at the studio of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, in Culver City, where he was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by Louis B. Mayer.

It was announced that the Ambassador's brief speech will be sent to Chile to introduce talking-films in that nation. As yet no theater is equipped for them, but the installation is under way.

"With my deepest emotion I acknowledge the courtesy of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in permitting me to talk with my countrymen and be in touch with them almost as in personal conversation," runs a translation of his words, spoken in Spanish.

VOICES THANKS

"I want to use this opportunity also to express in front of my Chilean friends, all our gratitude to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and to the organizations and people of Los Angeles for their bounteous courtesies and attentions that have been extended to the commander, officers and sailors of La Baquedano (the training ship of Chile,) and for myself, which have made us feel as much at home in California as in our native land."

Registration of the sound film took place following luncheon in the executive bungalow. The fact that several of the men of the Chilean navy present could not speak English heightened merriment invoked by efforts at conversation and entertainment.

AT THE LUNCHEON

John G. Mott presided at the luncheon and introduced Commander Edgardo von Schroeders, "gallant skipper of La Baquedano," as he termed him, and Ambassador Davila, "who feels a sympathetic touch and a spirit of kinship for Californians because of cherished traditions, common to both countries."

Last evening Mr. Mott entertained the Ambassador and his party at his Spanish hacienda, "La Boquita," located near the Crags Country Club.

This morning the Chilean visitors will be guests of the Breakfast Club.

A number of witnesses were in readiness yesterday to prove the railroad companies' contentions through testimony. The first witness was C. M. Bell of San Francisco, commerce agent for the Southern Pacific. He testified that rates as proposed between Los Angeles and suburban cities are effective throughout the entire Southern Pacific system elsewhere, with the exception of the San Francisco Bay region, where water competition has forced a reduction, he said.

The hearing will occupy two or three days, it was said.

ASSESSMENTS COME UP IN COUNCIL TODAY

Council today will consider confirmation of assessments for the improvement of Tyrone avenue between Kittridge street and Bessemer street, the improvement of Selma avenue between Gower street and Highland avenue, the improvement of Pontius avenue between Missouri and Mississippi avenues, the lighting of Beverly Boulevard between Commonwealth and Juanita avenues, and the lighting of Patricia avenue between Pico Boulevard and Draper avenue. Council also will take under consideration the ordinance rezoning from Zone A to Zone B property in Elmwood avenue between Van Ness and Norton avenues.

USE OF GAS IN MURDER PLOT DENIED

Whittier Woman on Trial Accused of Attempting to Kill Grandmother

Charged with attempting to murder her grandmother, Irene Johnson, 29 years of age, went on trial yesterday before Superior Judge Hardy.

The State charges Miss Johnson disconnected a gas hose May 12, last, in the room of her grandmother, Mrs. Sarah J. McDonald, 80, of 315 South Pickering street, Whittier. Whittier police reported that the gas hose led from the kitchen of Mrs. McDonald's home into the elderly woman's room, where the open end of the hose had been propped up on a chair near Mrs. McDonald's bed.

Miss Johnson denied any knowledge of the asserted attempt on her grandmother's life. She elected to have a trial by court and most of the court session yesterday was consumed in taking the testimony of Mrs. McDonald at the latter's Whittier home. It was reported Mrs. McDonald is too feeble to appear in court for examination. The trial will proceed today.

POISON PROVES FATAL TO REAL ESTATE MAN

Poison yesterday ended the life of Ernie Liebke, 52 years of age, a real estate man of 4400 Avocado street, who swallowed the draught on Sunday in a fit of despondency over financial trouble. He died in Hollywood Hospital.

Young Mother, Once Thin, Weak, Gains 5 Lbs. and New Strength

Change Hollows to Curves in Few Weeks with New IRONIZED YEAST—or Pay Nothing

Mrs. George Decker and Daughter

"I gained 5 lbs. while taking IRONIZED YEAST. That means a lot as my parents are thin. What I prize most is the difference in the way I feel and the 'pep' I have. Before I took IRONIZED YEAST I had to have a girl to help me with any hard work, but now do all my housecleaning alone and help my mother too."—Mrs. George Decker, Kingsley, Pa.

Get Lovely Admired Curves

People gain 5 to 15 pounds in a few weeks. Skinny limbs round into chubby curves. Pimply skin clears up. Tired feeling vanishes.

Why IRONIZED YEAST Works so Quickly

IRONIZED YEAST is two tonics in one. Weight building YEAST and 3 kinds of blood-enriching IRON. The Yeast is Violet Rayed to increase weight-building values. We concentrate it so that 12 cakes of raw, live YEAST make only 1/2 CAKE of the concentrate which goes into IRONIZED YEAST. You can easily see why each small tablet of this new IRONIZED YEAST gives you quick, EXTRA, weight-building results through this [illegible] concentration.

Only when Yeast is Ironized is it most effective; for blood-enriching Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building, strengthening values of Yeast. Pleasant tablets. No "yeasty" taste. No gas or bloating.

Try It on Money-Back Offer

Go to any druggist today. Get a full size treatment of IRONIZED YEAST. If, after this generous trial, you are not delighted, get your money back—from druggist or manufacturer.

MRS. CUMMINGS GIVEN DIVORCE

Five-Year Litigation Brought to Conclusion Here

Vaudeville Actor and Wife Made Many Charges

Two States' Supreme Courts Involved in Case

Litigation that has been going on for five years, carried up to both the Supreme Court of California and the Supreme Court of New York, caused by the marital troubles of Frank Cummings, vaudeville actor, and his wife, Lulu, ended here yesterday, when an interlocutory decree of divorce was entered on the wife's cross-complaint. The decree was signed by Superior Judge Gould, who held a hearing on the husband's petition and the wife's cross-complaint several days ago.

Mrs. Cummings, who is in New York with her two daughters, Amy Cummings, 9 years of age, and Elinore Cummings, 6, did not come to Los Angeles to prosecute her case. She was represented by Attorneys Harrah, Louis & Quillan, who presented her side of the action with her petition and with depositions.

The troubles between Cummings, who is known on the vaudeville stage as Frank Wilson, and his wife, began in New York five years ago, when she filed a suit for separate maintenance. Mrs. Cummings set up in her complaint that she and the actor were married in New York on September 3, 1919, and that he deserted her and their two children on May 16, 1925.

The wife was given the judgment after which the husband carried the case up to the appellate. The higher court affirmed the ruling of the lower court. Cummings, however, by this time was on the west coast.

Following the ruling of the Supreme Court of New York, Mrs. Cummings caused to be filed a civil suit in the courts of California asking for a money judgment against her husband amounting to $8000. She won and Cummings, as in the New York case, carried the case up to the Supreme Court of California. The California high court af-

Five-Year Litigation Brought to Conclusion Here

Vaudeville Actor and Wife Trade Many Charges

Two States' Supreme Courts Involved in Case

Litigation that has been going on for five years, carried up to both the Supreme Court of California and the Supreme Court of New York, caused by the marital troubles of Frank Cummings, vaudeville actor, and his wife, Lulu, ended yesterday, when an interlocutory decree of divorce was entered on the wife's cross-complaint. The decree was signed by Superior Judge Gould, who held a hearing on the husband's petition and the wife's cross-complaint several days ago.

Mrs. Cummings, who is in New York with her two daughters, Amy Cummings, 9 years of age, and [illegible] Cummings, 6, did not come to Los Angeles to prosecute her case. She was represented by Attorneys Harrah, Louis & Quillan, who presented her side of the action with her petition and with depositions.

The troubles between Cummings, who is known on the vaudeville stage as Frank Wilson, and his wife, began in New York five years ago when she filed a suit for separate maintenance. Mrs. Cummings set up in her complaint that she and the actor were married in New York on September 3, 1919, and that he deserted her and their two children on May 16, 1925.

The wife was given the judgment after which the husband carried the case up to the appellate. The higher court affirmed the ruling of the lower court. Cummings, however, by this time was on the west coast.

Following the ruling of the Supreme Court of New York, Mrs. Cummings caused to be filed a civil suit in the courts of California asking for a money judgment against her husband amounting to $5000. She won and Cummings, as in the New York case, carried the case up to the Supreme Court of California. The California high court affirmed the ruling of the lower court and Cummings settled the judgment with costs and interest.

Following the settlement of the civil case, the actor then brought suit against his wife in Los Angeles asking for a divorce on the grounds of desertion. She filed a cross-complaint in which she accused him of mistreating her and asking her to be untrue to him so that he could get a divorce.

After hearing the case, chiefly by depositions, Judge Gould granted the wife a decree on her cross-complaint.

IOWA PICNIC TO LURE 125,000

Golden Wedding Party Will be New Feature of Reunion Saturday

The Iowa Association of Southern California plans to care for 125,000 Haweyes at the annual summer all-day reunion at Bixby Park, Long Beach, Saturday.

A new feature will be the golden wedding party. This includes every couple which has lived in Iowa and has been married fifty years or more. They will be the guests of the Iowa Association and will be seated on the platform.

All other picnic attractions will be offered.

Spouse Makes Rush to Court and Wins Divorce

Lawrence P. Viscarra showed his wife Berenice a picture of the "other woman." When she asked him who she was he told her it was none of her business, she asserted yesterday before Superior Judge Warne when asking for a divorce.

"He often boasted to me of his conquests with other women," the wife declared, "and when I complained he told me he was not going to be tied to any one woman, and if I didn't like it I could pack my trunk and get out." A decree was granted.

Jubilee at Bowl Will Have Noted Performers

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

KFWB has two events today which will be of more than passing interest. Between the hours of 8 and 9:30 a.m. the station will broadcast from the Breakfast Club, which is holding a joint meeting with the Radio Trades Association of Southern California.

Gov. Young, Carlos Davila, Ambassador from Chile; V. Valdez, Chilean Consul in Los Angeles; Senator Capper of Kansas, the commander of the visiting Chilean man o' war, and others will all be honor guests.

MONSTER REVUE

Four local broadcasters are scheduled to provide the entertainment features.

The Hollywood midsummer jubilee from the Bowl also will be on the air via KFWB from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m. The publicity scribe of the station follows Barnum's footsteps by using the adjectives, "monster, mammoth, staggering, extraordinary," in describing the event.

Whiteman and his band, the Los Angeles Grand Opera chorus, South Pasadena Legion drum corps, Belle Baker, Moran and Mack, Elsie Janis, Clara Bow, Baclanova, Stephin Fetchit, Jack Benny, Polly Moran, Benny Rubin, Duncan sisters, Warner Brothers' 125-piece orchestra, Ceballos and 100 chorus beauties, Nick Lucas and scores of others are billed for the revue.

KHJ HOUR

KHJ, the Don Lee station, presents its 7 o'clock hour tonight as the program best designed to tickle the musical palate of listeners-in. The broadcast will include vocal and instrumental numbers, including symphonic arrangements of the "Peer Gynt" suite, "Ting-a-Ling," "Nocturne," "Regimental Song," from "White Eagle," and others.

Dr. Carl Omeron, tenor, will sing "Hills of Home," one of the most popular ballads of recent years from the pen of Oscar Fox. The two hours commencing at 8 o'clock will originate in the San Francisco studios of KFRC.

CHAIN FEATURES

KMTR at 4 p.m. will parade an imposing array of microphone talent on a chain feature, with Sydney Dixon, tenor; Anne Billings, contralto, the Varsity Quartet and an instrumental group.

"Indian Dawn," by the quartet; "My Love, Celia," by the tenor, and "Tes Yuez," by the soprano, will be some of the numbers.

"Finale," from Tchaikovsky's "Symphony No. 4," and Gruenfeld's "Romance" will be among the interesting numbers to be played by a New York orchestra through KFI at 6:30 o'clock.

The Tchaikovsky composition is based on the Russian folk tune, "In the Field There Stood a Birch Tree." "Romance" is the work of a Bohemian pianist who has won honors with an opera and an operetta.

HOMEMADE SHAMPOO

Castile soap may be chipped, water added and cooked into a soft soap jelly. Then you are all ready for a pure and cleansing shampoo at home. What is not used may be bottled and kept until needed.

Today's Bible Text

But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us. Romans v:8.

KEEP COOL

Man dropped dead while puzzling himself over the queries in filling out his application blank for an auto driver's license. There may be others, but the explanation will be that such nervous folk shouldn't drive a car, anyhow.

REDUCTION MADE EASY

Recently a fat man reduced sixty-five pounds in forty-five days on fruit juices. But he had just gone into bankruptcy and possibly this had something to do with his reduced circumstances. It is easy to shrink if you lack the price of a meal.

FRESH BLOOD

Even if Bill Tilden goes gray the game of tennis will still carry on and America will not be without champions. The young blood is not to be passed over lightly. These collegiate sparklers, Van Ryn and Allison, proved mighty disturbing to the vaunted French musketeers.

A GOOD SON

Max Schmeling, the heavyweight hope of German fisticuffs, is said to be uncommonly good to his folks. His first scrap was for a $20 purse and when he won it he sent half the money to his mother by telegraph. He has been doing this ever since and now that he is rounding up some of the big dough in this country the wire to Berlin is likely to break down with its load.

SET AT NAUGHT

Even when he is sitting on the sidelines Calvin Coolidge doesn't like the idea of government by minorities or attempts at dictation by blocs. When the few combine to set aside the will of the many the massed citizenship of the nation is not having a square deal. It should be able to correct the condition, but political technicians are sometimes able to keep the barriers up for quite a while.

THE PUBLIC PARKS

Up to the first of this month over 236,000 tourists had drifted into Yosemite Park this season by motor car. Also it is found that each auto will bring an average of more than three persons. There is no denying the fact that the motor industry has been the great factor in bringing Americans into an intimate knowledge of Uncle Sam's parking places. All the national parks are flecked with travelers in their automobiles.

WAR AND POLITICS

The Mexican government serves notice on its military commanders that they are henceforth to keep out of politics. If this can be assured it will prove a great stabilizer for the nation. Heretofore, a general who had a few hundred men and the makings of a grouch would take to the road with a handful of cartridges and announce himself for the Presidency. The day of the military leader in national and world politics has passed—and it is just as well that it has. Mexico joins the procession with fewer generals and more schoolteachers promised.

THE FARRAND APPOINTMENT

The naming of George E. Farrand of this city as general counsel to the Federal Farm Board is a matter on which the board is to be congratulated. As counsel for the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, the Walnut Association, the Milk Association and other agricultural co-operatives Mr. Farrand has had a leading part in their success, and no man is better qualified to give advice in such matters than he.

California has reason to feel sure that its two representatives, Mr. Farrand and C. C. Teague, will do as much as anyone can to bring success to the Farm Board's efforts to rehabilitate agriculture and that if the board should fail it will be because the task is beyond human ability. Public confidence in neither man has ever been misplaced.

Mr. Farrand has not only been counsel, he has been an active organizer, in more than one co-operative movement. He has been a Californian since 1899 and has spent twenty-two of his thirty western years as a practicing attorney in Los Angeles.

TO SHACKLE A CITY

Involved in the present attempts of Actors' Equity to get hold of a new and rich source of revenue by obtaining an overlordship of the motion-picture industry is the issue of industrial freedom in the greatest open-shop city in America. The attention of the producers now engaged in conferring with Equity representatives may well be called to the fact that if they yield, they strike a blow at the city in which they are housed as well as at the conditions which brought their own industry to prosperity. The complete unionization of Los Angeles is the goal of the American Federation of Labor and the unionization of the films is only a step toward that goal.

The reason the federation will stop at nothing to abolish the open shop here is that industrial conditions in Los Angeles have been for years the greatest argument against unionization elsewhere. Here labor has paid no tribute, has been chained to the whim of no walking delegate; here there have been—comparatively speaking—no strikes, no sabotage, no "entertainment committees," no picketing, no racketeering. Here there have been good wages for good men, able and willing to produce; here industry has been correspondingly prosperous and has shared its prosperity with the workers. Here there has been an amazing advance and an example which has heartened the open-shop advocates everywhere to resistance against union domination.

It is no wonder the American Federation of Labor, which thrives on industrial unrest and promotes the class war diligently on all occasions, has been trying to capture Los Angeles and is conducting also an intensive campaign against Detroit, the other conspicuous citadel of industrial freedom and peace, with resultant prosperity. So long as these two cities remain free, there will be an impulse elsewhere to struggle against the bonds.

Detroit industry has been highly resistent to unionization efforts largely because its near neighbor, Chicago, furnishes such a horrible example of the results of union domination and its perfect fruit, racketeering. But Los Angeles has enjoyed peace so long that it has forgotten, in large part, at what price that peace was purchased. The days when unions were strong here are so far in the past that the memories of riots, of dynamitings, of strikes, of industrial disruption and of the criminal activities of corrupt labor leaders grow dim. Newcomers to Los Angeles industry, of whom there are many, naturally know them only by hearsay.

The producers who tie themselves up with Equity contracts not only deliver themselves, bound and helpless, to masters who have acted in the past without conscience or scruple, not only consent to the complete unionization of their business with its corollary of management in every detail by outsiders who are interested only in what they themselves can get out of the situation, not only betray their business into the hands of forces which have wrecked industry after industry, but actually give aid in imposing a similar thralldom upon a community to which they owe a great deal.

It is not possible to discount or to deny the fact that union rules, in the early days of the motion-picture business, would have throttled the industry in its cradle and prevented its development. There always have been enormous wastes in the production of pictures; the industry has been able to survive them, to grant the highest rates of pay in any industry, and to make money because the producers have had a free hand and a working force of single-minded loyalty. Had it been hampered with staffs bound by agreement to do the bidding of uninterested and uninformed outsiders, it might have survived, but it could never have grown to its present stature.

The experiences of Miss Lillian Albertson, now set forth in a pamphlet which she is giving wide circulation, show what Equity is doing to the stage. If this pamphlet were placed in the hands of every motion-picture producer it would stiffen many a spine. It is too long and too closely knit to be summarized here, but it is full of food for thought and full of proof that Equity is bad for producers and players alike. Miss Albertson, forced by Equity out of the producing field, gives a complete demonstration that no organization was ever more inaptly named.

The effort to shackle the motion-picture industry is a part of an effort to shackle a city. It should be resisted to the uttermost. Once fastened, those shackles can only be broken after a long and costly struggle. It is much easier not to put the chains on.

DRAKE AND THE CHARTER

An apparent contravention of the city charter has been brought to light in connection with the nomination of Francis Drake, late champion of the unionizing of the fire department, to be a Police Commissioner. The charter gives the City Council equal authority with the Mayor in removals from as well as appointments to office, and the taking by the Mayor of an undated resignation from Drake coincident with his appointment is, in effect, a denial of the Council's legitimate authority to participate in any action looking toward his removal.

The wisdom of such a charter provision is not at issue. The whole question is whether the obvious intent of the charter is to be set aside in this or any other matter. Further, as Councilman Cooke pointed out, the naming of an office-holder of whose fitness the Mayor is so uncertain as to require his resignation in advance, is a very doubtful action, and one in which the Council should not acquiesce.

Rightly or wrongly, the charter provides that neither the City Council nor any appointed commissioner shall be a mere rubber stamp, subject in every action to the Mayor's dictation. The charter attempted to place real power and responsibility into the hands of the Council and the city commissions. This power should be taken away, if at all, only by amendment of the charter in the manner provided by law.

All quibble as to whether Drake actually assisted in the organization of the firemen's union ten years ago is aside from the point. The record shows him plainly as the champion of unionization, at a time when the Boston police strike had proved to every thinking man that unionization of neither firemen nor police could be permitted. It proves that his sole contribution, if it can be called a contribution, to the service of his city was this championship. Francis Drake is the symbol of this one idea and every Councilman who votes to confirm him thereby voices his approval of that idea. Drake has not, himself, made plain his present views on the matter; all the city has had is hearsay. His failure to repudiate promptly and publicly all idea that the two safety departments of the city ought not to be wholly free from outside domination, coupled with this record, makes him unfit.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

BY Lee Shippey

WILL ROGERS'S best-loved polo pony is a beautiful black named Bootlegger. As the players rode in to change horses just before the final chukker of a thrilling game at the Uplifters' Ranch, one of Rogers's grooms started out, leading a brown horse. But Will shook his head and shouted:

"Bootlegger! Bootlegger!"

BOOT-LEGGER
WONDER IF HE MEANS ME?!

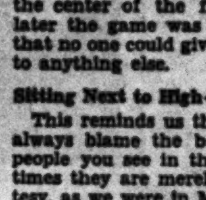
Hundreds in the crowd had not seen what was happening and did not know the name of any of the comedian's horses and pricked up ears of eager interest when they heard that shout. Three men in different parts of the crowd leaped to their feet and started working their way forward, but whether they were in hope of buying, selling or securing evidence we cannot say. T. L. Puckett, who generously had turned over his box to our party when he learned all the seats were sold out, solemnly vowed that he had never before seen any of those men around the Uplifters Club.

But another groom ran out, leading a coal-black horse, and Rogers sprang into the saddle and dashed out into the center of the field. A moment later the game was going so fiercely that no one could give eyes or thought to anything else.

Sitting Next to High-Standard Folks

This reminds us that you shouldn't always blame the boxholder for the people you see in the boxes. Sometimes they are merely there by courtesy, as we were in Mr. Puckett's box. Next to us was a crowd of New York visitors, a little inclined to be eyebrow-lifty about things out here. They got to talking about a noted Los Angeles restaurant.

"Oh, it's very good," agreed the man who talked most. "But one sees so many queer-looking people there. It doesn't seem to maintain any standards. To begin with, it shouldn't admit anyone evenings who isn't in evening dress."



"What shall we do this evening?" asked one of the women, evidently tactfully trying to change the subject.

"Why," cried the man, "let's go to Venice again and ride that roller coaster. I never did see such a roller-coaster."

Donkeys, Too

And Harry Burdick, a little later, told us this one, which he says he overheard in the crowd:

"Ours is a riding family," said one chap, airily. "There have been horses in our family for more than 300 years."

"Yeah," agreed the man he was trying to impress, "but they've all had wagons hitched to 'em."

The Meticulous Movies

In many things, motion-picture producers are far more accurate and careful than stage producers are. That first was impressed on us a couple of years ago when our attention was called to the fact that in "The Miracle," a rather notable stage production, the Madonna standing on a pedestal—the one who came to life and stepped down—was wearing high-heeled shoes, a thing no motion-picture actress would have dared do. The research departments of the motion-picture companies go to trouble and expense no stage production could consider.

And talkies have put an added task of accuracy on the picture producers. All of us have heard companies of American actors produce English plays in first-class theaters and get away with it. We dropped in on a Fox outfit filming an English story, "The Sky Hawk," and found it had been considered necessary to obtain a cast made up largely of English, Canadian and Australian actors, so that their British speech, accent and mannerisms would give the picture authenticity.

Warning Sign

But the electric-sign builders for the motion-picture theaters either are not so careful, or are fond of attracting attention by the double entendre, for you can get a smile out of many a title in lights. A. M. reports seeing this sign in Hollywood:

DANGEROUS WOMEN
ALL TALKING

Mysterious Fact

DANGEROUS WOMEN
ALL TALKING
I'LL SAY SO!
BIG SHOW TO-DAY

The waiters in a Los Angeles hospital are Filipino boys. A Mexican youth was taken to that hospital and the Filipino waiter addressed him in Spanish. The Mexican boy was surprised and delighted. Next day another Filipino waiter served him, and also addressed him in Spanish. And in the course of the next few days a couple of others talked with him in his own tongue.

When he was able to go about the hospital he met other Filipino boys and other convalescents. To one of the latter he remarked: "Say, ain't it funny how many of these Filipinos can speak Mexican?"

THE VESTRIS VERDICT

Those who had expected that the British Board of Trade report on the Vestris sea tragedy would show large streaks of whitewash were mistaken. Not only were the facts brought to light by the inquiry made by the board a blow to British pride in its seamanship, but no attempt was made to soften it or to let those responsible for the calamity down easily.

The inquiry court puts the blame for the disaster upon four men—the late Capt. Carey, who perished with his ship, and the Lamport & Holt Line agents in New York. Of Capt. Carey the board said briefly that "he is not here to justify himself."

A reading of the cabled digest of the report affords proof of the fact that the findings were honest and sincere. The ship is said by the inquirers to have been overloaded and that the SOS signal was sent out six hours later than it should have been. The registered manager of the Lamport & Holt Line, owners of the Vestris, is blamed for failing to take measures to prevent overloading after he had been told the ship had sailed overladen on a previous voyage.

The marine superintendent and his assistant who had charge of the loading operations received blame for their responsibility in connection with the supervision of the freighting of the vessel. David Cook, one of the company's agents, is ordered to pay a fine of $2500 and costs and he and two other agents are declared guilty of "wrongful act and default which contributed to the loss of the vessel."

So that instead of attempting to whitewash the men responsible for the disaster, the British Board of Trade fearlessly arraigns both shipping masters and owners. This is well, for there never would be any feeling of safety on the part of passengers or shippers if lives and property were jeopardized by loose verdicts as to responsibility and the waiving of the matter of punishment by fines or other means. Also when it came to damage suits, the sufferers from such a disaster would be without redress. In the Vestris case they now have a basis, by the rendering of this verdict, for compensation which probably will run into the millions.

SHORTAGE OF SHARES

The novel argument is offered by a Boston paper that stocks have been going up because there is a shortage of them. There aren't enough investment shares to go 'round. This would bring tears to the eyes of some of these rainbow boys who used to peddle wildcat oil stock. They would have kept the presses running all night grinding out pretty certificates for the next day's trade. There must be something the matter with Wall street if it can't keep abreast of the demand for bonds and stocks. Doubtless some of these foreign governments would be glad to send over a few shiploads of securities to ease the famine.

ESSAY ON LUCK

By James J. Montague

Just lately I read that a diamond was found
In the craw of a Muscovy duck,
And all through my life I've been looking around
For that kind of wonderful luck.
But though in the poultry I meet by the road
Hidden treasures may possibly lurk
That would buy me a yacht and a noble abode
I am still, as you notice, at work.

Every day in the newspaper items I find
About men long accustomed to toil,
Gaining blessed relief from the hard daily grind
By discovering large tracts of oil.
But though in the ground I have trod with my feet
Pent gushers may pulsate and throb
I still am aware that in order to eat
I must stick at the old daily job.

I know a young man whose great aunt, twice removed,
Passed on just a few weeks ago
And left him a third of her fortune, which proved
To be four or five millions or so.
I have had rich relations who now are no more,
Who owned real estate, coal mines and stocks,
But I still have to bend to the laboring oar
Or my boat would be cast on the rocks.

I know it is idle to envy the rich,
Or the favorites fortune may choose;
I should not be peeved at the luck stories which
I frequently find in the news;
I ought to sit back, puff my five-cent cigar
And, when I reflect on my lot,
Observe to myself: "That's the way that things are."
But somehow I wish it was not.

THE PROTECTIVE TARIFF

BY HON. SAMUEL M. SHORTRIDGE
United States Senator for California

The "tariff for revenue only" theorist, who is a free trader in disguise, is again abroad in the land, making day and night hideous by clamoring against the tariff bill which is under consideration by the Senate Finance Committee. Assuming that the people forget yesterday and are ignorant in spite of the sad lessons of experience, he is voluble in the newspapers and vociferous in legislative halls. To recall the phrase of Rufus Choate, the free trader indulges in "glittering generalities," or—as a backwoods Democratic statesman put it—general glitteralities. He ignores facts, scorns to consider actual industrial conditions in his own and in foreign countries, and advises the abandonment of the American protective tariff policy. The American people—the laborer, the farmer, the miner, the manufacturer—will be slow to follow the free trader's advice and thereby commit industrial suicide.

The Republican party proposes to enact a tariff law which shall have due and first regard for American men, women and children—on the farm, in the mine, in the mill or factory—for the producer and consumer alike—who, without adequate tariff protection, will be forced into competition with the poorly paid, cheap labor of other and less prosperous countries.

We propose to enact a tariff law which shall encourage, develop and diversify American industries whereby our people may find profitable employment. We recognize that on well-paid and constantly employed labor rest the prosperity and happiness of all our people. And we further recognize that with our scale of wages, hours of labor and standard of living we cannot compete even in our own markets with the products of cheap labor of foreign countries.

The Republican party has inherited and believes in the tariff policy of Washington, Clay, Lincoln, Blaine, McKinley, Roosevelt and other great constructive American statesmen. The purposes of that policy were and are to raise revenue for the support of the government, for the discharge of the national debt and to encourage and protect American industries. We propose to frame and enact a tariff law that will achieve these purposes.

It requires a vast sum of money to defray the cost of carrying on the Federal government and much of that sum can and may well be raised by duties on imports. For example, during the last fiscal year, ending June 30, 1929, tariff duties amounted to $602,262,786.

We have and we always have had a national debt, from Washington's day to this hour. On January 1, 1790, it was a little over $77,000,000; on March 4, 1921, when President Harding was inaugurated, it was more than $24,000,000,000; under Republican administration it has been reduced by nearly $1,000,000,000 per year; now it is over $17,000,000,000. Tariff duties have assisted and will assist in meeting the interest on and reducing the principal of that vast debt.

We have a high standard of life and living, as compared with many other countries, and to sustain that standard we have a scale of wages in all branches in industry above that of other countries. We propose to maintain that standard by encouraging and, in fact, protecting each and every—all American industries and the products of those industries from being supplanted by the products of cheap labor countries, and this we propose to do by adequate rates of tariff duties on such imported products.

Shall we abandon the American protective tariff policy and adopt the free-trade theory? That is the question.

Under the American protective policy we have prospered. Whenever we have been misled into adopting the free-trade theory we have reaped industrial panics. In other words, protection has blessed, free trade has cursed America.

The free-trade provisions in the compromise act of 1833 brought on the panic of 1836-7, which defeated President Van Buren for re-election.

The Walker Tariff Act, framed on free-trade theory, yielded industrial wreck and ruin.

In 1893 the free-trade theorists succeeded in passing the Democratic Wilson-Gorman tariff bill. What was the result? The panic of 1896-7 and the election of William McKinley, the protectionist. The Republican party rescued the nation from industrial bankruptcy by the passage of the Dingley Tariff Act.

Again, in 1913, the people were misled by free-trade theorists and the Democratic Underwood-Simmons bill was enacted. What was the result? The World War postponed the inevitable result—postponed but did not avert it. For, the war being over, that free-trade law rebegan to bear its bitter fruit. For relief the people elected President Harding and a Republican Congress and we speedily enacted the Emergency Protective Tariff Act of 1921, to be followed by the McCumber Protective Tariff Act of 1922.

It is this act which we propose to amend, because of changed industrial conditions at home and abroad, and we propose to amend it along the true protective tariff lines.

Foreign capital, foreign competitors are aiding and abetting our home-bred free-trade theorists and some of our importers in their attack on the bill now under careful consideration by the Republican members of the Senate Finance Committee. Unawed by foreign threat and uninfluenced by free-trade clamor, we shall deal with facts, with conditions, keeping uppermost in mind the welfare of American labor and American industries.

What is true of California is true of other States as to their agricultural and other industries. We cannot compete with imports from cheap labor countries, nor can Florida, nor can Maine, nor can New York, nor can any other American State. The American farmer cannot, the American miner cannot, the American manufacturer cannot survive in competition with cheap labor and hence cheap-producing countries.

Is it desirable to close our mills and mines and turn out of employment American citizens? Is it desirable to cause our farms to be abandoned? Is it desirable to reduce wages of skilled and unskilled labor to foreign levels? If so, reduce tariff duties, strike down the American protective tariff policy and put into operation the free-trade theory.

Is it good policy to surrender the American consuming market to the foreign producers? If so, wipe out all tariff duties and let foreign products pour into America!

The Republican platform adopted at Kansas City contained this plank:

"We realize that there are certain industries which cannot now successfully compete with foreign producers because of lower foreign wages and a lower cost of living abroad, and we pledge the next Republican Congress to an examination and, where necessary, a revision of these schedules to the end that American labor in these industries may again command the home market, may maintain its standard of living, and may count upon steady employment in its accustomed field."

The American people, by an overwhelming majority, indorsed that plank and the principles and policies of government therein expressed. I scarcely need to add that I indorse that plank in the Republican platform and shall endeavor to have it carried into effect through the tariff bill which is now under consideration by the Senate Committee on Finance.

I am not thinking only of my own great State of California, exposed, as so many of her agricultural and other industries are, to foreign competition. I am thinking of Florida, whose learned Senators are asking for additional tariff duties on grapefruit, pineapples and wrapper tobacco. I am thinking of Georgia, whose able Senators desire tariff protection for "Georgia clay." I am thinking of Alabama, whose distinguished Senators request additional tariff protection for amorphous graphite. I am thinking of Mississippi and Texas and Arizona, whose scholarly Senators seek tariff protection for long-staple cotton. I am thinking of Louisiana, whose splendid Senators urge tariff protection for cane sugar. I am thinking of Arkansas, whose brilliant Senators want and in 1922 voted for an increase of duty on rice. I am thinking of Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and Texas, whose accredited Senators are asking for increased tariff protection for peanuts. I am thinking of New York, whose distinguished Senators are desirous of additional tariff duties on poultry. I am thinking of every State in the Union—of the men and women and children who toil in city and country, in factory and forest, in mine and on farm, in all the industries of our country.

And I am wondering how Democratic Senators will speak and vote when we strive to assist, as we shall, their constituents by giving them adequate tariff protection for the several products of their farms, their mines and their mills.

I indulge in the hope that they will take heed of the lessons of history and show themselves to be statesmen, not state men.

WHERE CAN I LEARN

Window Display?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

To help those in the window-trimming trade to advance themselves the Frank Wiggins Trade Evening School, Venice Boulevard, between Hill street and Grand avenue, will offer a free class, beginning September 10. The evenings have not been decided yet, but applicants for the waiting list should go in person to the school, between August 1 and 16, between 1 and 9 p.m.

High school graduation is not required, but it is advisable. In this class a student will be able to shorten his apprenticeship, which is usually one year long, with a salary of $18 to $20 a week. The fundamentals of window trimming will be learned as well as the quality of merchandise.

An expert trimmer, after three or four years' training, earns $50 to $70 a week, with a maximum yearly salary of $12,000 to $15,000.

Errata: Jewelry manufacture course starts September 10, not September 2.

Hot Foods Needed in Summer

Too many iced foods during the summer months, say nutrition experts, not only delay digestion but frequently cause digestive throubles. They advise against neglecting hot foods during the hot months and point out that so far as nutrition rules are concerned there should be little difference between summer and winter meals.—[Pathfinder.

FRIEND OF BYRD SETS SKY GOAL

Howard Cox of London Has Faith in Planes' Future

Diesel Engine Development to be Great Aid, He Says

Scientist on Visit Here to See Our Institutions

"America's progressive spirit is nowhere more usefully expressed than in the field of aviation and the American people are becoming air minded more rapidly than those of any other nation," declares Howard Havelock Cox of London, Fellow of the Royal Geographical, Royal Astronomical and Royal Meteorological societies, and friend of Commander Byrd, who is in Los Angeles to visit the observatories and schools of science. Mr. Cox is a guest at the Alexandria.

"Aviation developments in the United States are astonishing to a European," said Mr. Cox. "During the years immediately after the war, Great Britain and Continental Europe were far in advance of America in the commercial use of airplanes, but in the last two years the development of aviation has been more outstanding in the United States than in any other country. It is also interesting to note the fact that 80 per cent of the aeronautical activities of America are west of the Mississippi River, although only 29 per cent of the population of the country inhabits this area."

DIESEL ENGINES

Voicing the opinion that the immediate future of aeronautical development lies in the utilization of the Diesel engine in the airplane, Mr. Cox said that this step will make for greater safety and reliability where engine performance is concerned and predicted a revolution, in this regard, which will render obsolete all existent types of motors.

"With the coming of this new development and the opening up of long-distance lines, it becomes imperative that there should be established special training colleges for the teaching of aeronautical navigation," said Mr. Cox. "Dead reckoning is not enough. Pilots of the future must be familiar with the use of navigational instruments similar to those used on ships at sea. The invention of the artificial-horizon sextant, the sun-compass and the drift-indicator have taken the hazard out of aerial navigation, placed it on a scientific basis and provided a fitting basis for the confidence of investors and prospective passengers.

WHAT IT MEANS

"The discovery and simplifying of short methods in mathematical navigation, in which work Commander Byrd has done outstanding service, have made it possible, with the aid of the instruments already mentioned, to determine the position of an airplane when traveling at 100 miles an hour, and out of sight of land, with an accuracy of a small fraction of a mile."

Mr. Cox, who is a personal friend of Commander Byrd, met the latter on the McMillan Arctic Expedition of 1925. In 1926 he joined Byrd on his way down from the North Pole, returning to New York with the expedition. For several months Mr. Cox was a guest at the home of Commander Byrd at Boston and worked with him on plans for Byrd's present expedition. It was the intention of Mr. Cox to accompany Byrd on the trip south but the illness of his mother made it necessary for him to return to England. A short time after the death of his mother Mr. Cox accepted the editorship of the Power Times, a monthly magazine.

ECONOMIST HERE FOR SEA FISHING OUTING

Jacob H. Hilander, professor of political economy at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday for a protracted vacation. He is accompanied by his daughter, Miss Rosamond Hollander, and her companion, Miss Elsie Marsh. They are guests at the Ambassador. A deep-sea fishing enthusiast, Dr. Hollander plans to spend a week on Santa Catalina Island, during which he will devote a large part of his time to the sport. In addition to his university work, Dr. Hollander is associate editor of a Baltimore newspaper.

DIVORCE GRANTED TO FILM AUDITOR'S WIFE

After hearing the testimony on both sides Superior Judge Needham yesterday granted Mrs. Margaret L. Burkhart a divorce and $75 a month alimony in the contested divorce action waged between herself and her husband, Glen C. Burkhart, motion-picture auditor. The alimony is to run for a period of ten months pending a property settlement to be taken into court later for approval. Both asserted cruelty and intemperance in their complaints.

MRS. HENNESSY BURIED

Last rites for Mrs. Etiona F. Hennessy, 48 years of age, of 981½ South Kenmore avenue, prominent in the activities of the Neighbors of Woodcraft Order, were conducted yesterday at Reed Brothers chapel. Burial was in Inglewood Park Cemetery. Mrs. Hennessy leaves her husband, Edward M. Hennessy, and two daughters, Mrs. Selma Peterson and Mrs. Juanita Snider.

ASSAILANT OF SHULER TO PAY UP

Pasadena Grain Merchant Will Liquidate Fine Laid by Alhambra Court

C. C. Stafford, Pasadena grain merchant, will pay the $250 fine imposed on him by Justice of the Peace Farrell of Alhambra following his conviction of assault on Rev. R. P. Shuler in El Monte some time ago, Stafford's attorney, Joseph Ford, announced yesterday in Municipal Judge Ballard's court.

The announcement followed a motion by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Burgess to put the battery case filed here against Stafford off calendar. Burgess told the court he understood the sentence imposed by Justice Farrell was to be appealed.

When Ford told the court there would be no appeal Judge Ballard ordered the battery charge dismissed. Stafford was convicted in the Alhambra court of battery, following testimony that he assaulted Shuler, sometimes known as the "fighting pastor," with his fists in an El Monte drug store.

Shuler's radio discussions of Stafford's trial on charges of assaulting his stenographer, which is pending in Superior Court, provoked the attack, it is said.

CAHUENGA PARK PLAN APPROVED

Council Decides to Accept Shea Offer of Acreage on East Side of Pass

Council yesterday adopted a resolution agreeing to accept land for a roadway and park on the east side of Cahuenga Pass. The offer was made by R. P. Shea and the total acreage is twenty-four. Shea's proposition is that he dedicate a strip seventy-four feet wide and ground for a park, provided the city grades the roadway, retains retaining walls, paves forty feet and connects the road with the Highland avenue extension.

The City Engineer has estimated the cost of the paving and grading at $165,000 and there was considerable discussion as to where the money is to come from. Councilman Burns said that the roadway is used by practically all the people in Southern California and that these also will be enabled to use the park. Councilman Cooke moved that the City Engineer work out plans and estimates of cost and submit these to the Finance Committee. This motion carried and Council instructed the City Attorney to draw up a formal acceptance of Shea's offer.

Bowl Jubilee Tonight Will Attract Many

Hollywood Bowl anticipates one of the largest gatherings of its history when an array of stage and screen players will turn out to participate in the program of the Hollywood Midsummer Jubilee and to make up a large part of the audience. The entertainment is being given as a testimonial performance for the Los Angeles Sanatorium, the free tuberculosis institution at Duarte.

HELEN KANE

Among headliners are Paul Whiteman and his band, Helen Kane, George Jessel, Harry Green, Irene Bordoni, the Duncan Sisters, Armida, Fanny Brice, Harry Richman, James Hall, Baclanova, Dennis King, Winnie Lightner, Belle Baker, Frank Fay, Marion Harris, Lupino Lane, Joe E. Brown, Nick Lucas, Jack Benny and others.

Musical organizations including an ensemble from the Los Angeles Grand Opera Association Chorus, arranged through the courtesy of Merle Armitage, Lou Silver's Vitaphone orchestra and the South Pasadena American Legion drum corps are features of the bill.

HUSBAND IN EAST, BUT THERE'S NO RIFT

Mrs. Victoria Mix

MIX'S WIFE RETURNS TO HOLLYWOOD

Circus Trouping Too Hard for Her, She Asserts, Again Denying Divorce Rumor

Mrs. Victoria Mix, wife of Tom Mix, cowboy screen hero, is back in Hollywood to stay for the remainder of the year, at least, according to her statement yesterday. She returned with her daughter Thomasina, after visiting her husband in the East.

Mix now is touring with a circus and will be home the latter part of September or in October, his wife declared. Mrs. Mix returned from Europe about two months ago, visiting Hollywood for only several days when she left to join Mix.

"His circus makes one-night stands and it would be too much of a strain on myself and daughter to remain with him," she said. "I have no plans except to remain in Hollywood and I doubt that I will go back to Europe real soon."

When she left for abroad there were rumors that Mrs. Mix would seek a divorce in Paris. Yesterday she said she has no intention of such action.

Mrs. Mix disclosed yesterday it is improbable they will return to their spacious Beverly Hills home. The house, she declared, is rented at the present time and is on the market.

Police Gas Card Leads to Arrest

Arrest on three serious charges all over a matter of $1.65 yesterday was the experience of Jack Koch, 23 years of age, a salesman, living at 197 West Sixth street. Trouble was accelerated when Detective Lieutenant Morris of the robbery detail received a telephone call from Neal's service station, Figueroa and Sixty-ninth streets, asking when he was going to pay "that $1.65 you owe." When Morris replied that he did not owe any such sum he was told that his police card was held at the service station for that amount of gas.

Morris went to investigate and as a result he arrested Koch when the latter appeared at the service station. Koch is accused of writing Morris's name on a card supplied police officers for presentation at service stations. Koch was booked on charges of forgery, of impersonating an officer and of violating Sec. 529 of the Penal Code, which prohibits using another's name to obtain money or credit.

FEKEDA ORCHESTRA TO PLAY TOMORROW

Formal presentation to Hollywood and Los Angeles of Josef Fekeda of Budapest and his Royal Hungarian orchestra will be made at the first of a series of twilight soirees, at which Raquel Torres, film actress, will be hostess, tomorrow afternoon in the Hollywood Knickerbocker, new residential hotel. Since coming to this country, Fekeda has played at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City and the Congress Hotel in Chicago. A feature of the first soiree will be the serving of refreshments by a coterie of Chinese girls in native costume. The girls are members of the staff of the hotel.

NEW LEGION POST TO BE LAUNCHED TONIGHT

With ninety-one charter members on its roster, Ninety-first Division, A.E.F. Post, American Legion, will be instituted tonight at Patriotic Hall. Formal presentation to the post of its charter from the Department of California will be made by Phil Dodson, past State Commander of the veterans' organization, while new members will be initiated by the championship degree team of Inglewood post.

Representative Joe Crail will make the address of the evening, speaking on the program for new barracks and other buildings at the Sawtelle Soldiers' Home, according to Guernsey P. Frazer, commander of the new post. Preceding the charter presentation, a dinner will be served under the direction of Louis Ruff and an entertainment program will conclude the meeting.

BOLES SIGNS NEW CONTRACT

Eve Southern Plays Noted Role in "Lilies of the Field;" Birdwell Will Direct "Seven Faces" for Fox; Actress' Mother, Long Lost, Visits Daughter

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Universal officials, including Carl Laemmle, Jr., in particular, have decided not to let the talented John Boles escape.

Yesterday Universal gave the singer-actor a new contract, with, it is whispered, a nice increase in salary.

Boles's first picture under his new contract will be a talker and musical called "Song of Passion," an original story for which special music will be written. He is to make two films during the coming year. The following one will be called, according to present plans, by the intriguing title of "Moonlight Madness."

At present Boles is just completing his role in "Rio Rita."

CORINNE GRIFFITH GATHERING LILIES

EVE SOUTHERN

The four lilies who are to appear with Corinne Griffith in "Lilies of the Field," have been plucked from the "garden of girls" in filmland. However, after reading their lines and listening to the director tell them how much work they will do, they feel that they cannot train along at all with that brand of lily which doesn't toil nor spin.

No less fascinating an actress than Eve Southern is to have one of the said lily—otherwise a chorus girl—roles.

Jean Bary, who was formerly known as Jean Laverty, and who recently changed her name at the suggestion of a numerologist, found her first good luck in picturedom when she was cast in the Griffith picture.

Virginia Bruce has been borrowed from Paramount to take another of the roles, while Rita Leroy will have the fourth.

Alexander Korda is to direct the talker, which is an adaptation of William Hurlburt's successful play.

Birdwell's Next for Fox

That clever young writer-director, Russell Birdwell, did so extremely well in directing his first picture for Fox, that he is to have intrusted to him one of the notable pictures for that organization.

The picture is "The Girl Who Wasn't Wanted." This title, however, has been changed to "Seven Faces." Personally I don't see the gain in this. However, I have never known that organization to retain an original title, other than "What Price Glory," and I'll wager they have a row about that. Fox people never seem to like an original title. Like the Black Crow in the dialogue, "even if it was good, they wouldn't like it."

No one is so far cast for the picture, but we heard it whispered that it is likely that Ward Bond, the young football star who did so well in John Ford's latest picture, will have a part.

Actress and Mother United

KATHRYN CRAWFORD

The discovery of Kathryn Crawford's mother, Mrs. Harold F. Young, has led to a real family reunion in Hollywood. The Universal player had not seen her mother since she was 6 years of age and was not even sure that her parent was living, as the father and mother had separated when Kathryn and her sister were very young. The mother had been ill in a hospital, and the father had brought the two children West, losing all trace of Mrs. Crawford.

A few weeks ago a reporter interviewed the young screen actress, and she expressed as her greatest desire that she might find her mother. The story was printed in several papers in the East, and within a week Kathryn received a wire from her mother, who had remarried and was living in Boston.

Since that time Mrs. Young has come West and joined her daughters. Kathryn has bought a beautiful home for her mother and sister, and yesterday they moved into it.

Arthur Lubin Leaves

Arthur Lubin is returning to New York tonight. He has several stage offers there and promises to let us know the minute he signs for a role.

Musical Show At Theater Mart

"Wanted, a Romance," a musical comedy by Hazel Lindoft, is to see the light of day for the first time in this city at the Theater Mart, opening on the 19th inst.

George Cunningham is directing the musical numbers, the production being sponsored by that generous patroness of art, Alice Pike Barney.

The cast will be an excellent one, and will include Micky McBan, Billy Taft, of "Good News," Claude Gillingwater, Jr., Sumner Getchel of "The Collegians," Robert Lawlor, Howard Lorenz, Carl Dial, Elmer Bramel, Felix Mahoney, Jack C. Cation, Royal Elliot, Edith Wilde, Lucille De Wolfe, Marcia Harris, Nell Anderson, and Melba Jean.

I saw the tuneful little show when it was put on at Glendale several months ago, and can vouch for the fact that Miss Lindoft has brought both charm and novelty to her music and story.

Wallace MacDonald With Lasky

Wallace MacDonald, stage and screen actor, has been signed for a featured role in "Sweetie," George Marion, Jr.'s, musical romance of campus life, it was announced yesterday at Paramount studios.

Helen Kane, Jack Oakie, William Austin and Stanley Smith also have leading roles. Frank Tuttle will direct.

NEWS OF THE CAFES

Headed by Jay Johnson, vaudeville accordionist, all the entertainers in the Show Boat Cafe Revue, produced by William Meikeljohn, have joined "Futuristique," new show at the Pom Pom, Hollywood, where they will appear exclusively hereafter.

Other Show Boat Cafe entertainers now appearing at the Pom Pom include Ginger Harris, blues singer; Cropley and Violet, adagio dancers; Lee Phelps, ukulele comedian, and Clarice Gannon, tap dancer.

MORE SEATS AT CAFE

The growing popularity of the Cliff Dwellers Cafe, on Beverly Boulevard at Virgil street, for chicken, steak and squab dinners, has necessitated the management, C. S. Fox, to expand the seating facilities of his establishment. The cafe is open from 5 p.m. until 2 a.m. daily and features a diversified program of entertainment.

STARS TO BE THERE

Music, vaudeville, stage and screen stars will contribute toward making the "Show of Shows" night at the Montmartre this evening one of the most important and festive of its kind in cafe history. Alberta and Adamay Vaughn, featured in the Warner Brothers forthcoming revue, will be the honored guests.

Paul Whiteman's Rhythm Boys and Proff Moore and his orchestra will provide the music.

TANGO REVIVAL ASKED

Urgent demand for a revival of the tango in Hollywood night life festivities has been started by Latin-American leaders of the film colony, headed by Mona Maris, Argentine star. In a letter to Irving Aaronson, conductor of Aaronson's Commanders in the Blossom Room at the Roosevelt Hotel, Miss Maris asks that the dance of the Argentines be featured at least once nightly.

The Argentine star has just been signed by William Fox for the leading role opposite Warner Baxter in "Conquistador."

CAFE OPENS NEXT WEEK

With its opening scheduled to take place Thursday evening, the 15th inst., Paul Perrot's Cafe on Seventh street opposite Westlake Park is now undergoing final stages of preparation. The cafe will be one of the most beautiful in California, its scheme of color and ornamentation being entirely unique.

The Laughner-Harris entertaining orchestra has been engaged to provide the dance music, while vaudeville headliners also will be featured attractions.

BANJO SOCIETY MEETS

The Dixie Banjo Society held its annual banquet and musicale in the Granada Tea Room, in Lafayette Park Place, last Saturday night at which covers were laid for thirty members. Following the banquet the members marched through the main dining-room playing their instruments to the delight of the other patrons in the cafe. After playing several old-time negro melodies in the charming outdoor patio the players retired to the banquet room and elected their officers for the ensuing year. George Willmar was elected president and Mrs. Grace Nicholson, secretary.

More than 200 prominent guests attended the formal opening of a new dining-room last Thursday evening in the Hotel Strand, in South Union avenue near West Seventh street.

In addition to a special dinner prepared for the occasion a musical program was presented which included several well-known operatic and radio stars.

Dancing in the newly redecorated ballroom of the hotel to music by Bert Crossland's orchestra also was enjoyed by the guests until a late hour.

Louis V. Curtis, who has operated hotels in various parts of the world, recently purchased the Hotel Strand and the new dining-room is just one of the many improvements he has added to that hostelry.

TWILIGHT SOIREE PLANNED

Tomorrow afternoon the first of a series of novel twilight soirees will be given in the Cortile Lido, the open-air patio of the Hollywood Knickerbocker, on Ivar avenue near Hollywood Boulevard.

Raquel Torres, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer actress and a resident of the Knickerbocker, will be hostess, it is announced. The soiree will mark the formal introduction of Josef Fekeda, the new musical director at the Knickerbocker, and his Royal Hungarian Orchestra.

Screen Official to Share Estate

Abraham Lehr, vice-president of a motion-picture company, last night received word from New York that he will receive $20,740 of the estate of his father, Nathan Lehr, who died in 1920. The estate of Mr. Lehr's father, which was filed in the office of the New York State Transfer Tax Department yesterday, was valued at $113,987, and provided for a life interest of $24,000 for Nathan Lehr.

Three children, Neil, Hilda and Helen, each will receive $2500 at the time the estate is distributed to their father. Lehr lives at 618 South Kingsley Drive.

LAUGHS DIRECTED

Millard Webb has a good laugh on Hollywood. Five hundred extras were gathered on the set of "Broadway Hostess," at First National this week. Billie Dove and Edmund Lowe held the center of the night club set. A girl began to laugh. Others joined in, and soon the entire stage was filled with shrieking, shouting, laughing actors. The play back was magnificent, it is said.

YOUNGSTERS GET PARTS

Douglas Haig and Billy Butts, two of Hollywood's promising boy actors, are cast for important roles in Paramount's all-talking production, "The Virginian." Douglas is best known for his portrayals as Emil Jannings's son in that star's two latest pictures, "Sins of the Fathers" and "Betrayal." Billy is a veteran of a number of films, among them "The Last Outlaw" and "The Canadian."

HARMONY OF BOWL TOLD IN CONCERT

Schumann Symphony, Tone Poem and Overture by Mozart Please

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

The lyric symphony No. 1 of Schumann expressed the harmonious atmosphere now reigning at the Hollywood Bowl in a concert conducted by Eugene Goossens last night. This featured number was surrounded by Mozart's overture to the Marriage of Figaro, Debussy's tone poem to the sea, the Irish Tune from County Derry by Percy Grainger and the March from "Antar," by Rimsky-Korsakoff. The orchestra was in a responsive mood, the evening was balmy and for once there were no disturbing airplanes overhead.

Raymond Brite, manager of the concerts, made a welcome announcement when he spoke of the special concert which will be given on next Monday night with Elsa Alsen as soloist singing the Love-Death from Tristan and Isolde, with orchestra. Howard Hanson's tone poem, North and West, which was anticipated last week with especial interest by the students of U.S.C., where Dr. Hanson is conducting a summer class, is to be given on this program. Tschaikowsky's fifth symphony is on the list for the special make-up concert Monday night.

The Schumann symphony was the the most enjoyable offering on last night's program. Its delicate beauty, the refinement of its utterance, its grace and charm found a sympathetic conductor in Goossens and it proved one of the highlights of his presentations this season. The scherzo as he played it, might best be described as piquant.

Of "The Sea" by Debussy there is not so much commendation in my mind to offer. It was good to hear this rarely played work, but it would have been better to have heard it well played. It is atmospheric, but not nearly so vague and difficult to follow as the performance last night would allow us to believe.

After all, Debussy is modern but no longer baffling if the players themselves have had sufficient contact with the score to interpret it with convincing authority. The accusation that modern music is beyond understanding is too often heard. It is more correct to state that modern music is not often clearly set forth.

Doubtless the very interesting program arranged by Mr. Goossens for Thursday night, consisting of Prokofieff, Bartok, Goossens, Debussy and Schoenberg and to be prefaced by explanatory words from the conductor, will have better luck in the matter of exposition for certainly the concert promises to be unique and deserves the attention of all forward looking music lovers.

Duffys Remain at El Capitan Another Week

Popular demand sometimes upsets a producer's plans. Back of the announcement made today from the Henry Duffy headquarters that Dale Winter and Henry Duffy will continue for another week at El Capitan in "The First Year," starting with Sunday's matinee, there is an interesting story.

Henry Duffy has set four weeks as the limit of time he could devote to acting. Pressure of business affairs made it necessary to set the engagement of the Frank Craven comedy at El Capitan at four weeks. Public demand to see the co-stars in the comedy has forced the actor-producer to extend the engagement for another week, and accordingly, they will be seen for a fifth week in the comedy, in which Miss Winter plays Grace Livingston and Henry Duffy appears as Tommy Tucker.

Duffy, however, announces that next week will be positively the final one of the record-breaking run of the comedy. To make this more certain he has signed Charlotte Greenwood, the noted comedienne, to start at El Capitan on the 18th inst., in the farce-comedy, "She Couldn't Say No," and rehearsals are now in progress under the direction of Edwin H. Curtis.

New Film Shows Sound Features

How familiar sounds can add values to dramatic construction is said to be demonstrated interestingly in "Dynamite," Cecil B. De Mille's first all-talking picture, which is now playing at Fox Carthay Circle Theater.

"In silent pictures we can do things in pantomime not possible in dialogue," says De Mille. "Conversely, in talkies we have many opportunities to develop dramatic situations through devices hitherto denied us."

The dialogue of a parrot, breaking in on a wild party with just two sentences, is offered as a touch possible only to talkies. Also ten men in prison, condemned to hang, are pictured hearing over the radio the account of a rather exotic "ladies' field day" at a millionaire's country club. The dramatic marriage of Kay Johnson to Charles Bickford in the latter's death cell on the eve of his execution for murder, is interrupted by two sounds, the playing of the love theme of the picture "How Am I to Know"—and the beating of the hammers erecting the scaffold which is to receive Bickford.

ACTRESS HAS NEW ACT

A recent tryout at which Virginia Sale presented a vaudeville act before representatives of a large theater circuit has resulted in an offer of a booking, which the young actress has now under consideration. Her act consists of several widely varying character sketches. Miss Sale played the leading and only feminine role in one of the sketches on last week's Writers' Club program, and received a number of critical tributes for her portrayal. Her most recent screen work was with Reginald Denny in "Companionate Troubles," a current Universal release.

"Constant Wife" Comes to Screen

Ruth Chatterton

Essays the leading role in "Charming Sinners," a Paramount film taken from W. Somerset Maugham's sophisticated comedy, which starts tomorrow at the Paramount Theater.

PLAY OF MODERN YOUTH BEGINS

Again the purely delightful phase of college life, becomes the subject of a modern youth expose. The title gives no inkling of the play's nature. "A Sky Full of Moon" was written and directed by Walter Browne Rogers. It will conclude its run at the Theater Mart Saturday night.

The play itself is in an embryo state. A promise of something better may be visioned through its present unevenness. The first-night production was one of relaxation. The campus spirit was suggested rather than expressed. But from the intelligent way the company interpreted their various roles, one doubts whether that fault existed long.

Sorority and fraternity houses supply the background for a fast-moving picture of college life. Our modern youth present the last word in sophistication. Education is a broadening process today.

Among a large cast are several who uphold the family name. Claude Gillingwater, Jr., Winston Miller, brother of Patsy Ruth, Gloria Blackton and Beth Laemmle, respectively, daughter of J. Stuart Blackton, and niece of Carl Laemmle, along with their fellow-players, are to be commended for their professional attitude.

The house was loud in its appreciation of the comedy released when Dave Koehler, disguised as a girl, was turned loose under a sorority roof. On the complications arising hangs the tale.

Artistry in scenic design is now expected from the Theater Mart. Rarely does it disappoint. This time it exerted itself in the creation of the cafe interior. Lighting and effect do credit to this intimate home of art.

Others in a large cast include Charlotte Wynn, Maybeth Carr, Eleanor Flynn, Russell Simpson, Iden Browne and Stephen Carr.

Producer Brings "Kibitzer" to Mason Theater

H. S. Kraft, theatrical producer, arrived yesterday from New York and will present the New York comedy drama, "Kibitzer," starting September 1 at the Mason Operahouse. Kraft, who is Broadway's youngest producer, intends to become a permanent part of the Los Angeles rialto, and "Kibitzer" is the first of a series of plays he will produce here.

"Kibitzer" has played for six months at the Royale Theater in New York and is said to be the reigning comedy success of the present Broadway theatrical season. The term "Kibitzer" has become a part of the metropolis' phraseology, and is the appelation pinned to one who presumes to know it all. George Ratoff, who heads the cast, is the "Kibitzer" in the play.

Kraft is extremely hopeful of the future of the Los Angeles stage. He says "A growing metropolis like Los Angeles can stand a varied assortment of theatrical fare. It is my intention to present the play that has the elements that will appeal to the largest group. 'Kibitzer,' I believe, is just such a vehicle. It is a human story, beautifully blending its comedy and drama, and with a new and unusual characterization in the chief figure of the play."

"IRON MASK" WILL HAVE WEEK'S RUN

Douglas Fairbanks's voice is first brought to the audible screen in his latest starring vehicle, "The Iron Mask," which will have a week's run at the Million Dollar Theater, beginning Thursday. On the same program will be a talking comedy and Paramount News Reel, the latter being a new feature at the Million Dollar.

The stage presentation this week will be a "Revue Unique." Entirely new talent with the exception of the band and chorus will be used. "The Man I Love," featuring Mary Brian and Richard Arlen, is the current attraction.

FOLLIES FIND FAVOR

"Thoroughbred Girls," the current burlesque at the Follies, provides a grade of entertainment above the average, with Billy Foster and Marty Semon occupying the comedy roles and demonstrating successfully that they know how to burlesque. Nellie Ryder, dainty soubrete, has pep galore, and offers a fast specialty. Evelyn Ramsay is a clever dancer and takes the lead in the numerous episodes. The show is well done and offers in the other leading roles Hal Ford, Mack White and the Misses Beatrice Franklin and Nelita Capucetti. "Thoroughbred Girls" is well staged, its ten scenes offer a series of interesting and entertaining numbers, all with fast dancing and singing with a fine display of costumes and scenic accessories.

DIETS TABOO HERE

"I don't have to diet," says Louise Fazenda. "Now is my time to get even with the beauties who laughed at me in the old days. My middle name is 'Eatin.'" "My last name is 'Eaton,'" said Mary Eaton, musical-comedy star from New York. Mary doesn't have to diet either—her beauty and slimness seem destined to withstand a season in Hollywood. Incidentally, Mary is said to be the only girl in the film colony who refuses to sunburn.

'Melody' Follows 'Showboat' at Fox Criterion

"Showboat," Edna Ferber's talking-singing romance of the Mississippi, will begin its last week at the Fox Criterion Theater tomorrow. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Broadway Melody" will start its popular run at the Criterion, starting the 15th inst.

The London office of Universal reports that 10,000 persons each day for the past three weeks have seen "Showboat" at the Savoy Theater.

As a result of the world-wide success of "Showboat," Universal is starting work on three other pictures based on sidelights of "Showboat," including "The Minstrel Show," "The Barnstormer" and "The Mississippi Gambler."

Colored Players Attend Banquet

The entire cast of the Lafayette Players, enacting the humorous roles in Octavus Roy Cohen's stage comedy "Come Seven," in its second week at the Orange Grove Theater, will be the guests of Manager Robert Levy, producer of the show at a banquet Thursday night. The banquet is presented by Levy as a tribute to the excellent performances the company has given since its opening at the theater.

The southern dialect of the darky, written by the facile pen of Octavus Roy Cohen, noted writer and humorist, is finding wide appeal and favorable comment from playgoers, according to Levy, and the novelty of the plot of the hilarious comedy is bringing many back for a second showing. Because of the small seating capacity of the theater which seats less than 800 people, Levy requests that theatergoers attend the afternoon performances.

ARLEN SPRAINS HAND IN "MAN I LOVE"

In the talking picture, "The Man I Love," a coming attraction at the Alhambra, Richard Arlen portrays the part of a ring champion. In shooting the picture Arlen's hand was sprained in a knockout punch delivered to the head of Charles Sullivan, a ring veteran.

This sprain had hardly healed when the same hand came to grief against another jaw in a fight in "Thunderbolt," starring George Bancroft, which is the current attraction at the Alhambra, closing on Wednesday evening of this week.

"WHOOPEE" STARTS

The current week's burlesque at the Burbank, "Let's Make Whoopee," is one of the top-notchers of the burlesque field. Both in line-up and principals it wins over anything that has been done on the Burbank stage since the inception of this type of entertainment. The ensemble doing the "Whoopee Dance" engage in an intricate routine which is startling and well staged. Fay Norman sings and dances two well-received numbers. Curls Mason, in an original dance creation, also pleases. June Rhoads offers for her bit a new specialty with good results. Jane Hazleton again sings herself into the hearts of her fans. Comedy lines are in the hands of Charlie Fritcher and Henry Sherr.

FILMS FOR LOEW'S ARE ANNOUNCED

Movie Season Attractions Promise Patrons Varied Program

For its 1929 greater movie season program Loew's State has just received its prize package of bookings with such stars as Greta Garbo, George O'Brien, Joan Crawford, Anita Page, Colleen Moore, Lois Moran and Lon Chaney. With the season officially opening on the 15th inst., Harold B. Franklin has completed his selection of pictures for the theater and turned them over to the management.

A light, romantic, athletic, modern and youthful comedy-drama of football and the campus, called "Salute," is the offering to start the season on the 15th inst. This is a Fox all-dialogue picture produced by John Ford and including in its cast George O'Brien, William Janney, Helen Chandler, Joyce Compton and Stepin Fetchit.

"Our Modern Maidens," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's successor to "Our Dancing Daughters" is next, for the 22nd inst. Joan Crawford, Anita Page and Eddie Nugent, who appeared in the original, are seen in the new story of flaming youth. Added to these are Rod La Rocque, Doug Fairbanks, Jr., Josephine Dunn and Albert Gran.

Colleen Moore will blossom forth in her first talkie, "Smiling Irish Eyes," a First National, on the 29th inst. This is to be Colleen's last picture in some months, it is said, because she plans a long vacation before signing a new contract. For September 5 and 12, respectively, the Fox all-dialogue drama, "Words and Music" and Lon Chaney's latest for M.-G.-M., "Thunder" are booked. For Thursday, Greta Garbo in "The Single Standard," with Nils Asther, will be the premovie season offering.

Hillstreet to Show R.-K.-O. Pictures Soon

The premiere presentation of the first two Radio all-talking, musical productions, "Half Marriage" and "Street Girl," produced under the supervision of William Le Baron, will be shown at the Hillstreet, within the very near future.

The two productions are the forerunners of such notable contributions as Florenz Ziegfeld's "Rio Rita," the musical-comedy success, "Hit the Deck," Le Baron's own stage play, "The Very Idea," and Rudy Vallee's first talking, singing picture which gives promise of good entertainment. "Half Marriage," featuring Olive Borden, will have its initial Coast showing at the Hillstreet Saturday. In the cast are Sally Blane, Ken Murray, Ann Greenway, Morgan Farley and Gus Arnheim's Cocoanut Grove Syncopators.

"Street Girl," starring Betty Compson, will be shown on the 31st inst. It was given a world premiere at Dillingham's Globe Theater, New York, last week. Conrad Nagel and Lois Wilson in the Vitaphone talkie "Kid Gloves," and the Skyscrapers Revue are showing currently at the Hillstreet.

New Player Has Leading Roles

DOROTHY WARD

Dorothy Ward is the attractive young lady who plays the "sob sister" in "Protection" now showing at the Boulevard Theater.

Miss Ward has been in pictures less than eighteen months, having been discovered by a star while working as a shop girl during her Christmas vacation. In that time she has portrayed outstanding roles in several important productions, and in "Protection" she plays the lead opposite Paul Page.

Miss Ward is at present hieing herself to the Fox lot every day, where she is essaying a prominent role in "Words and Music."

Mitchell Works on New Drama

Thomas Mitchell, co-author and featured member of the New York cast of "The Little Accident," which comes intact to the Belasco Theater Monday night for a limited engagement following the now current "Front Page," is, in his spare moments, working on the dramatization of Vina Delmar's novel "Bad Girl." Crosby Gaige, the New York producer, plans to show it on Broadway this fall following the return of "The Little Accident" company from the Coast.

Gaige has also acquired a play by Maurine Watkins, entitled "So Help Me God," which is also planned for fall production in the East. If these two plays are successes they will be shown in Los Angeles late this season. Mitchell is paying his first visit to the Coast in several years in "The Little Accident." The last performance of "The Front Page" will be given Sunday evening.

ROY MILLER LEAVES POSITION AT CIRCLE

Roy G. Miller, for the last sixteen years one of the foremost motion-picture and theatrical publicists of America, charter member and one of the original organizers of the Wampas and Hi Hatter organizations as well as copartner with Fred A. Miller, pioneer showman of Los Angeles, has tendered his resignation as publicity director for the Fox Carthay Circle Theater to become director of sales for Paul Lewis Hodge Electrical Recordings of Hollywood, and will assume his new duties as soon as his successor is named at the Circle.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

Of much interest to older residents of Southern California is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Reed of 809 North June street, of the engagement of their attractive young daughter, Miss Marjorie Reed, to Eric Sutton Hope-Doeg, son of Mrs. Violet Sutton Hope-Doeg of Santa Monica, the news being told at a beautifully appointed bridge-tea with which Miss Reed entertained last week. The wedding will be an event of the early fall.

When the guests dealt the first hand of bridge, an extra card was found with the names and pictures of the betrothed in a heart-shaped frame.

The news came as a great surprise as Miss Reed had planned to finish her studies at University of California at Los Angeles, where she is a sophomore, and is one of the active members of Chi Omega Sorority. Mr. Hope-Doeg is a grandson of the late Capt. Sutton of the British Navy, a nephew of Mrs. Thomas Bundy (May Sutton,) and brother of young John Hope-Doeg, tennis champion.

Among the guests were Mmes. Louis Chandler, Herbert Reed, W. C. Reed, Charles Toney, Ronald Stever, Violet Sutton Hope-Doeg, Byron Chase Wanglin, Jr.; Gerald Love and the Misses Florence Sutton, Doris Hope-Doeg, May Hope-Doeg, Emma Reed, Jane Dimmitt, Dorothy Durham, Kathryn Duncan, Susanna Kearsley, Ruth Kessler, Betty King, Mary Lott, Bernice Lamb, Evelyn Lehman, Barbara Love, Jane Marsh, Betty Maupin, Helen McGuinness, Winifred Perry, Jean Robertson, Peggy Weaver, Dorothy Ayres, Clarinita Burt, Virginia Smith, Doris Taylor, Virginia Webster, Marjorie Bell, Jean Denney and Peggy Lambert.

For Recent Bride

Honoring Mr. and Mrs. Arthur James Howard, who have returned to their home in South Plymouth Boulevard, after a honeymoon in the north, Dr. and Mrs. Isaac Hamshur Jones and Mr. and Mrs. John Edgar Maurer entertained last evening with a dinner party at the California Club, taking their guests afterward to the theater. Mrs. Howard was formerly Mrs. Carolyn Ives Boyde, the wedding taking place in June at the Hotel Biltmore in Santa Barbara. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Norwood Howard, Mr. and Mrs. E. Avery McCarthy, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Booth, Mr. and Mrs. A. Nesbitt Kemp, Neale Ordayne and the hosts.

Visiting Mother

Mrs. Clemens Laidlaw Horst of Oakland is making a brief visit at the home of her mother, Mrs. Paul Cramer Wooster of New York, who at present is residing in Highland avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Horst have recently returned from their honeymoon abroad and an extended visit in the Parisian home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. G. Horst. They are widely known in San Francisco social circles, and many elaborate affairs have been given in their honor here.

Distinguished Visitor

Among the distinguished and charming visitors to Los Angeles this summer is Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall, the widow of ex-Vice-President Marshall, who has arrived from Washington, D. C., accompanied by her mother.

Honoring Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Mattson Annis Morrill of West Thirty-eighth street entertained last week with a luncheon and bridge party at the Club Casa Del Mar, having as her guests former Indiana and Illinois friends. Bidden were Mrs. Willis S. Mitchell, Mrs. Bertha Browne, Mrs. Ford Rowe, Mrs. Elisabeth Milham, Mrs. Robert Fargo, Mrs. Mae Shumway Enderly, Mrs. Everett Rowe, Mrs. Niels P. Salling, Mrs. Joseph H. Schmauss, Baroness Ryhiner Morrill, Mrs. Frances E. Miller, Mrs. Leslie Henry, Mrs. Walter Bide, Mrs. John Bewley and the honoree.

Make Home Here

Announcement is made by Mrs. Opal Dempster, of the marriage Saturday of her attractive daughter, Miss Virginia Dempster, to Stratford Biddle, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Biddle of Pasadena, the ceremony taking place in the Church of St. Albans.

The bride wore an afternoon gown of French blue crepe, embroidered in pearls, and carried an arm bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Biddle was graduated from University of Southern California where she is a member of Delta Delta Delta Sorority, while Mr. Biddle is an undergraduate of the United States Naval Academy and an alumnus of California Institute of Technology. Mr. and Mrs. Biddle left immediately after the ceremony for a honeymoon trip to Mexico and will make their home in Hollywood after their return.

Makes Debut

One of the most attractive members of the younger set who has determined to make music and dramatic art her life work, is Miss Celeste Cottem, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Cottem of Hollywood, who was graduated from Cumnock School with the class of 1928, and made her debut July 28. Miss Cottem is a versatile artist, and gave a program of voice, violin and dramatic selections, the affair taking place at the Loeffler Zaruba conservatory.

For Bride-elect

In honor of Miss Virginia Laswell, fiancee of James Edward Addicott of San Francisco, Miss Amorita Hawpe entertained Saturday afternoon with a buffet supper at her home in Tremaine street. Miss Hawpe was assisted by her sister, Mrs. Hays Busch. The guests were: Miss Laswell, Mr. Addicott, Mr. Hayes Busch, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Laswell, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cannon, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Burtnett, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hewing, Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Thacher Taylor, Dr. and Mrs. Carl Verheyn, Dr. and Mrs. N. Beesemeyer, Miss Vivian Fay, Miss Veryl Sweeney, Mrs. Adele Smith Higson, Mrs. Aileen McDonald, Misses Julia Cowan, Peggy Morrow, Mabel Foy, June Marlowe, Mary Katherine Retticker, Helen McEvilly, Messrs. John Orcutt, Frank Kranz, Gene Bryant, Lester Griffith, Hank Berger, Cain Farrell, Earl Hughes, Floyd Rickenbacker, Dixon Kelly, Dr. Joseph Harris and Arthur Lake.

Hoffmeister-Adamson

An attractive home wedding of recent date was that of Saturday when Miss Pauline J. Hoffmeister, daughter of Mrs. Katie Hoffmeister, became the bride of Theodore Adamson, the ceremony taking place at the home of the bride's mother in Glendale with Rev. J. Edward Smith officiating, twenty-five guests being bidden. The bride chose a gown of white chiffon for her wedding frock and carried pink rosebuds and white sweet peas. After a honeymoon at Catalina, Mr. and Mrs. Adamson will return to make their home in Glendale.

Summer Plans

Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Sherer of Sycamore avenue have returned from San Francisco and have joined a house party at Catalina, where they are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Williams in their lovely new island home.

Announce Wedding

Announcement is made of the marriage last Saturday of Miss Dorothy Catlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Moses Catlin of South Normandie avenue, to Frank Edwin Davis, the ceremony being read at 3 o'clock in the afternoon by Dr. Edward P. Gaylord at the home of the bride's parents, with only immediate relatives and close friends being bidden. Miss Irene Carrich of San Francisco assisted as maid of honor while Andrew Nelder Davis served his brother as best man.

Announcement of Engagement Made

Miss Harriet Louise Quinlan

FORMAL announcement is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. William Andrew Quinlan of 756 South Windsor Boulevard of the betrothal of their attractive young daughter, Miss Harriet Louise Quinlan to Charles O. Matcham of Allentown, Pa., the wedding to be an event of next November.

Miss Quinlan, better known to her friends as Peggy, was graduated from Marlborough School, while Mr. Matcham is a Yale man.

After their return from the wedding trip Mr. Matcham and his bride will make their home in Los Angeles.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

BY MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb-sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

TRAINING FOR SENSE OF PROPERTY RIGHTS BEGINS EARLY

Mrs. B. W. F. writes: "Today in a grocery store a woman set her little girl, apparently about 3 years of age, on the counter and then proceeded to make purchases in different parts of the store. While she was away, the child took a plum from the grocer's display baskets on the counter and started to eat it. Her mother returned, hastily removed the remainder of the plum and placed it behind the counter where the grocer did not see it. The little girl started to say 'Why?' but the woman silenced her with a fierce glance. When the mother's back was turned, the child retrieved the plum and finished it calmly, utterly ignorant of her mother's motive in taking it from her.

"One can see several factors wrong in the whole situation and I am quite sure that the mother's method of dealing with it was a bad one, but I am wondering if I, put in the mother's place, would have acted with perfect wisdom. My own little girl is only a baby, but the day will doubtless come when I will discover she has taken something which does not belong to her. How can I make her understand without making a dramatic scene and impressing her with the fact that she has done something worthy of notice? How may a mother train herself in advance so that she may meet these situations adequately?"

Answer: "As you see I have omitted the last half of your letter. The other mother's problems aren't yours and she doesn't want help.

In that case why waste precious space talking about her? Your question is one which perplexes all young mothers.

From the time a child has his first toy, he begins his lessons in "this is yours." By the time he is 3 years of age, if the mother has been conscientious in showing him what rightfully belongs to him and, what is even more important, respects his rights as fairly as she expects him to respect hers, he will understand what this means. The mother in the grocery store showed her own innate sense of dishonesty and gave the child the definite idea that so long as the grocer didn't know it, it was all right. She should have told the child that all food in the grocery belongs to the grocer until bought and paid for. If the child took the plum, then she must pay for it. The child need not be made to feel like a criminal, but she should have felt that the world (in this case, the mother and the grocer) looks upon such an act with great disapproval.

Being honest is something which satisfies us inwardly, even if no one knows about it. The teaching of all ethics to children is a slow process, accompanied by many slips, but if it begins early and is continued without dramatics and with tact and understanding, the child learns the satisfaction of being honest and respecting the property of some one else, as he learns all other difficult lessons. He should be shielded from temptation, but if he slips, he must face the disagreeable consequences of his acts.

Banish the Ring

It is very hard to keep the bathtub perpetually ringless in vicinities where hard water is used. In such cases try adding a few drops of kerosene to the soapy water and see how wonderfully it wipes away that rim. A small bottle of kerosene might be kept in the medicine closet for convenience, of course carefully marked.

Line to Denver Takes Air Soon

Mid-Continent Air Express, closely affiliated with Western Air Express, will begin operations about the 20th inst., providing nine-hour service between here and Denver, it was announced here yesterday by officials of the former company. A statement on the new transport concern's activities declares:

"Mid-Continent will operate two lines, one from Denver to Kansas City, via Dodge City, Kan., and from Denver to El Paso, via Albuquerque, N. M. Planes will be flown in both directions daily.

"By taking the W.A.E. plane, which leaves here at 5 a.m. daily for Kansas City, it will be possible to reach Denver in nine hours, transfer being made at Albuquerque. This is a saving of approximately thirty-nine hours over any other form of transportation.

"The trip from Los Angeles to Albuquerque requires six hours. Schedules will be so arranged by Mid-Continent that close connections to El Paso can be made by Los Angeles passengers. The latter trip will consume eight and one-half hours.

"Pueblo, Colo., may be reached from Los Angeles in eight hours and Colorado Springs in eight and one-quarter hours.

COUNCIL APPROVES CONTRACT ON JAIL

Council yesterday adopted a report of the Finance Committee recommending a contract between the city and county whereby certain city prisoners are to be housed in the County Jail.

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

by Dr Frank McCoy
author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him care of the Los Angeles Times. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

SWIMMING FOR HEALTH

Swimming is one of the most healthful of exercises, and at the same time it is interesting and enjoyable. It is one of the best ways for adults to continue the joy of playing a healthful sport. Swimming seems an especially good exercise for women, who should all learn to swim for beauty, for health, and for pleasure.

Swimming tends to flatten the abdomen and tone up the abdominal organs. It is splendid for the arms, neck, shoulders and chest. The vigorous kicking used in some of the strokes will also have a normalizing effect on too heavy hips.

Swimming has been enjoyed from the earliest times, and we have records that show us there were swimming instructors who gave the ancient Egyptians swimming lessons in the waters of the Nile. There is an old Egyptian relief showing a man using an overhand stroke, alternating the arms, so we can be reasonably sure that the "crawl" which is known as a modern stroke is really about 3000 years old.

The Assyrians used skins ballooned up with air similar to the way we use water wings today. On an ancient Egyptian vase is found the picture of a woman swimming, using the overhand stroke, with her chest turned to the side in the same way that we turn our bodies today when using this stroke.

Leander, one of the most famous romantic swimmers in history, is pictured in an African mosaic with his feet in a crawl position, and employing the overhand stroke.

It is easy to teach children the art of swimming, particularly if the child is plump and energetic. Even 1-year-old children can sometimes be taught to swim in the bathtub. This gives them a healthful exercise while taking their bath.

One of the interesting phases of this sport is that no one is ever too old to learn it. We have some notorious examples of swimmers over 60 years of age who have taken up swimming, often in order to reduce, and have become very fine long-distance swimmers.

Women are generally conceded to have the better structural form for swimming, due to the natural layer of fat distributed under a woman's skin all over the body, which gives her the distinctive feminine curves. She is more smoothly made than a man, and more like a seal, is able to slip gently and quickly through the water.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Splitting Nails

Question: H. G. P. writes: "For some time I have been troubled with my nails splitting. Will you tell me how to remedy this?"

Answer: The nutrition of the nails is often affected by acidosis, and I would suggest that you follow a strict fasting and diet regime in an effort to alkalinize your system. This diet should include plenty of foods rich in silicon, found in asparagus, cucumbers, lettuce, bran, dandelions, parsnips, fruit skins, strawberries and beets.

Ear Trouble

Q.: Mrs. S. writes: "I have cold chills in my head very often. I get dizzy at times, and have loud noises in my right ear. Am deaf in that ear, too. The doctor blows into my ear with an electric affair four times a week. What can I do? Will my hearing be restored if I keep up these blow-outs?"

A.: Practically all deafness is caused by catarrh of the inner ear. The blowing-out treatment will relieve you temporarily, but it is unwise to continue such treatments unless, at the same time, you remove the cause of catarrh through proper dieting.

Egg and Tomato Diet

Q.: Effie asks: "Kindly tell me whether or not the combination of eggs and tomatoes in the proportion of one egg to one-quarter of a large tomato forms a chemical reaction which reduces fat."

A.: There is nothing about the chemical combination of eggs and tomatoes which will tend to reduce weight. If this diet is used exclusively it will cause reduction because it does not contain much caloric value.

Sex Knowledge for Children

Q.: J. G. S. writes: "I feel very much concerned over the lack of right teaching regarding life and sex of children around here and wish you would inform me where to get the best brief and inexpensive information to put into the hands of children to instruct them and keep their minds pure."

A.: I would suggest that you write to the United States Department of Health at Washington, D. C., requesting books on sex knowledge for children. Be sure to give the ages of the children for whom you wish these books.

AUTO CLUB HEEDS NEW LAW

Los Angeles Motoring Organization First to File Application for State Certificate

Going on record as the first organization in the State to conform to the new law in effect August 14, the Automobile Club of Southern California yesterday filed its application for a motor club service certificate of authority. The club was represented by Ivan Kelso, chief counsel, who presented the application to E. Forest Mitchell, State Insurance Commissioner, who was in the city for the day in the offices of Deputy Commissioner Risbrough.

Coincident with filing the application Kelso posted a bond of $100,000 for the club, which is required by the State to insure promises of service being fulfilled.

The new regulation, under which all automobile clubs in the State will be compelled to operate after next Wednesday, was popularly known in the last Legislature as the "gyp auto club law." It is designed to eliminate "fly by night" auto clubs which, in the past, have found a rich field of operation in California due to the large number of automobiles per capita and the all-year touring season.

During the past five years 120 motor service clubs have operated in Southern California alone. The great majority of them now are out of business or operating in other fields.

When demands for the type of service promised began to come in from members, many of the so-called clubs folded up their tents and trekked to other climes. Thus many thousands of members were left with only engraved membership service contracts as the sole benefit of joining the club.

This certificate of authority issued by the State is subject to be revoked by the commissioner on breach of its obligations by the motor service club.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

LEMON CAKE PIE

One cupful of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of butter, the yolks of three eggs, two tablespoonfuls of flour, one cupful of milk, the grated rind of one lemon, five tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, the whites of two eggs, cream the butter and the sugar, stir in the well beaten yolks of the eggs, add the flour, milk, lemon juice, and grated lemon rind, beat the whites of the eggs until stiff, and fold them into the mixture, cover a pie dish with rich pastry, pour in the mixture, place in a hot oven for fifteen minutes, then reduce the heat and bake slowly for twenty-five minutes.

CHICKEN SALAD WITH CUCUMBER DRESSING

One tablespoonful of gelatine, one-fourth of a cupful of milk, one cupful of hot milk, one and one-half cupfuls of cold chopped chicken, one-half a cupful of finely chopped celery, one small green onion, chopped, one chopped pimiento, one-half of a chopped green pepper, salt and paprika, three-quarters of a cupful of whipped cream, soak the gelatine in the cold milk for a few minutes and pour the hot milk over it, stirring until dissolved. Mix all the other ingredients together, add the milk, and gelatine mixture, combine well, fold in the whipped cream. Oil individual molds lightly, fill with the mixture, and place in the ice box until firm. Unmold on crisp lettuce leaves, and serve with a cucumber dressing.

CUCUMBER DRESSING

One cupful of highly seasoned mayonnaise, add to it one cucumber, that has been chopped fine and all the seeds removed.

SCRAMBLED EGGS WITH EGG PLANT

One-half of a medium sized egg-plant, four tablespoonfuls of butter or shortening, four eggs, a seasoning of salt and paprika, one-third of a teaspoonful of nutmeg, peel the egg-plant, and cut it into half-inch dice, mix the seasonings with a fourth of a cupful of flour, dust the egg-plant with the flour mixture, and saute until the egg plant is tender and a golden brown. Beat the eggs slightly, add to them two tablespoonfuls of water, and pour over the egg plant. Allow to cook until set, serve on hot buttered toast, garnish with parsley and slices of lemon.

PEACH SOUP

Take one pound of peaches, peel, slice and cover with four quarts of water, allow to stew slowly until softened, strain, through a strainer and rub as much of the peach pulp through as possible. Add to this the grated rind and juice of two oranges, four tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, that has been wet with a little cold water, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of nutmeg, and sufficient sugar to sweeten, bring to the boiling point and cook for ten minutes. Can be served either hot or cold.

GUIDING YOUR CHILD

CHORES

By Mrs. Agnes Lyne

There is a good deal to be said for the old-fashioned institution of the daily chore.

In all homes save those of the wealthy it was the custom a generation ago for every child to share in the daily tasks of the home. The boy fed the chickens and carried in the wood for the kitchen stove. The girl helped make the beds and dry the dishes. They probably grumbled a good deal from time to time but they accepted the daily chore as a part of life.

Today boys and girls have no such daily tasks assigned to them. Even in homes in which the mother does all her own work, she does not expect her children to share with her any of the work of the home.

All sorts of appliances have so lightened her work that she really needs little help. She has plenty of time, so she makes the children's beds and picks up their clothes after them.

Then too, affected by modern trend to "free the child" and to give him a "happy childhood to remember," she carefully refrains from requiring anything which looks like work.

I believe this to be a mistake. Children raised under this well-in selfishness which will make the difficult to live with, difficult to work.

Children should have chores. They need not be heavy and they need not be irksome. They should be small responsibilities which will givethe children a feeling of willingness to help. Teach them to be their own valets, to wait upon themselves and cheerfully to lend a hand whenever it is needed.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

ALL OVER THE HOUSE

Keep the shoes on shoe trees when not in use.

Liquid ammonia will remove rust from copper articles.

Clean the white window shades with a rough flannel cloth dipped in flour.

Keep the bed a few inches away from the wall so as to allow a free circulation of air around the sleeper.

A coarse comb will remove the hairs and ravelings from the vacuum cleaner and carpet sweeper brushes without hurting the bristles.

If shelves are necessary in your kitchen, have them placed low enough to be within easy reach. Then useless things will not be placed there and allowed to remain.

THE SHABBY BAG

If you think your overnight bag too shabby for the trip, give it a coat of liquid shoe polish before you purchase a new one. You will be amazed at the difference it will make. Maybe two coats will be required, if the bag has been neglected.

TASTY SEASONINGS

It is not an extravagance to keep on hand a variety of flavorings and seasonings. It means a little expense for the initial outlay but so little is used that the supply will last indefinitely and so often a dash of the right seasoning is the thing that makes the recipe.

MOTHER VISITING FILM ACTRESSES

Happy Meeting
Joan Bennett and her mother, Mrs. Eric Pinker

Joan and Constance Bennett, film actresses, yesterday welcomed to Hollywood their mother, Mrs. Eric Pinker, formerly Mrs. Richard Bennett, for a visit of four weeks. Pinker, who is a literary agent in London and New York, accompanied Mrs. Pinker from the East.

It is from their mother, known to the stage as Adrienne Morrison, as well as their father, that the Bennett sisters received their stage heritage. On the stage Mrs. Pinker made a name for herself both here and abroad. The Bennett sisters now are appearing in talking pictures, Joan at United Artists and Constance at Pathe.

Mr. and Mrs. Pinker will visit Mrs. Pinker's brother in Santa Barbara before they return to New York.

Wife Ran Away With Milkman, Husband Says

James A. Montierth came home one day and found a note left by his wife, Mrs. Bula Molina Montierth, which informed him that she did not love him any more and had run away with the milkman, the husband testified yesterday before Superior Judge Needham, when granted a divorce.

Later, the husband declared, he learned that his wife and the milkman had gone to San Francisco where, after living with him for three weeks, she left him for another man.

The couple married on May 25, 1921. A property settlement, approved by the court, also provides that the husband is to have the custody of the couple's one child, Eleanor Montierth, 7 years of age.

CEMENT CASTLE CRUMBLES

Bell Opponents Blast "Artistic" Rock Quarry Scheme Before Planning Commission

Protestants against Alphonzo Bell's scheme of putting a cement quarry in the Santa Monica Mountains residence area scored repeatedly yesterday as succeeding witnesses went on the stand before the City Planning Commission, to which Bell has applied for a permit to operate.

The first blow to the cement crowd yesterday came in testimony from Richard S. Miesse, a real-estate broker, who has been engaged in trying to sell lots in Bell's proposed exclusive Bel-Air Bay Club on Santa Monica Bay.

Miesse admitted under questioning that of seven actual buyers he had interested in the property all but three had canceled their reservations and two of these had told him that the proposed cement quarry had influenced them in their action. The two cancellations, Miesse further testified under questioning by Attorneys Siegfried and Smiley, stopped sales that amounted to $30,500.

WIDOW'S BLOW TELLS

Miesse was followed on the stand by Mrs. Oscar Trippet, widow of Federal Judge Trippet, club woman and owner of eighty acres adjoining Bell's property.

Mrs. Trippet testified that in her opinion the vicinity in which the cement quarry is to be located is the most beautiful residence district on the Pacific Coast and that she has always favored the exclusion of industry.

She declared that she had been told by a geologist that there is undoubtedly oil under her land and that she had begged him never to mention it to oil men, but in the event that the cement quarry permit is granted to Bell she will not only feel justified but will seek to develop the oil on her property, convinced that industry has ruined the residence value of the property.

HUMOR AT HEARING

Considerable humor was injected into the hearing when Roland McNitt, Bell's attorney, announced that he did not wish to question Mrs. Sadie Fuller, previously subpoenaed for examination by the applicants. At a recent hearing it was testified that Mrs. Fuller stopped payment on a check for $1000 offered as first payment on two lots in the Santa Monica region when she was erroneously informed that the company she purchased from had stopped its opposition to the quarry.

Despite McNitt's reluctance about questioning Mrs. Fuller she was brought to the stand by Commissioner Perry Thomas and ther testified that the facts as previously stated were correct.

It developed also that since the first mention of Mrs. Fuller at the hearing that Milton Gardner, investigator and publicity man for Bell, had visited Mrs. Fuller, who also operates a real estate office on Santa Monica Boulevard, and during a conversation with her represented that he had a lot which he might be willing to trade for some property listed by Mrs. Fuller.

WAS NEAR RESERVOIR

When Mrs. Fuller took her client to see Gardner's purported property, however, it was discovered that it was near a water reservoir and the client refused to trade, despite assurances that the reservoir was to be "beautified," much the same as Bell represents his cement quarry will be.

Charles M. Conant, 175 North Sycamore street, a member of the special zoning committee of the Los Angeles Realty Board and former president of the City Planning Association, testified that he thought the granting of the permit will mean the industrialization of the area and that it will have a "depressing and distressing" effect on residential growth.

DEAL HANGS FIRE

Loss of another deal because of the proposed cement operations was described by James A. Gray, real estate salesman for Huntington Palisades. Gray said that some time before the cement proposal was made public he interested a prospective purchaser in a choice piece of land on the Huntington tract that was priced at $80,000, but that his prospect withheld signing the final papers because of the quarry plans. Gray declared that he still had hopes of making the sale if the permit is denied.

The hearing adjourned at 8 p.m. and will convene again tonight at 6 o'clock.

TWO CHINESE YOUTHS IN DOUBLE WEDDING

Two American born Chinese youths last night took their brides in a double ceremony at the First Congregational Church in what is said to have been the first double wedding in the history of the local Chinese colony. Walter and Arthur Lem, brothers, were married, respectively to the Misses Betty Wong and Frances Chow. Rev. Dana W. Bartlett performed the ceremony. The brothers Lem are the sons of George C. Lem, owner of a restaurant at 320 East First street, and both were born in this country where they received their education in the public schools. Frances Chow, one of the brides, was born in China, but was brought here as a baby, and Betty, now her sister-in-law, is a native American and a graduate of Los Angeles schools.

CLEWS FAIL IN HUNT FOR RICH WIDOW

Whereabouts of Mrs. Kirk, San Marino Woman, Still Unknown After Month

Despite a month's intensive search carried on by relatives, no additional clews to the whereabouts of Mrs. Laura Jane Kirk, widow of John E. Kirk, wealthy farm machinery inventor, were unearthed yesterday, it was announced by Miss Clarinda Kirk of 1464 Virginia Road, San Marino, her grand-daughter.

The missing woman, who is 80 years of age and in poor health, left the home of her son, Norman T. Kirk of this city, on June 1, accompanied by a South Pasadena man. The son traced his mother and her companion to a mountain resort near San Diego, but when Kirk confronted the man, he was informed that Mrs. Kirk has "been there and gone away without leaving any address."

Miss Clarinda Kirk discounted reports that her grandmother's body has been found in a Chicago hospital.

"The description does not tally," said Miss Kirk, "and the fact that the dead woman's clothing bore a Los Angeles stamp, makes me think it could not have been grandmother, because her clothes were purchased in the East."

Police were brought into the case last night when an advertisement, asserting that Mrs. Kirk "is being detained by designing persons," appeared in a Pasadena newspaper.

E. S. Wakeman of Los Angeles, attorney for Norman Kirk, revealed that his client had agreed to furnish his mother a home for the rest of her life, for which service Mrs. Kirk had promised him $30,000 in cash and $35,000 in property and securities. The cash was turned over to Kirk, but it is the belief of the family that the balance of Mrs. Kirk's wealth caused the man in whose company she left this city, to take an interest in her.

Wakeman asserts the South Pasadena man has interfered between mother and son and had induced Mrs. Kirk to sue for refund of the $30,000 and for an accounting of other funds. Following the filing of this suit, Kirk replied with a counter-suit charging slander.

"I don't know what to think of this terrible thing," asserted Miss Kirk today, "but I have a feeling that someone found out grandmother is in failing health and is keeping her hidden in the belief that she will not live long."

SEVEN HELD IN NEW PURE FOOD DRIVE

Complaints Charge That Unsold Bread Was Sent Back to Bakeries

Launching a drive against asserted violators of the city health ordinance and the State law governing the purity of food products, health authorities yesterday caused the arrest of one driver and two salesmen representing local baking companies, together with four retail grocers, all of whom are charged with violating the ordinance forbidding the return of unsold bread.

Those booked are J. T. Dugan, driver, of 6507 South Normandie avenue, Frank P. Emerson of 437 West Fiftieth street, and Eugene S. Martin of 2472 Kansas street, salesmen, and George H. Parry, of 1735 West Twenty-second street, Diedrich Korte of 4277 South Western avenue, Thomas Johnson of 5538 Hollywood Boulevard, and Dudley Beauvais of 5538 Hollywood Boulevard. The arrests were made by Inspectors Segal, DeGroff, Henry, Myers and Budd of the Health Department, on orders from Dr. George Parrish, city health officer.

The complaints are returnable this morning before Judge Ambrose in Municipal Court.

According to Dr. Parrish, danger of intestinal disturbances from the consumption of bread more than thirty-six hours old is magnified during hot weather. At this season, he stated, the loaves at that age are given to the development of what is known as "pink mold," which causes digestive distress called "rope disease." As a precaution against impaired health on account of this, the health ordinance prohibits baking companies from taking back, and grocers from returning unsold bread, regardless of its age.

Dr. Parrish declared his office, in co-operation with the State Health Department, issued yesterday's complaints as the beginning of a rigid city-wide enforcement of all pure-food ordinances.

WOMAN ROBBED OF FURS WORTH $3500

Reporting that burglars stole $3500 worth of her furs, Mrs. Florence Lankershim of 10648 Ventura Boulevard yesterday posted a reward of $300 for the return of the plunder. She returned to her home after an absence, to discover that it had been robbed of an ermine coat valued at $2500 and a fox scarf, valued at $1000.

POWELL FUNERAL WILL BE CONDUCTED TODAY

The funeral for Edward J. Powell will be conducted today at the Hill & King mortuary, 4967 Whittier Boulevard, at 10 a.m. Burial will be in Inglewood Park Cemetery. Mr. Powell, who lived at 3422 East Sixth street, and kept a barber shop near Whittier Boulevard and Indiana street, was 35 years of age. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Ruth L. Powell, and a 13-year-old son, Billy.

GRADE DIVISION PLEA REFUSED

Appeal for Alameda Street Work "Inopportune"

Utilities Board Points to Union Depot Case

Court's Decision on it May Make Plan Archaic

A petition from more than 100 tenants, frontage owners and business men on Alameda street asking the city to provide grade separation from Southern Pacific and Union Pacific trackage at the intersections of First, Fourth, Sixth, Seventh, Ninth, Macy and Aliso streets, presented to Mayor Porter, and referred by him to the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation, was regarded as inopportune by the latter yesterday, in view of the fact that a decision of the United States Supreme Court is expected in October as to the right of the Interstate Commerce Commission to order the carriers to build and occupy a union depot.

The board approved the expressed opinion of J. Ogden Marsh, general manager, who said it is the view of attorneys who have followed the union depot case that whichever way the decision goes it will bring about a settlement of the depot situation either as a victory for the city or for the carriers within a comparatively few years.

CALLED ILL-ADVISED

"In view of the above facts," Marsh stated, "it would seem ill-advised to spend the large sums of money necessary to effect the seven separations mentioned in the petition. These separations probably would cost from $250,000 to $400,000 each, and would be beyond question entirely unjustified if the traffic on Alameda street is reduced to industrial switching."

Marsh said there are three classes of railroad usage of Alameda street, consisting of passenger, freight and local industrial operations. He said the freight business will be eliminated as soon as the Southern Pacific Railroad Company has been able to install the necessary connecting tracks on the east side of the river, as provided for in a franchise recently granted to the company. He said this will take two or three years.

Removal of the passenger trains from Alameda street, he said, is dependent on various plans that have been suggested for terminal facilities for the three steam lines entering the city. He said the primary purpose of the plan for new depot facilities is to remove all but purely local industrial traffic from the street.

WHAT THEY SAY

The petitioners say that a survey has shown that 700,000 persons cross Alameda street daily at the intersections named, and that there is a great loss to users because of traffic congestion and resultant delay, that lives and limbs of users are jeopardized and that the condition is not in keeping with the progress of the city.

The petition also points out that the city is nearing completion of a comprehensive viaduct system across the river at great cost to the taxpayers that will relieve 50 per cent of the traffic delay formerly experienced, but that with continued use of Alameda street by the railroads at at present the benefits of the improved viaduct system cannot be realized. The grade separation proposed is by lowering the trackage so that it will pass under the intersection.

The board, in approving Marsh's report, also passed a resolution to send a communication to the Mayor informing him of the facts.

Salicido Case Still Undecided

Whether or not Telesfaro Salicido will be returned to Chihuahua, Mex., to stand trial for the asserted murder of Benigno Songoria, a customs officer at Juarez, on September 24, 1928, is still undecided. United States Commissioner Head yesterday took the case under submission.

Efforts had been made to remove the defendant to Mexico for trial, but they have failed because of legal complications. Asst. U. S. Atty. Redwine charges that Salicido attacked Songoria, causing his death, after Salicido's arrest for bringing tequilla across the border.

HUSBAND FEARS MATE MAY TAKE OWN LIFE

Expressing fear his wife will carry out a suicide threat unless found and restrained, George Meek of 204 South Dillon street, yesterday appealed to police to locate his spouse, Edith, 40 years of age, who he said left her home with the announced intention of ending her life. Meek reported Mrs. Meek telephoned him at his office, saying she was going to kill herself. Rushing home he learned she had left. A note told him to dispose of her belongings. The missing woman is described as five feet, six inches in height, 135 pounds in weight, with a round face, dark hair and blue eyes. She is believed to be wearing a tan coat and red hat.

MAN SEIZED AS ANNOYER

Suspect's Auto Number Reported by Two Groups of Girls Who Resent His Advances

An automobile license number noted and reported by two different groups of young girls yesterday led to the arrest of Charles W. Meeker, 33 years of age, of 2213 West Eighth street, as the man who police charge has been terrorizing school girls with improper proposals in various parts of the city for several weeks.

Meeker was taken in custody by Detective Lieutenants Hoskins and Woods and booked on a charge of vagrancy and lewdness. His arrest followed the reporting of his car's license number first by several girls who said the man had annoyed them at Exposition Park, and later by another group who complained of a similar offense in the neighborhood of Ninth and Norton streets.

A third complaint, though lacking the license number, was received by Capt. Slaten of Georgia-street division from W. E. White, principal of Sentous High School, Pico and Sentous streets. White said Frances Wickle and Laurine Langford reported to him they had been accosted by a middle-aged, heavy-set laborer in a dilapidated automobile near the school.

Capt. Slaten referred to these complaints in repeating his warning to women and girls not to accept invitations to ride in automobiles with strange men.

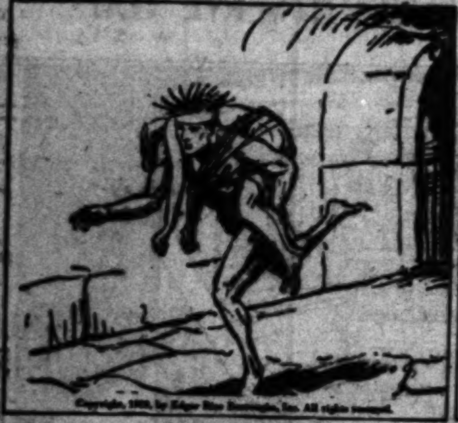
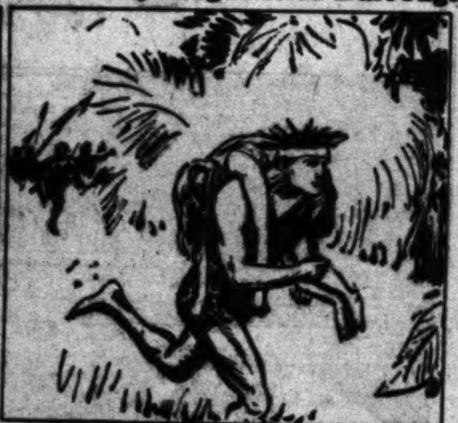
THE RETURN OF TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

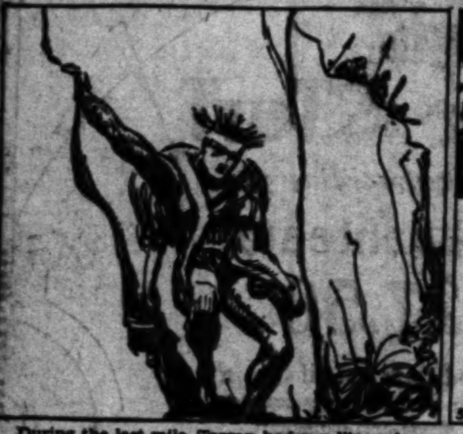


Copyright, 1929, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

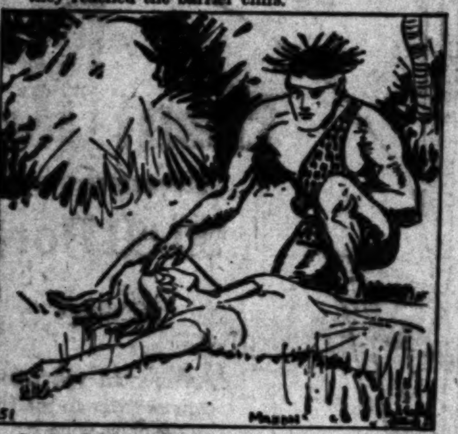
And so Tarzan of the Apes, carrying the unconscious American girl, went through the secret tunnel beneath the temple of the Flaming God, without pursuit. When he reached the crest of the great boulder, he halted to cast a backward glance at the city. Coming across the plains he saw a band of the hideous men of Opar, sent out to search for him.



With loud cries of savage delight they spied him and broke into a mad run. But by maintaining an easy trot, Tarzan kept the distance between them always the same. Occasionally he would glance at the face so near to his own. Had it not been for the faint beating of her heart, he would not have known she was still alive. Thus they reached the barrier cliffs.



During the last mile, Tarzan had run like a deer that he might have ample time to descend the cliffs, before the Oparians could reach the summit and hurl rocks down upon him. So he was half down the mountainside ere the fierce little men came panting to its edge. Here, for some reason, they decided to give up the chase, and Tarzan reached the forest's edge in safety.



Laying his burden upon the grass, and going to a near-by rivulet, he brought water with which to bathe her face and hands. But even this did not revive her. Greatly worried, he gathered the girl into his arms once more and hurried on toward the west. Late in the afternoon, when Jane opened her eyes, she thought she was being borne through a leafy paradise in the arms of her dead love.

DEMPSEY GRANTED LICENSE

CHICAGO, Aug. 6. (AP)—Jack Dempsey, former world heavyweight champion, today was granted a license to conduct boxing shows by the Illinois State Athletic Commission. The action is subject to approval by the State Treasurer with whom Dempsey must file bond before he can exercise the permit. He is to promote shows at the Coliseum. Dempsey's secretary, Leonard Sacks, filed the request for a license.

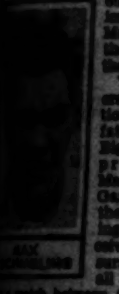
State Moguls Bring Pressure to Bear on Promoters

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 6. (AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission won a rousing victory today in the long-drawn-out struggle to impress upon Max Schmeling the majesty of the boxing law.



MAX SCHMELING

With considerable satisfaction, the fistic fathers brought Big Bill Carey, president of Madison Square Garden, before them this morning and received his assurance that all negotiations for a match between the German heavyweight and Jack Sharkey had been called off. Carey said he would dispose of the property rights of Schmeling's contract" but was ordered not to under penalty of [illegible] action by the board.

[illegible] action comes as a distinct surprise inasmuch as the Garden had indicated that it would defy the wishes of the commission and attempt to stage the match outside of New York, since Schmeling has suffered suspension and revocation of his boxing license for refusal to go through with a contract to meet Phil Scott for Humbert J. [illegible] promotional rival of the Garden.

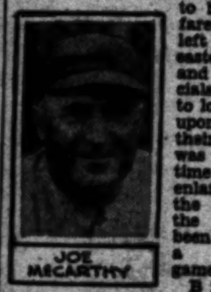
Chicago Leaves Home for Eastern Invasion

CHICAGO, Aug. 6. (AP)—Baseball enthusiasm reached new heights here today when 65,000 fans stormed Wrigley Field to bid the club farewell as they left for their eastern invasion, and forced officials of the club to lock the gates upon 10,000 of their number. It was the first time since the enlargement of the park that the gates had been closed for a midweek game.



JOE McCARTHY

Brooklyn shaded the home forces, 5 to 4, for the second Robin victory over the men of McCarthy in sixteen games.

The defeat was the less bitter as the Giants obligingly defeated the Pirates, permitting the Cubs to go east with their lead of seven and one-half games intact. Joe McCarthy's men won fourteen out of sixteen in their home stand against the East. Score:

Giants Make it Two Straight Victories Over Pittsburgh, Score 5 to 3

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 6. (AP)—The Giants made it two straight over the Pirates by winning, 5 to 3, here today behind the fine pitching of Bill Walker. The New Yorkers won out by reaching Jess Petty for two runs in the eighth.

"PIE" TRAYNOR

Walker kept the ten Pirate hits scattered, and allowed only one earned run. He ended the game by forcing Traynor to hit a weak grounder in the ninth after the bases had been filled on three singles.

Paul Waner was benched in a shake-up engineered by Donie Bush in an attempt to bring the Pirates out of their slump. The elder Waner needed a rest, Bush said, to improve his batting and fielding.

OLYMPIC FIGHT IS CALLED OFF

Boil on Hess' Arm Causes Indefinite Postponement

Woods Turns Down Portillo as Substitute on Card

Godfrey Rounds Into Shape for Hawkins Battle

BY PAUL LOWRY

A boil on Goldie Hess' right arm put the blink on last night's scheduled fight at the Olympic between the Ocean Park flash and Wildcat Carter of Seattle.

GOLDIE HESS

As a safeguard to the public, State Athletic Commissioner James Woods called off the bout when he heard the report of the commission's physician, Dr. L. R. Mace, and he further refused to permit a substitution.

Through his State inspector, Frank Moran, the commissioner issued the following statement:

"Due to the fact that Goldie Hess is suffering from boils and is unable to meet Wildcat Carter, and as there is no suitable opponent available for the Seattle boy, the State Athletic Commission has decided that the public will be best protected if the bout is indefinitely postponed."

The Olympic management wished to substitute Tony Portillo, who was to have appeared in the semi-wind-up, for Hess. General Manager Si Masters placarded the outside of the big downtown arena with signs to acquaint the cash customers with news of the switch in plans and sold tickets up to 6 o'clock.

However, failure to reach Commissioner Woods by this hour and get his okeh caused Masters finally to announce definitely there would be no further attempt to bill a substitute fight.

No announcement for staging the affair at a future date was made by the Olympic management.

The Olympic is billed solid for the next two weeks with George Godfrey meeting Tom Hawkins next Tuesday and Yale Okun and Jimmy Braddock tangling the following week. Hess and Carter would have to follow this program.

However, Hess announced he was laid up for at least three weeks, and would visit the hot springs to clear his system of the infection. The offending boil was lanced Monday night, but it did not respond rap-

All four of the American favorites who are seeded in the draw forged into the third round without loss of a set, although John Doeg, the Santa Monica (Cal.) star, was hard pressed to win from Weller Evans, a fellow-southpaw from Princeton, 6-4, 7-5. Berkeley Bell, the national intercollegiate champion, trimmed J. Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J., 6-2, 6-4; Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., trounced Watson Washburn, New York, 6-2, 6-3, while Fritz Mercur, Bethlehem, Pa., won from David Jones by default and from Dr. William Rosenbaum, New York, 6-1, 6-2, in other matches involving these "big four."

A.A.U. PRESIDENT WILL HELP REINSTATE BARBUTI

BABY JOE GANS GETS DRAW IN BAKER SCRAP

NEW YORK, Aug. 6. (AP)—Sergt. Sammy Baker, slugging soldier welterweight from Mitchel Field, New York, and Baby Joe Gans, California negro ace, battled to a ten-round draw in their bout at the Queensboro Stadium tonight.

The two fighters, both noted as hard and willing punchers, staged a torrid slugging match all through the ten frames. The score sheet gave each the edge in three rounds with four of them called even.

Gans got off ahead, dropping Baker for a count of seven without inflicting any serious injury in the second round. He held this margin until the last two frames when Baker, formerly one of the leaders in his class, staged a strong comeback to gain the draw decision. The soldier opened a cut over the negro's eye in the ninth round that hampered him seriously and reopened it in the tenth to help him win both rounds.

GRIFFITH KNOCKS OUT MURPHY IN FIRST

PEORIA (Ill.) Aug. 6. (AP)—Jerry (Tuffy) Griffith, Sioux City, Iowa, heavyweight knocked out Jack Murphy of Boston in the first round of a ten-round bout here tonight.

SWIM ATTRACTS NOVICES

"Times" Classic to Draw Great Array of New Talent in Pre-Olympic Rough-Water Event

The Times pre-Olympic rough-water swim, scheduled for September 1, is attracting tremendous interest among all Southern California swimmers. This was evident from the number of queries received from aquatic performers who are anxious to enter the classic, but are not yet members of the A.A.U.

The two swims—one at seven-eighths of a mile for men, and a half-mile grind for women—are open to any athlete registered with the Amateur Athletic Union. Registration is a simple matter, and easily accomplished. Any prospective entrant, who is not a registered amateur, can obtain an application for registration by writing Arnold Eddy at the University of Southern California. Eddy is the secretary of the Southern Pacific Association of the A.A.U., and is co-operating in every way with Charley Keppen, director of the swim, and other officials, to assist everyone wishing to enter.

CHARLEY KEPPEN

The events will take place between the piers at Venice and Ocean Park, scene of the famous rough-water grinds of other days. It is planned to make the swim an annual event, in an effort to develop talent for the 1932 Olympic Games which rank next to the track-Angeles. A swimming pool is to be erected in Exposition Park to hold the aquatic events, which ranch next to the track and-field games, in Olympian importance.

All entrants must fill out the

NEW YORK, Aug. 6. (AP)—The Yankees were unable to get better than an even break in two games against the Washington Senators here today, and as a consequence remained eleven and one-half games behind the Athletics as they prepared to invade Philadelphia for three games in two days.

BABE RUTH

Washington punched four New York pitchers hard to win the opener by 13 to 9, but Freddy Heimach hurled back the invaders with just three hits to give the champions the second, 8 to 0.

SAM BARRY HERE TO BEGIN COACHING JOB WITH TROJANS

Justin M. (Sam) Barry, new Trojan basketball coach, arrived yesterday from Iowa, and reported to officials at the Southern California institution. Barry drove West with his wife and young son, Victor. He intends to take a month's vacation, and will assist Coach Howard Jones with the grid practice, which gets under way September 16.

Barry has been coach at Iowa for the past nine years, and during that time his hoop teams twice tied other squads for the Big Ten championship. Previous to that Barry was football, basketball and track coach at Knox College in Galesburg, Ill. Barry, it is expected, will be head baseball coach, replacing the veteran Sam Crawford, who has been yearning for some time to retire to his walnut groves exclusively.

WILL GEORGIA COLEMAN of the Los Angeles Athletic Club follow in the flying footsteps of such famous divers as Helen Wainwright, Aileen Riggin and Helen Meany, and win national and international honors in this most fascinating branch of sport? BARFOOT HURLS ANGEL VICTORY

Shellenback Drops Duel to Cherub Mound Veteran

Berger's Hitting, Fielding Helps Lelivelts Cop

Hollywood Loses Chance to Go Into First Place

BY BOB RAY

With a triple play thrown in for good measure, Jack Lelivelt's ambitious Angels got off to a good start in the civil war series yesterday by nosing out the Hollywood Stars, 3 to 2, in a hectic mound duel that was won in the ninth inning.

WALTER BERGER

Clyde Barfoot, the veteran right-hander with the teasing slow ball, outhurled Frank Shellenback, Sheik spitballer, to give the Seraphs the victory. Barfoot allowed five hits and was invincible after the fourth, while Shellenback yielded six hits, but was unfortunate enough to have two of them bunched with a walk for a run in the ninth.

Although Barfoot pitched sensational ball, Walter Berger proved to be the fair-haired boy for the Cherub cause. Berger clouted out three of the Angels' six hits and all three singles figured in the Seraphs' scoring. Walt hammered a home run over the left-field wall in the second inning and delivered singles in the fourth and ninth to put runners on third and in position to score the other Angel runs. To further add to his glory, Berger prevented the Stars from tying the score in the ninth when he made a spectacular catch of Cleo Carlyle's drive near the left-field wall. Had Carlyle's clout gone safe, Heath would have scored with the tying run and Cleo would have certainly made a double, so that catch of Berger's was just about as ruinous to the Hollywood cause as was his batting.

TRIPLE PLAY EASY

That triple play, which was the first made here this season, happened so quickly and was pulled off so easily that there wasn't much of a thrill connected with it. It happened in the third inning after Lee had singled and Sandberg picked

Leo Henry Leads in $1000 Open Caddie Golf Championship at Thirty-six Hole M

TOURNAMENT WINDS UP TODAY ON RANCHO LINKS

Bag-Toters Play Final Thirty-six Holes; Low Sixty-four and Ties Qualify for Crack at Cash

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

Leo Henry of the Pasadena Golf Club paced qualifiers for the second annual $1000 caddy open golf championship at the Rancho Country Club yesterday, when he completed the first thirty-six holes of the seventy-two-hole tournament with cards of 72-72—144.

Low sixty-four and ties of the 194 bag-toters who entered the competition will play their final thirty-six-holes today for a cut of the "grand" donated by Ben J. Fahy of the Wilshire Country Club.

Henry's two-day total of 144 led his nearest competitor, John Miller of San Gabriel, by three strokes. Miller tied for first place at Sunset Fields Monday with a 71, but required 76 strokes to navigate the hazards at Rancho yesterday. Third place resulted in a tie between Ray Mangrum of Sunset Fields, 72-76—148; Joe Ezar of Hillcrest, 73-75—148, and Norman Corrigan of the Los Angeles Country Club, 74-74—148.

The boys apparently found Rancho a bit harder to score on than Sunset Fields, Henry alone making an equally good showing over both courses.

Here is Henry's card:

Par (out)	444	344	544—36
Henry	554	333	545—37
Par (in)	444	434	344—34—70
Henry	444	443	444—35—72

A number of feminine stars, members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Southern California Golf Association, will score for the caddies today, according to Mrs. George M. Midgley, president of the auxiliary. Many golfers who are backing their caddies have also promised to turn the tables and carry their caddies' bags today.

Following are the pairings and starting times for today, with the scores of those who qualified for the final thirty-six-hole grind:

8:00—H. Kelsey, Wils.; Howard Evans, Bel-Air; Art Clark, Brent.

CATALINA COURSE RECORDS BROKEN THIS SUMMER

All records for play on the Catalina golf links have been broken during the past summer months, reports Joe Pishel, professional of the island course. Joe estimates that 400 persons play the nine-hole course daily. During the first week of this month the daily average has been even higher.

Billy Bell's new mashie pitch and putt course has enjoyed exceptionally heavy play, as many as 100 golfers taking advantage of the miniature layout each day to improve their short game.

Progress on the second nine holes of the Catalina course, now being built by Bell, is excellent, and the noted golf architect plans to have the full eighteen holes in championship condition for the $7500 Catalina open, which will be played December 13, 14 and 15. The greens are being seeded this week. The Catalina furniture factory, the mill and sundry plants are to be removed to Pebbly Beach to afford room for the enlarged links.

MONTECITO TOURNEY RESULTS IN TIE

E. A. Gilbert and H. C. Prink had a best ball of 69 to tie J. Stevens and D. Vbay for low net in the best-ball foursome event at the Montecito Country Club last week. A low net of 71 copped second honors, which were shared by Phil Carr and J. Williams; J. B. Canby and M. Wilson, W. Tuckerman and R. Reynolds, and W. G. Irving and H. G. Pattee.

Paul Scott also writes that a large entry has been received for the annual Montecito invitation tournament, which will be played tomorrow, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. There will be an eighteen-hole qualifying round tomorrow, followed by match play on the last three days. Two rounds are scheduled for Saturday with the finals Sunday.

his say about Jackie's weight four years ago, also the money. This time I'll do the dictating."

GODFREY IN "PINK" FOR OLYMPIC FIGHT

Jimmy Dougherty had his Black Shadow hard at work yesterday in preparation for the battle next week at the Olympic with Tom Hawkins of San Diego.

Godfrey boxed six rounds and will go ten today.

Godfrey has worked himself down to 240 pounds, and ringside critics pronounced him faster than ever for a chap of his weight. He is working at the Main-street gymnasium.

His opponents yesterday for two-round sessions each were Pat Hayward, Frankie Campbell and Sam Baker.

JACKIE FIELDS'S MANAGER ARRIVES FROM DETROIT

Willie "Gig" Rooney, manager of the newly crowned world's welterweight champion, Jackie Fields, arrived yesterday from Detroit.

Fields will follow his manager next Monday, when a big homecoming banquet and celebration is planned for him at the Biltmore.

Rooney said he has promised to talk to Floyd Fitzsimmons about a match with Jimmy McLarnin, but said he doubts very much if it will go through.

"You can bet all the tea in China," said "Gig," "that Mr. Pop Foster won't dictate any terms on this match. He had Tom McArdle, matchmaker at Madison Square Garden, for a license to stage bouts at the Polo Grounds, home of the New York Giants. This unexpected move leaves the Garden temporarily without a home for the "hottest" New York match of the outdoor season, the bout between Kid Chocolate and Al Singer, scheduled for the 29th inst.

The battle of these two stars promises to draw a gate of close to $200,000, the richest plum of a so-far lean season. The commissioners indicated, however, that McArdle will get his license if the Garden ceases all attempts to stage a Schmeling match this summer.

The commission told Carey his problems could be solved by bringing Sharkey and the retiring light-heavyweight champion, Tommy Loughran, together or pairing Sharkey and Scott in an elimination contest this fall. Under no circumstances, the fathers reiterated, must Schmeling be considered in any heavyweight program until he has fulfilled the Pugazy contract, negotiated for him by the boxer's deposed manager, Arthur Buelow. This, Schmeling so far, has refused to do.

cap. The first of the two blows was delivered in the fifth inning after Burke had filled the bases with two out by passing Byrd, Lary and Gehrig. It was the Babe's eleventh in his life with the bases filled. Gehrig was on base when the second homer was hit.

Buddy Myer in the first game had a single and three doubles, running his string to eight hits in eight consecutive official times at bat before he broke it. Speaker holds the record with eleven. Scores:

BY SOL METZGER

Dewey Longworth brings out some interesting points about iron play. One of them concerns the action of the left wrist, the controlling wrist, in taking back the club. Now and then Dewey crashes through with a course record in the Middle or Far West, so what he does is well worth considering.

As Longworth starts his long iron back he begins breaking or turning the left wrist, as shown in the illustration. This tends to open the face of the iron. That, in turn, permits him to get its face under the ball as he swings the clubhead down and through.

You see he hits down and through the ball from the inside, and as the sketch shows, he plays it off his left shoulder, where the impact is hardest. This wrist action makes it certain he'll cut through under the ball and thus get it far and high with plenty of backspin. Tomorrow—how to hit from inside through.

GARDEN DROPS FIGHT PLANS

idly to treatment and was worse yesterday.

WOULD ACCEPT DEMPSEY'S BID

SEATTLE (Wash.) Aug. 6. (AP)—Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, German contender for the world's heavyweight boxing championship, declared here tonight that William F. Carey, head of Madison Square Garden, New York, had denied to him over the long-distance telephone that he had ceased negotiations for a Jack Sharkey-Schmeling fight. A dispatch from New York today said that Carey had announced that the bout, set tentatively for September 19, at Detroit, was off indefinitely.

Jacobs, who was in Seattle with Schmeling today on an exhibition tour, issued an ultimatum to Carey that unless he make a formal denial to the statement credited to him, Jacobs will give the match to Jack Dempsey.

The German fighter's manager said in that case the bout between the Black Uhlan and the Boston gob would be held in Agua Caliente, Mex., on either Thanksgiving Day or early in December.

"Carey told me on the telephone," Jacobs asserted, "that he was set to go through with the match in Detroit on either September 19 or 26. Unless I get this matter straightened out tomorrow I will drop all business dealings with the Garden outfit and open negotiations with Jack Dempsey. Dempsey has offered me more than Carey for the match with Sharkey.

"I have given Carey the best of it by allowing him a day to issue a formal denial over the same channels that his statement was released.

"As to boxing Phil Scott for Humbert Fugazy in New York," Jacobs continued, "Schmeling never signed a contract with Fugazy and I don't see why he should. We will not box Scott regardless of any action, past or future, on the part of the New York Boxing Commission."

GOODYEAR SWIMMERS WIN LOCAL EVENTS

Axelson Machine Company's five-man team competing in the annual Huntington Park swimming meet last week counted up 9 points in five events against seven other teams averaging sixteen men each, and won fourth place in the meet. Goodyear, first; Sears-Roebuck, second, and Urneman Department Store, third. Axelson men placed in these events: 50-yard breast stroke, Swane Johnsen, second; 100-yard breast stroke, Swane Johnsen, third; 100-yard free style, Fred Parker, second; diving, Leo Ocena, third. The Axelson relay team won third place.

RABBIT PUNCHES

A COSTLY FIGHTER

MR. JAMES F. DOUGHERTY, the Baron of Leiperville, was supping with Jack Dempsey, the old Manassa Mauler, the other night, both of them quite oblivious to the fact that for some time they were not on speaking terms with one another. However, having been good pals in the old days it is natural that they are once again as friendly as ever, the Kearns quarrel to the contrary notwithstanding.

The Baron knew Jack when he was just a kid in the cauliflower alley racket ways, and Jack knew the Baron when the gold used to run in rivers in the old tavern at Leiperville.

It was through Dempsey that the Baron became interested in fights and fighters and finally turned to the management of pugilists himself.

"Say, that was the costliest move I ever made," quoth the Baron.

"Well, you made a lot of money with Godfrey last year, didn't you?" Dempsey asked with a sly smile.

"Yeh," ejaculated the Baron. "If you'll pay all the bills he incurred I'll give you all his purses."

And then the Baron proceeded to relate the story of the $365 phone bill the Black Shadow ran up here one month, and the loans, and the automobiles with the musical horns, and the breach of promise suits by 250-pound beauties of ebony hue, etc., ad lib.

"Yea-h," sighed the Baron, "this here black fighter of mine is a great heavyweight, but he's a 'turrible' care. I never know what he's going to get into next."

A POOR CROP

THE talk of these men—two prominent figures in the fight world the past decade—drifted around to the New York elimination of the white hopes.

"I like Sharkey over the German, Schmeling," said Dempsey. "I don't like the way Schmeling carries his hands in the ring."

"Well, I like Schmeling," retorted Dougherty. "This here Sharkey guy has a yellow streak. I never did like a guy with a pasty heart.

"But I know at least four fellers can lick this Schmeling and none of 'em are as big as he is.

"Jimmy Braddock can lick him, Maxey Rosenbloom can lick him, Ace Hudkins can lick him, Tommy Loughran can lick him.

"And none of those fellers would think of fighting my black fighter, George Godfrey.

"Why, that thar Al Mayer who is one of Upside Down's (Paulino Uzcudun) managers told me that Godfrey hit Upside Down so hard below the heart in the fifth round of their fight here a year ago that Upside Down never recovered.

"Godfrey ruined Risko. Now none of them other fellers will fight the Black Shadow.

"It's a turrible situation. Here I got the uncrowned heavyweight champion of the world and nobody to fight him. That Hawkins must be a brave guy to want to fight my Black Shadow."

MONEY IN THE POKE

ALTHOUGH he is skeptical of the sincerity of the Agua Caliente interests in staking a Schmeling-Sharkey fight below the border Dempsey says he will go after the battle if they will put the money on the line.

He may not succeed in making the match, he says, but in that case he will simply turn all his efforts to successful promotion of the rehabilitated Coliseum in Chicago.

He expects to hold his first match there in October.

He laughs at talk that he is pressed for ready cash.

"Why, I got $40,000 from Fugazy and Cole for the use of my name in connection with their proposed New York promotion. They didn't live up to their contract, and after giving them a month's grace I withdrew from the line-up.

"They said they had the Polo Grounds tied up for outdoor promotion this summer, and they promised a lot of other things they were unable to fulfill.

"Since then I've picked up some loose change playing in vaudeville, and I've got a $40,000 grape crop coming in from my Fresno ranch this summer.

"This should keep the wolf away from the door for a while."

SAME OLD SPIRIT

DEMPSEY is still the ever ready with the helping hand.

Never a benefit, never a plea for aid from some one in distress goes unheeded.

He left the dinner table the other night to help out the Jack Grace benefit show at the Main-street gymnasium.

Grace, an old-timer who has globe trotted here, there and everywhere, always living in the reflected glamour of the ring, is in the shadow of life.

He needs aid and Dempsey gave freely—both of time and money. He did it unostentatiously as befitting one whose philanthropy needs no telling.

Foul Tips

Augie Johns, the square-shoulder Sheik southpaw, who blanked the Seals with three hits his last time out, is scheduled to face the Angels today. Johns broke the "spell" that Angel right-hand hitters were supposed to have over southpaws in the last civil war series, and last week two Mission portsiders, Ruether and Cole, trimmed the Serape on successive days.

Lelivelt plans to used either Red Roberts or Deacon Plitt on the mound for the Angels today. Plitt pitched about a half a game in the bull pen yesterday.

Oscar Vitt plans to put Mike Maloney back in at second base for Hollywood today. Burkett is worrying so much over his inability to get started hitting that Vitt believes a rest will do him good.

Berger's home run yesterday brought his season's total to twenty-eight. The young Angel outfielder is in a three-way tie for second place with Johnny Verges, Oak third-sacker, and Ike Boone, Mission slugger. Boone got two homers yesterday. Gus Suhr leads the home run getters with thirty-one.

Bill Rumler's .392 batting average dropped off yesterday when he failed to get a hit in three times at bat. Smead Jolley also went hitless yesterday, so Fuzzy Hufft went into the lead by getting two hits.

Jack Lelivelt laid down the law to the Angels, while they were on the road last week. The Angel players have to be in bed by 11 o'clock every night and must report for breakfast at 8 o'clock in the mornings. Lelivelt will see to it that they live up to the rules while the club is on the road.

That makes quite a difference to the Seraph players, whom Marty Krug put on their honor to keep decent hours. And Krug lost his job.

Carl Holling is troubled with a cold in his flinging arm. He expects to make a visit to Doc Spencer the baseball magician, today to get his salary wing treated.

Carl Dittmar is out of the Angel line-up with a badly injured finger on his throwing hand. Fred Haney is filling in at short and Bobby Jones is holding down third base, while Dittmar is out.

The Angels and Stars drew about 3500 paid admissions at yesterday's opener, so it looks like a busy week for the turnstiles.

HALIBUT CATCHES CONTINUING WELL

HERMOSA BEACH, Aug. 6—Halibut fishing is reported as very good by anglers visiting the Olympic barges offshore at this resort city with many high strings being taken the last few days. Fishing in general, which has been far above the average over previous seasons, continues excellent even though somewhat below the point maintained during the onset of the season. Live-bait boats continue to bring in good catches of bass, bonita and barracuda, but with nothing new on the yellowtail. Just what has happened to the yellowtail this year is not learned as they are reported as being scarce from all points commonly visited by these game fish at this time of the year.

ANGELS COP OPENER

up Rollings's bunt and thrown too high and late to get Dud at second. Eli Funk made two ineffectual attempts to sacrifice and then slapped a low liner to Jacobs. Lee and Rollings both started with Barfoot's pitch and it was but a simple matter for Jacobs to throw to Tolson and Slug to slap the ball back to Haney for the three-way killing.

The last triple play pulled off at Wrigley Field was made last July by Holley, Kerr and Heath against the Seals. The Sheiks got some of their own medicine yesterday and it probably cost them the ball game, just as the triple play last year cost the Seals a victory.

The defeat robbed the Stars of a chance to go into first place, for the Seals lost to the Missions yesterday and went into a tie for the lead with Killefer's Reds. The Seraphs, however, moved up to within two games of first place, so there's not much of a gap between the four first division clubs today. The Stars are in third place, but only a half-game behind the Seals and Reds. It's a tight race, this second half, but only for San Francisco and Los Angeles. It looks as though they'll have to carve the second half in two to try once more to make it interesting for Portland and Seattle.

It was a tough game for Shellenback to lose, the Sheik spitballer losing on the only walk he issued. On the other hand, Barfoot walked four and got by with only one run scoring.

Hollywood scored first in the opening round when, with one down, Red Rollings doubled down the left-field line, went to third on Funk's successful bunt and scored when Rumler forced Funk at second.

BERGER HITS HOMER

Berger clouted Shellenback's first pitch over the left-field wall to knot the count in the second inning.

Carlyle opened the Hollywood second with a double off the center-field wall, but got no farther than third while Barfoot was disposing of Bassler, Burkett and Shellenback.

The Stars had the stage all set for a rally in the third when that triple play came off to ruin their hopes.

Los Angeles scored again in the fourth to temporarily take the lead. Statz doubled to right center for a starter, but Webb flied to Funk. Berger's single to left sent Jigger to third, from where he scored when Tolson forced Berger.

The Stars immediately tied it up in the last half of the fourth with the aid of Barfoot's wildness. Clyde passed Rumler and Heath to get in trouble and then Carlyle caromed a hot shot off Jacobs for an infield hit to fill the bases. Bassler's sacrifice fly to Statz scored Rumler and moved Heath to third. Burkett popped to Haney and then Heath was caught between third and home on an attempted double-steal with Carlyle, Sandberg to Jacobs to Sandberg to Jones.

The Angels got men in scoring position in the sixth and eighth and failed to score, but Hollywood never got a runner past first after the fourth.

ANGELS WIN IN NINTH

Shellenback walked Webb to begin the ninth and Berger, after twice failing to bunt, singled to center, moving the Spider to third. With the Hollywood infield playing on the grass to cut off the run at the plate and the outfield playing way back, Tolson dropped a dinky fly between Burkett and Rumler for the hit that scored Webb with the winning run. Jacobs attempted to bunt and forced Berger at third, Shellenback to Rollings. Burkett had a chance for an easy double-play on Jones's grounder, but evidently forgot how many were out and tossed to Heath for the second out. Bassler threw out Sandberg to end the inning without further excitement.

After disposing of Rumler, Barfoot walked Heath in the Hollywood half of the ninth. Clyde's first three tosses to Carlyle were balls and then the Stars pulled something that set the second guessers to talking. On the 3-and-0 ball, Carlyle hit instead of waiting for a walk and the ball seared out toward the left-field wall. Berger scampered back to make a great catch and Heath had to hurry back to first from second. Hulvey, batting for Bassler, forced Heath, Haney to Jacobs, to end the game.

Another today, with Lefty Johns and either "Red" Roberts or "Deacon" Plitt due to pitch. Score:

TO REINSTATE RAY BARBUTI

In a letter to Barbuti, dated July 29, Brundage wrote:

"Personally I feel that some of the stories told to you, having passed through several hands, were magnified considerably in telling, but on the other hand, doubtless some of them are true or partly true. However, the Amateur Athletic Union, when it makes definite charges of so serious a nature against an athlete or club, must be in a position to prove them conclusively.

"The A.A.U. has always been suspicious of foreign stars who have arrived here on tours of our country and has done its best to prevent cheating. Perhaps you remember the great outcry followed by personal damage suits for large sums that went up when Hoff, the pole vaulter, was declared professional. The foreigners said we tempted their champion with American gold, deprived him of his amateur standing and thus eliminated a dangerous Olympic competitor.

"To the best of my ability I have looked into the charges you have made but as yet I have been unable to locate anyone who has information that would testify to irregularities.

"I am certain there are thousands of honest amateurs who are competing solely for the love of the sport to every dishonest one, and I think I can safely state that whatever irregularities there are, are confined to a few events in the larger cities and at the worst not more than a handful of athletes are involved. Nevertheless, if there is anything like this going on it should be stamped out without delay.

"In this connection I intend to exert my influence at the next convention of the board of governors toward the adoption of an amendment which will provide that when called upon the managers of any event held under A.A.U. sanction must submit an audited financial statement showing in detail income and disbursements."

To gain reinstatement, Brundage points out, Barbuti must apply to the registration committee of the Metropolitan A.A.U., which conducted the original hearing and suspended the athlete. The national president will recommend a rehearing for Barbuti, who, in the event of an adverse decision, may appeal to the board of governors of the metropolitan district, then, if necessary, to the national board of governors.

SPORTS SKETCH BY FEG MURRAY

spring-board diving, and now she is in far-off Honolulu seeking two outdoor national diving championships, "near the Beach at Waikiki." (Business of strumming ukuleles.)

An islander herself (she learned most of her diving at Avalon on Catalina Island, the training ground of the Chicago Cubs) she will have stiff competition there in such "Ladies of the Spring-board" as Jane Fauntz, who beat her on the three-foot board in the indoor championships, and Dorothy Poynton, both members of the last Olympic team.

Georgia Coleman is just a kid still, a laughling, boisterous, likable curly headed water-sprite, who learned enough of diving from Coach Fred Cady of the Los Angeles Athletic Club to take second place in two events at the 1928 Olympic Games.

Grace and rhythm are this happy mermaid's allies in every competition she enters. When she glides out onto the ponderous spring-board and shoots her lithe brown body out over the water in graceful arcs and somersaults, the spectators gasp in admiration and delight. Scarcely a splash she makes as she cleaves the water; there is only a myriad of rainbow hued bubbles to remind you of some beautiful and perfectly executed parabola.

of the University of Texas, 6-2, 6-1. M. Farquharson, Cambridge student from South Africa, beat Harold MacGuffin, Philadelphia, 6-1, 4-6, 6-1.

Two more American collegians scored at the expense of the Oxford-Cambridge invaders. Bradshaw Harrison of the University of Oregon toppled Russell Young, captain of the combined English teams, 6-4, 6-1, and Eddie Jacobs of the University of Pittsburgh subdued Ed Mather, Texan, who is now at Oxford, 6-4, 6-2.

WIDOW OF DAN LONG SUES FOR $75,000

SAN RAFAEL, Aug. 6. (AP)—Mrs. Julia R. Long, widow of Daniel W. Long, former manager of the San Francisco baseball club, who was killed by a train in Sausalito last April 30, today filed suit against the Northwestern Pacific Railway for $75,000 damages. In the complaint Mrs. Long charged that his death was due to the negligence and carelessness of the defendant.

entry blanks which can be obtained from Keppen at the Los Angeles Athletic Club. It is advisable that all prospective competitors first register with the A.A.U., as any entry blanks received without the registration number of the contestant, will be turned down.

Members of the executive committee are to meet at noon today, to complete arrangements for the safeguarding of contestants and spectators. Thousands of aquatic fans are expected to throng both piers to view the two races. Arrangements made by the committee in charge have made it possible for both groups of spectators to see the finish of one race. The men's race will get under way at 2 o'clock from the Venice pier, and will finish at the pier in Ocean Park. The women's race will start at 2:05 from the same point, with the competitors swimming to a raft a quarter of a mile away, and back again.

MAYOR TO HURL OPENING PITCH

Hugh J. McGuire, newly elected president of the Board of Public Works, will be at the plate when Mayor Porter pitches the first ball in the Municipal Engineers' Coast championship baseball game at White Sox Park next Saturday. The Bureau of Engineering, under the Board of Public Works, will be represented in the series by one of the best municipal teams on the Coast. They have been practicing almost daily under the direction of Art Fromme, former New York Giant pitcher.

BROWNS SPLIT WITH MACKMEN

St. Louis Wins First Game But Loses Nightcap

Jimmy Foxx Hits Home Runs in Both Contests

Athletics Open Series With Yankees Today

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6. (AP)—The Athletics preserved their lead of 11½ games over the Yankees by dividing a double-header with the Browns before 20,000 fans here today while the champions were splitting with Washington. The St. Louisans hit Bill Shores and Yerkes hard to win the opener, 8 to 3, but the Macks bombarded Ogden and Coffman to take the second game, 11 to 3.

Alvin Crowder and Eddie Rommel were the winning pitchers.

Jimmy Foxx hit a home run in each contest, running his total for the season to twenty-six and entering a tie with Lou Gehrig for second honors in the American League.

The A's open a three-game series at home with the Yanks tomorrow. Scores:

CLEVELAND COPS

CLEVELAND, Aug. 6. (AP)—Two Cleveland rallies against Vic Sorrell, gave the Indians a 6-5 victory over the Tigers in the series opener here today.

Wesley Ferrell, young Cleveland right-hander, got credit for his sixth victory by holding the Tigers safe after he relieved Hudlin in the seventh.

Joe Hauser, pinch hitting in the seventh, got a home run. Score:

Plan Dinner for Fields on Monday

With the arrival yesterday of William (Gig) Rooney, manager of Jackie Fields, plans for the huge reception and banquet to be tendered the newly crowned welterweight champion of the world were pushed forward with increased vigor. The affair will be held next Monday night at the Biltmore Hotel. Los Angeles sportsmen are behind the idea of giving Fields a reception that will overshadow the one he was shown in Chicago, following his winning of the title from Joe Dundee in Detroit.

BOONE HITS TWO AS REDS SUBDUE SEALS

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6. (AP)—The San Francisco Missions beat the San Francisco Seals today in the first game of the "civil-war" series, played on home territory, 7 to 6. Ike Boone tapped out two homers for the Missions, while Caveney knocked another for the Seals. Score:

"HUSKY" HUNT NAMED ON A.A.U. RULES BOARD

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Aug. 6. (AP)—Harry Maloney, director of minor sports at Stanford and third vice-president of the A.A.U., announced last night that Ernest (Husky) Hunt, varsity basketball coach at Stanford University, will be the first Pacific Coast representative to serve on the A.A.U. joint rules committee.

DOMAN WOULD ENGAGE LUTZE

Hollywood Battler Anxious to Face Grappler

Vijo Doman would fight Nick Lutze in a free-for-all and let the public see whether or not the wrestler is the master of the boxer. Doman has only one stipulation and that is that he be allowed to use his bare hands like the wrestler and not handicapped with boxing gloves. Doman fights Tony Stabineau in the main event at the Hollywood American Legion stadium Friday night and after that he will be free to dicker with any good heavyweight wrestler. He picks Lutze because of Nick's popularity.

"I believe Doman would flatten Lutze," says Tom O'Grady, his manager. "He would have the use of his hands to wrestle when he clinches but should he use boxing gloves they would be more of a handicap than anything else. Doman has heard the crowd razz wrestlers for slapping opponents, but what would they think if Doman ever hit one of them on the chin or the back of the neck, like Dempsey's rabbit punch?" asked O'Grady.

It has been many months since Doman has been in competition and unless he is in the best of condition he is apt to meet with a setback as Stabineau wants to win this fight and get a return match with Les Kennedy who is waiting for an opponent.

Charley McDonald tells the world that Frankie Forbes will give Carmen Tuzzalino a good shellacking, but the big Italian fight following thinks "Tuzz" is going to cop.

The Jewish fight fan will have a chance to pull for Hymie Miller against Harry Wallinder. Miller is a former amateur champion and a great prospect.

THE GREATEST
problem MAN ever faced, was to make a LIVING for himself and his loved ones. If he faces this problem aright, he WILL SUCCEED, if he does not then he will FAIL.

165 ac. (35 ac. in ALFALFA,) 80 ac. all leveled for planting, 5 ac. in POTATOES (which should yield $1000,) put 10 ac. in MARKET gardening, for which you know there is a market. Keep a few cows & pigs. Raise DUCKS on the large RESERVOIR and you're TOP of world. 2 fine pumps with tons of water. The man who owns this is OLD, unable to supply the PEP—the PUSH, the VIGOR. But folks, it's here.

Price $30,000. Owner will take income or house.

A REALLY SPLENDID estate in GRAPEFRUIT, 12 yr. old trees with at least $1000 on trees NOW. Very modern home with cozy living rm., dining rm., SUN PORCH, 3 bedrms., 2 baths. Most modern chicken equipment possible. This is not the AVERAGE RANCH, it is a home & income fit for anyone. $15,000. Will take home or small duplex.

NEW WITNESS HITS MEADOWS

Hidden Observer on Stand in Extortion Case

Football Star's Demands for Money Related

Federal Officer Will Take Up Tale Today

How George Rush Meadows, former football star, is asserted to have demanded $5000 of Mrs. Laura Osborne to free her husband, John R. Osborne, convicted Los Angeles promoter, was told yesterday in Superior Judge Fricke's court, where Meadows is on trial on twelve counts of grand theft in connection with an asserted fraudulent offer to obtain a parole for Osborne.

Mrs. Osborne declared her friend, Miss Ethel Beattie, was in hiding in a closet in her apartment and overheard Meadows's demand for $5000 to be paid to Ray Benjamin, San Francisco attorney, whom Meadows is said to have represented was employed with Leo Youngworth, prominent Los Angeles attorney, to aid in obtaining a parole for Osborne.

ATTORNEYS DISCLAIM

Both Benjamin and Youngworth have testified that they had nothing to do with any proposal to apply for a parole for Osborne, or that they had received any fees in connection with any such move.

Miss Beattie followed Mrs. Osborne on th ewitness stand and corroborated her testimony.

Henry Lessner, deputy United States marshal who took Meadows to Leavenworth penitentiary in 1925, following the former football star's conviction in a scheme to sell stolen Liberty bonds, was the last witness called yesterday by the State. Lessner was still on the stand when adjournment was taken.

HUGE SUM GIVEN

Meadows is asserted to have obtained more than $25,000 from Osborne's relatives in connection with his offer of getting a parole for Osborne. Most of the money is said to have been advanced by Mrs. Edith May Osborne, mother of the promoter. Osborne was sentenced to serve ten years in connection with the promotion of Valhalla Memorial Park.

The trial will be resumed today with Lessner on the stand for cross-examination. Dep. Dist.-Attys. Menzies and Penney are prosecuting, while Meadows is represented by Attorneys John S. Cooper and S. Stutsman.

BANCROFT PREVENTS EXPLODING OF BOMB

George Bancroft's presence of mind averted what might have been a serious accident yesterday during the filming of a picture at the Paramount studio. A scene in the picture called for a "safety type" police hand grenade to explode in the doorway of a barricaded house. A wire to the electrical time fuse crossed and a sudden hissing flame and flare of smoke gave warning that the explosion was coming sooner than expected. Bancroft snatched some heavy drapes from the windows of the set and threw them over the grenade and smothered it.

VETERANS TO MEET

All disabled ex-service men have been invited to attend a meeting of the Caravan of Disabled Veterans at 8 o'clock tonight at 715 South Hope street. Plans will be discussed for participation in the Disabled Veterans Justice Drive which is expected to assemble 60,000 disabled veterans at Washington, D.C., on Armistice Day to demand relief.

BEVERLY POST GIVEN LONGYEAR

Local Banker Appointed Member of City Council to Fill Spalding's Seat

W. D. Longyear, banker, last night was appointed to the City Council of Beverly Hills to succeed Silsby Spalding, who resigned two weeks ago. Mr. Longyear is at his ranch near Meeker, Colo., but yesterday wired the Beverly Hills municipality that he will accept the post.

W. D. LONGYEAR

Mr. Longyear has been a resident of Los Angeles and Beverly Hills for thirty-nine years. He came here from Kalamazoo, Mich., in 1890 as a book-keeper for the Security Trust and Savings Bank when it was only a year old and progressed through various offices in that institution to the post of vice-president.

In addition to his many and varied commercial interests in the city the new Beverly Hills Councilman has taken a marked interest in aviation and has on several occasions joined parties sent from this city on the opening of new air routes.

Last year he was a member of a cross-country good-will flight that traversed the same route taken by his grandfather on an ox-cart wedding journey to the West.

POLICEMAN ACCUSED BY JUDGE NEFF

South Gate Jurist Asserts on Witness Stand That He Was Offered Bribe

Preliminary hearing of Hart Reynolds, former South Gate police sergeant, accused of attempting to bribe Police Judge Ezra Neff of South Gate in a liquor case, opened yesterday before Municipal Judge Stafford.

Judge Neff, the principal witness called by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Bialock, testified that Reynolds came to his home and told him that Robert O. Scott, accused of possession of liquor, was a "good fellow" and that "if you can dismiss this case or give him a suspended sentence you can make $100 for yourself." Neff said he told Reynolds that he would get into trouble making such an offer and that when Scott was arraigned before him on the charge he increased bail from $500 to $1000. Scott later was found guilty by a jury and fined $500 by Judge Neff, court records introduced into evidence revealed.

Scott was placed on the stand by Bialock and testified that he did not know of the bribery attempt, although someone had told him that "this case can be fixed if you've got $100." He refused to furnish the money, he declared.

Reynolds's defense will be put on before Judge Stafford today.

Art Promoters' Club Emissary Seeks Members

As an emissary of the Art Promoters' Club of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Turin Bradford Boone arrived in Los Angeles yesterday to invite local groups dedicated to art and letters to become affiliated with her organization. Since its inception, she explained, the club's membership has been restricted to residents of the national capital, but recently the directors decided to broaden its scope to include on its roster kindred clubs throughout the country.

MRS TURIN B. BOONE

Mrs. Boone will offer local organizations their choice of associate or life memberships, either of which will entitle them to club affiliation and privileges while in Washington. The club at present is located in the Playhouse Building, but is planning the erection of a seven-story building of its own. This will be fashioned after a Chinese pagoda and located on the banks of the Potomac. Courses in interior decorating, landscaping, design, short-story writing and the drama will become part of the club's future programs.

Dr. Gertrude Richardson Brigham of George Washington University is director and founder of the club, Rowland Lyon, president, and Mrs. Boone, vice-president. The Persian Minister, Mirza Davod Kahn Mefta, is honorary president, the Turkish Ambassador, Dr. Mounterbey, chairman of the honorary advisory board, and the Chinese Minister, Dr. Chao-Chu Wu, vice-chairman.

NEW SENSATION IN PASADENA BATTLE

On the same show at the Pasadena Arena tomorrow night which presents Joe Bitto and Jack Haywood, slugging light heavies, in the main spot, there will appear a tiny lad who is the latest ring sensation of the Crown City. He is Canto Robleto, a flyweight who has had exactly three fights, all at the Arena, and won all of them in decisive fashion. Tomorrow night Canto will face Jimmy Martinez, a great little scrapper from the Main-street club, and if he gets by this tough one he may be set to follow Ernie Hood and Don Kennedy in the affections of Crown City fans.
